386.2 Actions by State Directors.
386.3 Sales in $1.00 per application areas.

AUTHORITY: §§ 386.1 to 386.4 issued under sec. 41, 60 Stat. 1064, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup., 1015. Interpret or apply sec. 2, Pub. Law 499, 81st Cong., Pub. Law 760, 81st Cong.

DERIVATION: §§ 386.1 to 386.4 contained in FHA Instruction 481.1.

§ 386.1 General. (a) Public Law 760, 81st Congress, approved September 6, 1950, provides for the disposal by the Government of certain reserved mineral interests under the jurisdiction of the Farmers Home Administration. Such reserved mineral interests covered by a single application will be sold for a total consideration of one dollar in areas in which the Secretary of Agriculture determines that there is no active mineral development or leasing. Such areas are hereinafter referred to as "$1 per application areas." In other areas the reserved mineral interests will be sold for their fair market value. Such areas are hereinafter referred to as "fair market value areas."

(b) This subpart prescribes the authorities, policies, and procedures for sale of reserved mineral interests which are under the jurisdiction of the Farmers Home Administration, including reserved mineral interests representing assets of Defense Relocation Corporations which are conveyed to the Government pursuant to liquidation or other agreements, and reserved mineral interests representing assets of State Rural Rehabilitation Corporations which are conveyed to the Government pursuant to agreements entered into under section 2 (f) of Public Law 499, 81st Congress, authorizing the Government to sell such reserved mineral interests in the manner and on the terms and conditions provided for in Public Law 760.

§ 386.2 Actions by State Directors. Subject to the policies and procedures contained herein, State Directors will take the following actions with respect to the sale of reserved mineral interests covered by this subpart.

(a) Accept or reject applications and offers to purchase.

(b) Obtain appraisal reports and determine fair market values in fair market value areas.

(c) Procure and approve vouchers and certified invoices in payment of authorized expenses.

§ 386.3 Sales in $1 per application areas.—(a) Issuance of forms and advice to applicants. Upon request, the County Supervisor will furnish each prospective applicant with two copies of Form FHA–987, "Application to Purchase Reserved Mineral Interests in $1 Per Application Areas," and will instruct him as to the manner in which it should be completed. The County Supervisor will also advise each prospective applicant as to the terms and conditions applicable to the sale of the reserved mineral interests under his land.

(b) Terms and conditions of sale. Each sale will be made under the following terms and conditions:

(1) Eligible purchasers. To be eligible for the purchase of such reserved mineral interests, applicants must be private persons who at the time of application are the owners of the surface of the land covered by the application.

(2) Application to purchase. The original of Form FHA–987 will be filed with the County Supervisor serving the county in which the reserved mineral interests are located. Such applications could not be made prior to December 5, 1950, and cannot be made later than September 5, 1957. A single application may cover all of the reserved mineral interests under lands owned by the applicant in the same county, whether the tracts are contiguous or not and even though the mineral reservations were made in more than one deed. No application will be accepted for an undivided interest in the minerals reserved by the Government or State Rural Rehabilitation or Defense Relocation Corporation. One of several joint owners may apply on behalf of all owners of the surface rights.

(3) Establishment of surface title. Applicants must establish, at their own expense, to the satisfaction of the Government, that on the date of their application, they and any other persons on whose behalf the application is made, are the owners of the surface of the land covered by their application. Applicants will be required to furnish evidence of their surface title in the form of an attorney's opinion or certificate of title based on examination of the records, supplemental abstract of title, or other title evidence which the Government deems necessary for use in determining the surface ownership. Such evidence of surface title will cover the period from the time of recordation of the surface deed or deeds in which the mineral reservations were made (or from the time of recordation of the transfer deed or deeds approved by the Government in transfer cases) through the date of execution of Form FHA–987.

(4) Sales price and terms. The reserved mineral interests covered by a single application will be sold for $1 to be tendered with the application.

(5) Conveyance. The reserved mineral interests will be conveyed by use of Form FHA–65. . "Quitclaims Deed to Minerals." All surface owners will be named as grantees in the quitclaim deed. The Government will not furnish the purchaser any base or supplemental abstract of title or any other title evidence. Fees for recording the quitclaim deed, and any revenue, sales, stamp, or other taxes that may be required by law in connection with the conveyance will be paid by the purchaser.

(c) Transmitting application dockets to the State Office. When Form FHA–987, the $1.00, and surface title evidence are delivered to the County Supervisor in proper form, he will issue Form FHA–37, "Receipt for Payment," for the $1.00 tendered with the application, and will transmit Form FHA–967 and the title evidence to the State Director.

(d) Disposition of $1 tendered with application. The $1 tendered with the application will be held in suspense by the Area Finance Office until it receives notification that the application has been rejected or that the sale has been consummated. If the application is rejected, the $1 will be returned to the applicant. If the sale is consummated, it will be applied as payment of the purchase price.

(e) Processing dockets in State Office and closing sales. Upon receipt of an application docket from the County Office, the State Director will review the docket and will take the following actions:

(1) Dockets showing applicants to be ineligible. If the docket as originally submitted or as subsequently corrected discloses that the applicant is not eligible to purchase the reserved mineral interests, the State Director will deliver or mail to the applicant Form FRA–988, "Notice of Rejection of Application to Purchase Reserved Mineral Interests in $1 Per Application Areas," notifying the applicant that the application has been rejected.

(2) Dockets showing applicants to be eligible. If the docket as originally submitted or as subsequently corrected discloses that the applicant is eligible to purchase the reserved mineral interests, the State Director will accept the application and will execute and forward to the County Supervisor the original of Form FHA–65.., and any abstract of title submitted by the applicant as evidence of his surface title, together with closing instructions. The County Supervisor will close the sale transaction in the manner required by the closing instructions.

§ 366.4 Sales in fair market value areas—(a) Issuance of forms and advice to applicants. Upon request, the County Supervisor will furnish each prospective applicant with two copies of Form FHA–990, "Application and Offer to Purchase Reserved Mineral Interests in Fair Market Value Areas," and will instruct him as to the manner in which it should be completed. The County Supervisor will also advise each prospective applicant as to the terms and conditions applicable to the sale of the reserved mineral interests under his land.

(b) Terms and conditions of sale. Each sale will be made under the following terms and conditions:

(1) Eligible purchasers. To be eligible for the purchase of such reserved mineral interests, applicants must be private persons who at the time of application are the owners of the surface of the land covered by the application.

(2) Application and offer to purchase. The original of Form FHA–990 must be filed with the County Supervisor serving the county in which the reserved mineral interests are located. Such applications could not be made prior to December 5, 1950, and cannot be made later than September 5, 1957. However, if an application is made within that period and is withdrawn, rejected, or terminated, another application and offer may be made within the same period of time. A single application may cover all of the reserved mineral interests under lands owned by the applicant in the same county, whether the tracts are contiguous or not and even though the mineral reservations were made in more than one deed. No application will be accepted for an undivided interest in minerals reserved by the Government or State Rural Rehabilitation or Defense Relocation Corporation. One of several joint owners may apply on behalf of all owners of the surface rights.

(3) Subsequent offers. If the offer contained in the application is rejected by the Government and the application remains in effect, subsequent offers on Form FHA–992, "Subsequent Offer to Purchase Reserved Mineral Interests in Fair Market Value Areas," may be filed by the applicant with the County Supervisor at any time while the application remains in effect.

(4) Establishment of surface title. Applicants must establish, at their own expense, to the satisfaction of the Government, that on the date of their application, they and any other persons on whose behalf the application is made, are the owners of the surface of the land covered by their application. Applicants will be required to furnish evidence of their surface title in the form of an attorney's opinion or certificate of title based on examination of the records, or a supplemental abstract of title, or other title evidence which the Government deems necessary for use in determining the surface ownership. Such evidence of surface title will cover the period from the time of recordation of the surface deed or deeds in which the mineral interests were reserved (or from the time of recordation of the transfer deed or deeds approved by the Government in transfer cases) through the date of execution of Form FHA–990.

(5) Sales price. The reserved mineral interests covered by each application and offer will be sold for their fair market value as determined by the State Director in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section.

(6) Terms. The reserved mineral interests will be sold for cash.

(7) Deposits. In cases in which the County Supervisor is of the opinion that the fair market value of the reserved mineral interests is $250 or more at the time the application and offer or subsequent offer is made, a deposit of 10 percent of the amount of the offer will be required to accompany the offer. The deposit will be made in the form of cash, a cashier's check, certified check, or United States Postal Money Order made payable to the Treasurer of the United States. The amount of the deposit will be held in suspense by the Area Finance Office pending final action on the application and the offer contained therein or subsequent offer made thereunder. The amount of the deposit will be applied on the purchase price if the offer is accepted and if the purchase is consummated within the time and in the manner required by the Government. The deposit will be returned to the applicant if the application and offer are rejected by the Government. In all other cases in which the sale is not consummated, the deposit may, at the option of the Government, be retained by the Government as liquidated damages.

(8) Conveyance. The reserved mineral interests will be conveyed by use of Form FHA–65. --, "Quitclaim Deed to Minerals." All surface owners will be named as grantees in the quitclaim deed. The Government will not furnish the purchaser any base or supplemental abstract of title or any other title evidence. Fees for recording the quitclaim deed, and any revenue, sales, stamp, or other taxes that may be required by law in connection with the conveyance will be paid by the purchaser. If any documentary, Internal Revenue, or other stamp taxes are required by law to be paid on the conveyance, the stamps will be furnished, affixed, and canceled by the purchaser at the time of delivery of the deed. If, at the date of the quitclaim deed, the reserved mineral interests are subject to any mineral lease, lease permit, or contract, the purchaser will be entitled to the Government's interest thereunder in:

(i) Any rentals under any lease on such minerals for the lease year or years beginning subsequent to the date of the quitclaim deed;

(ii) The balance of minimum royalty becoming due and payable on such minerals subsequent to the date of the quitclaim deed; and

(iii) Any royalties or other income from the production or sale of such minerals produced subsequent to the date of the quitclaim deed.

(9) Duration of applications and offers. Applications and offers on Form FHA–990 will terminate automatically one year from date thereof, unless they are previously accepted or rejected by the Government or withdrawn by the applicant. Withdrawal or rejection of an offer will not in itself constitute withdrawal or rejection of an application, but withdrawal, rejection or termination of an application will constitute withdrawal, rejection, or termination of an offer.

(c) Transmitting application and offer dockets to the State Office. When Form FHA–990, any deposit required, and surface title evidence are delivered to the County Supervisor in proper form, he will:

(1) Issue Form FHA–37 if a deposit is involved.

(2) Prepare a fair market value appraisal report reflecting the appraisal by the County Committee and County Supervisor as required in paragraph (e) (2) of this section.

(3) Transmit to the State Director the original of Form FHA–990, the original appraisal report by the County Committee and County Supervisor, and the required title evidence.

(d) Processing dockets in State Office and closing sales. Upon receipt of an application and offer docket from the County Office, the State Director will take the following action:

(1) Docket showing applicant to be ineligible. If the docket as originally submitted or as subsequently corrected discloses that the applicant is not eligible to purchase the reserved mineral interests, the State Director will deliver or mail to the applicant Form FHA–991, "Notice of Acceptance or Rejection (Fair Market Value Areas)," notifying the applicant that the application and offer have been rejected.

(2) Docket showing applicant to be eligible. If the docket as originally submitted or as subsequently corrected discloses that the applicant is eligible to purchase the reserved mineral interests, the State Director will determine whether a technical appraisal is necessary and, if so, obtain it as provided for in paragraph (e) (3) of this section, and will determine the fair market value in accordance with paragraph (e) of this section.

(i) If the offer represents the fair market value, the State Director will accept the application and offer and will execute and forward to the County Supervisor the original of Form FHA–65.--, and any abstract of title submitted by the applicant as evidence of his surface title, together with closing instructions. The County Supervisor will close the sale transaction in the manner required by the closing instructions. The amount of the sale price, less any deposit made in connection with the offer, will be collected at the time of closing the sale, in the form of cash, a cashier's check, certified check, or United States Postal Money Order. The County Supervisor will issue Form FHA–37 to the purchaser.

(ii) If the offer does not represent the fair market value of the reserved mineral interests, the State Director will notify the applicant that the application has been accepted but that the offer has been rejected. The notification will be made by use of Form FHA–991, which will be completed to show the reason for the rejection of the offer, and to advise the applicant as to the amount determined to represent the fair market value of the reserved mineral interests, and as to the period of time within which a subsequent offer in that amount would be acceptable to the Government. Two copies of the subsequent offer form, Form FHA–992, will be furnished to the applicant with the notice of rejection.

(iii) If a subsequent offer on Form FHA–992 is received within the time and in the amount specified in Form FHA–991, the State Director will accept the offer, and the sale transaction will be completed in the manner provided for in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph. If a subsequent offer is received within the time specified in Form FHA–991 but in a different amount than specified therein, the offer will not be considered but will be immediately returned to the applicant personally or by mail with appropriate explanation. If a subsequent offer on Form FHA–992 is received after the date specified in Form FHA–991 and while the application is still in effect, the subsequent offer will be considered on the basis of the fair market value existing at the time action is taken thereon, and the offer will be handled as if it were an original offer. If an application is withdrawn by the applicant, rejected by the Government, or terminates, any abstract of title submitted by the applicant as evidence of his surface title will be returned to him.

(e) Establishment of fair market value. In fair market value areas, appraisals will be required and the reserved mineral interests will be sold for their fair market value. "Fair market value" as applied to the sale of such reserved mineral interests means the cash price for which they could reasonably be expected to sell upon negotiations between a reasonably well-informed owner who is willing but not obligated to sell, and a reasonably well-informed buyer who is able and willing but not obligated to buy.

(1) Fair market value. The fair market value of the reserved mineral interests in each case will be established by the State Director taking into consideration the appraisal information, his personal knowledge, and any other available pertinent information, including any information which is obtainable from State authorities on mineral development, production, and other relevant matters.

(2) Appraisal by County Committee and County Supervisor. A fair market value appraisal will be made by the appropriate Farmers Home Administration County Committee and County Supervisor for the reserved mineral interests covered by each application in fair market value areas. Some of the factors to be considered in making such appraisals and to be covered by the appraisal report are geological information which may be available, leasing activity, lease bonus and rental prices, prices being paid for royalty or mineral rights in the immediate area, trading activity in royalty or minerals and leases, proximity to drilling or mining activity, and results of previous drilling or mining operations.

(3) Technical appraisals. In some cases, the State Director may, because of the existence of development or other conditions, deem it necessary to obtain technical appraisals by persons experienced in the field of appraising minerals. Such appraisals may be made by qualified Government appraisers or by other qualified persons.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VII—Production and Marketing Administration (Agricultural Adjustment), Department of Agriculture

PART 725—BURLEY AND FLUE-CURED TOBACCO

PROCLAMATION INCREASING THE NATIONAL MARKETING QUOTAS AND STATE ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS FOR THE 1951–52 MARKETING YEAR

The purpose of this proclamation is to increase the national marketing quotas for Burley tobacco and for flue-cured tobacco for the 1951–52 marketing year proclaimed on November 28, 1950, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of December 1, 1950 (15 F. R. 8216), and to increase the State acreage allotments published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of December 14, 1950 (15 F. R. 8853). The increases are made pursuant to section 312 (a) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

The findings and determinations by the Secretary contained in §§ 725.202, 725.205, 725.207 and 725.208 have been made on the basis of the latest available statistics of the Federal Government, and after due consideration of data, views, and recommendations received from Burley and flue-cured tobacco producers and others, as provided in a notice (16 F. R. 1675) given in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237).

Since Burley and flue-cured tobacco growers have already seeded plant beds and are now purchasing fertilizer and preparing the land to which tobacco will be transplanted, it is imperative that they be notified as soon as possible of their 1951 acreage allotments and farm marketing quotas. Therefore, it is hereby determined that compliance with the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act with respect to the effective date is contrary to the public interest, and that the amendments made herein shall become effective upon the date of their publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The Secretary has determined that in order to meet market demands, the amount of the national marketing quotas for Burley and flue-cured tobacco for the marketing years beginning October 1, 1951, and July 1, 1951, respectively, as proclaimed in §§ 725.202 and 725.205 and the State acreage allotments established in §§ 725.207 and 725.208 shall be increased. Therefore, §§ 725.202 and 725.205 are amended by adding new paragraphs (e) and §§ 725.207 and 725.208 are revised as follows:

§ 725.202 Findings and determinations with respect to the national marketing quota for Burley tobacco for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1951. * * *

(e) Increase in national marketing quota. The national marketing quota for Burley tobacco established in paragraph (d) of this section in the amount of 542,000,000 pounds is hereby increased to 580,000,000 pounds.

§ 725.205 Findings and determinations with respect to the national marketing quota for flue-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning July 1, 1951. * * *

(e) Increase in national marketing quota. The national marketing quota for flue-cured tobacco established in paragraph (d) of this section in the amount of 1,235,000,000 pounds is hereby increased to 1,297,000,000 pounds.

§ 725.207 Apportionment of the national marketing quota for Burley tobacco for the 1951–52 marketing year among the several States. The national marketing quota proclaimed in § 725.202 is hereby apportioned among the several States pursuant to section 313 (a) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and converted into State acreage allotments in accordance with section 313 (g) of the act as follows:

PART 725—BURLEY AND FLUE-CURED TOBACCO

MARKETING QUOTA REGULATIONS; 1951-52 MARKETING YEAR

The amendment herein is based on the marketing quota provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, applicable to tobacco (7 U. S. C. 1311–1314), and is made for the purpose of amending § 725.218 of the Burley and flue-cured tobacco marketing quota regulations, 1951–52 marketing year, relating to adjustment of acreage allotments for old farms. Prior to the adoption of this amendment, notice was given (16 F. R. 1679) that the Secretary was considering amending the regulations in line with this amendment, and that any interested person might express his views in writing with respect thereto. The date, views, and recommendations received pursuant to the notice have been duly considered within the limits permitted by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended. Since Burley tobacco growers have already seeded plant beds and are now purchasing fertilizer and preparing the land to which tobacco will be transplanted, it is imperative that they be notified as soon as possible of their 1951 acreage allotments and farm marketing quotas. Therefore, it is hereby determined that compliance with the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act with respect to the effective date is impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and that the amendment made herein shall become effective upon the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The Marketing Quota Regulations, Burley and Flue-cured Tobacco, 1951–52 Marketing Year, are amended by deleting the last sentence of § 725.218 and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "The acreage available for increasing allotments under this section shall not exceed two percent of the total acreage allotted to all farms in the State for the 1950–51 marketing year in the case of Burley tobacco, and shall not exceed one-half of one percent of the total acreage allotted to all farms in the State for the 1950–51 marketing year in the case of flue-cured tobacco."

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 930—MILK IN THE TOLEDO, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

ORDER, AMENDING THE ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING THE HANDLING

§ 930.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.) and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Toledo, Ohio, marketing area; and a decision was made with respect to amendments by the Under Secretary on January 30, 1951. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereto, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary to make effective promptly the present amendments to the said order, as amended, to reflect current marketing conditions, and to insure the production of an adequate supply of milk. Any further delay in the effective date of this order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will seriously threaten the supply of milk for the Toledo, Ohio, marketing area and will disrupt orderly marketing. The changes effected by this order, amending the order, as amended, do not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date. In view of the foregoing, it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this order for 30 days after its publication (section 4 (c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping the milk covered by this order, as amended) of more than 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, which is marketed within the Toledo, Ohio, marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area; and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order, further amending the said order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order further amending the said order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period (December 1950) were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order Relative to Handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Toledo, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

Delete subparagraphs (1) and (2) of § 930.5 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(1) Class I milk price. (i) Except as provided in subdivision (ii), add to the basic formula price the following amount for the delivery period indicated:

Delivery period:	Amount
May and June	$0.75
March, April, July, August	1.00
All others	1.20

(ii) For the second delivery period following any period of 12 consecutive months in which the total receipts of milk from producers by all handlers exceed 135 percent of the total Class I utilization of all handlers, and continuing until the beginning of the second delivery period following any period of 12 consecutive months in which such milk receipts are less than 125 percent of such utilization, add to the basic formula price the following amount for the delivery period indicated:

Delivery period:	Amount
May and June	$0.75
March, April, July, August	.95
All others	1.05

(2) Class II milk price. The Class II milk price for each delivery period shall be the Class I milk price for such delivery period less 30 cents.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of February 1951, to be effective on and after the first day of March 1951.

TEA STANDARDS

Pursuant to the authority of sections 2, 3, and 10 of the Tea Importation Act (29 Stat. 605, as amended by 35 Stat. 163, 41 Stat. 712, 54 Stat. 1237; 21 U. S. § 170.19 Tea standards. • • •

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since the amendment is based upon the recommendation of the Board of Tea Experts, which is comprised of experts in teas drawn from the Food and Drug Administration and the tea trade, so as to be representative of the tea trade as a whole.

PART 102—RULES AND REGULATIONS, SERIES 6

The rules and regulations of the National Labor Relations Board, Series 5, as amended,[2] are hereby amended, effective March 1, 1951, and shall be in force and effect as Series 6.

A summary of the substance of the major changes made by Series 6 follows:

1. Section 102.11 is changed to require that three additional copies of a charge that any person has engaged in or is engaging in any unfair labor practice must be filed with the regional director. One additional copy of such charge must also be submitted for each party named respondent.

2. Section 102.13 is revised to conform to the present instruction that an international labor organization file evidence from the Department of Labor of that organization's compliance with section 9 (f) and (g) of the act with the general counsel in Washington, D. C., and that local labor organizations file such evidence with the regional director for the region in which the proceeding is pending.

3. In § 102.13 (c), the definition of the term "officer" of a labor organization, adopted by the Board on November 29, 1949, which appeared in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 2, 1949 (14 F. R. 7250), effective January 1, 1950, is incorporated.

4. Section 102.15 is amended to strike the word "charges" in line 5, and in lieu thereof the words "unfair labor practices" have been inserted.

5. Each of § 102.25, 102.30 (c), 102.34, 102.36, 102.37, 102.42 is changed to incorporate necessary references to the newly established branch office of the trial examining division in San Francisco, California, under an associate chief trial examiner. These changes refer to the designation of trial examiners to preside over cases originating under the jurisdiction of that office, and to the appropriate place to file necessary motions, depositions, briefs, exceptions, and other portions of the record of such cases.

6. Section 102.31 (a) is changed to make clear that either a regional director or a trial examiner, on behalf of any member of the Board, shall grant appropriate applications for subpenas after complaint has issued in an unfair labor practice proceeding.

7. Section 102.38 is amended to require that "documentary evidence" or exhibits, submitted during hearing in an unfair labor practice proceeding, shall be submitted in duplicate.

8. Section 102.42 is modified to increase from 15 days to 20 days the limit of the time that may be granted by a trial examiner for submission of proposed findings and conclusions or brief after hearing in a complaint case. A further change provides that no request for an extension of such time will be considered unless received at least 3 days prior to the expiration of the time fixed for the submission of such documents. Notice of request for extension of time must be served on all other parties and proof of service furnished. It is also required that three copies of all documents must be submitted.

9. Section 102.45 is changed to provide that service upon the parties of the intermediate report and of the order transferring the case to the Board shall be complete on the date the Board in Washington, D. C., deposits such documents in the United States mail.

10. Section 102.46 is expanded to make clear that when any party chooses to file exceptions to an intermediate report that such filing must be achieved by actual receipt by the Board in Washington, D. C., within 20 days or within such further period as the Board may allow from the date of the service of the order transferring the case to the Board. Otherwise, such filing will be regarded as untimely and will not be received.

This section is further amended to require that seven copies of such exceptions and brief in support of exceptions or in support of the intermediate report must be filed and also served on the other parties, and proof made of such service. It is further required that statements of exceptions and briefs must designate by precise citation of page and line the portions of the record relied upon.

A change in paragraph (c) requires that applications for permission to argue orally before the Board must be submitted simultaneously with the statement of any exceptions filed to an intermediate report.

It is also required by an amendment to paragraph (c) that documents filed must be legibly printed or otherwise legibly duplicated: Provided, however, That carbon copies of typewritten matter shall not be filed, and if submitted, will not be accepted.

11. Section 102.48 is broadened to make clear that the Board will exercise its discretion in determining whether to issue its decision and order upon an intermediate report to which no exceptions have been filed and with which the respondent has complied. If the Board deems the proof of compliance adequate it may, in its discretion, order such case closed even though no exceptions have been filed to such report under section 10 (c) of the act.

12. Section 102.53 (a) (6) is changed to eliminate the requirement that a petitioner in a representation matter indicate the number of employees who have designated the petitioner to act in collective bargaining matters in their behalf. Further, subparagraph (7) is changed to require a petitioner to recite either that "the employer declines to recognize petitioner • • • within the meaning of section 9 (a)" or "that the labor organization is currently recognized but desires certification under the act."

13. Sections 102.57 (a), 102.60, and 102.76 are changed to make clear that exceptions, motions, and briefs and similar documents submitted to the Board in connection with any proceeding may be printed or duplicated in any manner desired: Provided, however, That carbon copies of typewritten matter shall not be filed, and if submitted, will not be received by the Board.

14. Section 102.58 is expanded to make clear that a regional director may rule upon a petition to revoke a subpena in a representation matter or to refer such petition to the hearing officer.

15. As noted above, § 102.60 is amended to conform to the Board's rule in respect of printing and submission of briefs. Copies of briefs submitted in representation proceedings must be served on all other parties and proof of such service filed with the Board. It is also provided that for good cause shown, a hearing officer, prior to the close of the hearing, may grant an extension of time within which to file a brief, but which may not exceed 14 additional days. Requests for extension of time within which to file briefs, not addressed to the hearing officer, must be received in Washington, D. C., not later than 3 days before such briefs are due.

16. Section 102.61 is amended in the following respects:

a. The regional director has been authorized to approve a timely request by a labor organization to have its name removed from the ballot whenever two or more labor organizations have been included as choices in a Board-directed election.

[1] This amends Statement of Procedure effective August 22, 1947, which appeared at 12 F. R. 5651 and amendments effective August 21, 1948, appearing in 13 F. R. 4671, and amendments effective January 1, 1950, appearing in 14 F. R. 7250. Redesignation noted at 14 F. R. 78.

[2] This amends rules and regulations, Series 5, effective August 22, 1947, which appeared at 12 F. R. 5651, 5656, and amendments effective August 21, 1948, appearing at 13 F. R. 4871, and amendments effective January 1, 1950 appearing at 14 F. R. 7250. Redesignation noted at 14 F. R. 73.

b. Minor language changes have been made in the first paragraph to make clear that the time for filing objections to the conduct of an election or conduct effecting an election is within 5 days following issuance of the tally of ballots. It is also provided that copies of such objections shall be served on all parties, and proof of service must be made to the Board.

c. Section 102.61 (b) is changed to enlarge from 5 days to 10 days from the date of issuance of a report on challenged ballots, objections, or both, the time within which any party may file with the Board in Washington, D. C., exceptions to such report.

d. Section 102.61 (b) is further amended to provide that if exceptions to a report on challenged ballots, objections, or both, raise substantial and material factual issues, that the Board may direct further hearing on said objections and also may direct the hearing officer to issue and serve a report.

e. A final paragraph is added to the section which provides that whenever the Board in respect of challenged ballots, has directed the regional director to open and count such ballots, and no objection has been made to the revised tally of ballots resulting within 3 days after the revised tally has been furnished the parties, that the regional director may forthwith issue a certification of representatives whenever appropriate, with the same force and effect as if issued by the Board.

17. Section 102.62 (d) is changed to provide that in the event two or more choices receive the same number of ballots in a runoff election, and another choice receives no ballots and there are no challenged ballots that would affect the results of the election, and if all eligible voters have cast valid ballots, there shall be no runoff election and the representation petition shall be dismissed.

18. Section 102.63 is changed to require that an appeal from a dismissal by the regional director of a representation petition must be served on each of the other parties to the proceeding.

19. Section 102.66 is changed to eliminate the requirement that a petition seeking a referendum for authority to make an agreement requiring membership in a labor organization recite the number of employees in the unit and the number of such employees who have authorized the petitioner to make such an agreement. These changes were effected by striking paragraphs (c) and (i) of the section.

20. Section 102.85 is expanded to recite that "the date of service" by the Board in addressing any matter to parties to its proceeding, shall be the day when the matter is deposited by the Board in the United States mail or is delivered in person, as the case may be. Also in this respect see especially the amendments to §§ 102.45, 102.46 (a), and 102.86.

21. Section 102.86 is expanded to require that whenever the act or any Board rule requires or permits "the filing" by any party of motions, briefs, exceptions, or other papers in any proceeding, that such filing means that the document or documents must be received by the Board or the officer or agent designated to receive such matter before the close of business of the last day of the time limit, if any, for such filing or extension of time that may have been granted. A further amendment makes clear that the 3 days that may be added to any such period whenever service is made by mail, is not to be added in the event an extension of such time may have been granted.

(b) If the charge is filed by a labor organization, the full name and address of any national or international labor organization of which it is an affiliate or constituent unit.

(d) A clear and concise statement of the facts constituting the alleged unfair labor practices affecting commerce.

§ 102.13 Compliance with section 9 (f), (g), and (h) of the act. (a) For the purpose of the rules and regulations in this part, compliance with section 9 (f) and (g) of the act means (1) that the Secretary of Labor has issued to the labor organization, pursuant to the rules of the Department of Labor, a letter showing that the labor organization has filed the material required under section 9 (f) and (g) of the act; (2) that the labor organization has filed with the general counsel in Washington, D. C., or with the regional director, either as part of the charge (or petition) or otherwise, the duplicate copy of such compliance letter; and (3) that the labor organization has filed with the general counsel or with the regional director for the region in which the proceeding is pending or in which it customarily files cases, either as part of the charge (or petition) or otherwise, a declaration executed by an authorized agent stating that the labor organization has complied with section 9 (f) (B) (2) of the act requiring that it furnish to all of its members copies of the financial report filed with the Department of Labor, and setting forth the method by which such compliance was made.

(b) For the purpose of the rules and regulations in this part, compliance with section 9 (h) of the act means in the case of a national or international labor organization, that it has filed with the general counsel in Washington, D. C., and in the case of a local labor organization, that any national or international labor organization of which it is an affiliate or constituent body has filed with the general counsel in Washington, D. C., and that the labor organization has filed with the regional director in the region in which the proceeding is pending:

(1) A declaration by an authorized representative of the labor organization, executed contemporaneously with the charge (or petition) or within the preceding 12-month period, listing the titles of all offices of the filing organization and stating the name of the incumbent, if any, in each such office and the date of expiration of each incumbent's term.

(3) The term "officer" as used in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph shall mean any person occupying a position identified as an office in the constitution of the labor organization; except, however, that where the Board has reasonable cause to believe that a labor organization has omitted from its constitution the designation of any position as an office for the purpose of evading or circumventing the filing requirements of section 9 (h) of the act, the Board may, upon appropriate notice, conduct an investigation to determine the facts in that regard, and where the facts appear to warrant such action the Board may require affidavits from persons other than incumbents of positions identified by the constitution as offices before the labor organization will be recognized as having complied with section 9 (h) of the act.

§ 102.14 Service of charge. Upon the filing of a charge, the charging party shall be responsible for the timely and proper service of a copy thereof upon the person against whom such charge is made. § 102.18 Withdrawal. Any such complaint may be withdrawn before the hearing by regional director on his own motion.

§ 102.19 Review by the general counsel of refusal to issue. If, after the charge has been filed, the regional director declines to issue a complaint, he shall so advise the parties in writing, accompanied by a simple statement of the procedural or other grounds. The person making the charge may obtain a review of such action by filing a request therefor with the general counsel in Washington, D. C., and filing a copy of the request with the regional director, within 10 days from the service of the notice of such refusal by the regional director. All allegations in the complaint, if no answer is filed, or any allegation in the complaint not specifically denied or explained in an answer filed, unless the respondent shall state in the answer that he is without knowledge, shall be deemed to be admitted to be true and may be so found by the Board.

§ 102.21 Where to file; service upon the parties; form; jurat. An original and four copies of the answer shall be filed with the regional director issuing the complaint. Immediately upon the filing of his answer, respondent shall serve a copy thereof on each of the other parties. During the hearing or subsequent thereto, he may amend his answer in any case where the complaint has been amended, within such period as may be fixed by the trial examiner or the Board. The trial examiner shall cause a copy of the same to be served upon each of the other parties, or shall make his ruling in the intermediate report. Whenever the trial examiner has reserved his ruling on any motion, and the proceeding is thereafter transferred to and continued before the Board pursuant to § 102.50, the Board shall rule on such motion.

§ 102.26 Motions; rulings and orders part of the record; rulings not to be appealed directly to Board without special permission; requests for special permission to appeal. All motions, rulings, and orders shall become part of the record, except that rulings on motions to revoke subpenas shall become a part of the record only upon the request of the party aggrieved thereby, as provided in § 102.31. Unless expressly authorized by the rules and regulations, rulings by the regional director and by the trial examiner on motions, by the trial examiner on objections, and orders in connection therewith, shall not be appealed directly to the Board except by special permission of the Board, but shall be considered by the Board in reviewing the record, if exception to the ruling or order is included in the statement of exceptions filed with the Board, pursuant to § 102.46. Requests to the Board for special permission to appeal from such rulings of the regional director or the trial examiner shall be filed promptly, in writing and shall briefly state the grounds relied on. The moving party shall immediately serve a copy thereof on each other party.

§ 102.27 Review of granting of motion to dismiss entire complaint; reopening of record. If any motion in the nature of a motion to dismiss the complaint in its entirety is granted by the trial examiner before filing his intermediate report, any party may obtain a review of such action by filing a request therefor with the Board in Washington, D. C., stating the grounds for review, and immediately on such filing shall serve a copy thereof on the regional director and the other parties. Unless such request for review is filed within 10 days from the date of the order of dismissal, the case shall be closed.

§ 102.28 Filing of answer or other participation in proceedings not a waiver of rights. The right to make motions or to make objections to rulings upon motions shall not be deemed waived by the filing of an answer or by other participation in the proceedings before the trial examiner or the Board.

INTERVENTION

§ 102.29 Intervention; requisites; rulings on motions to intervene. Any person desiring to intervene in any proceeding shall file a motion in writing or, if made at the hearing, may move orally on the record, stating the grounds upon which such person claims an interest. Prior to the hearing, such a motion shall be filed with the regional director issuing the complaint; during the hearing such motion shall be made to the trial examiner. An original and four copies of written motions shall be filed. Immediately upon filing such motion, the moving party shall serve a copy thereof upon each of the other parties. The regional director shall rule upon all such motions filed prior to the hearing, and shall cause a copy of said rulings to be served upon each of the other parties, or may refer the motion to the trial examiner for ruling. WITNESSES, DEPOSITIONS, AND SUBPENAS

§ 102.30 Examination of witnesses; depositions. Witnesses shall be examined orally under oath, except that for good cause shown after the issuance of a complaint, testimony may be taken by deposition.

(a) Applications to take depositions shall be in writing setting forth the reasons why such depositions should be taken, the name and post-office address of the witness, the matters concerning which it is expected the witness will testify, and the time and place proposed for the taking of the deposition, together with the name and address of the person before whom it is desired that the deposition be taken (for the purposes of this section hereinafter referred to as the "officer"). Such application shall be made to the regional director prior to the hearing, and to the trial examiner during the hearing and subsequent to the hearing but before transfer of the case to the Board pursuant to § 102.45 or § 102.50. Such application shall be served upon the regional director or the trial examiner, as the case may be, and upon all other parties, not less than 7 days (when the deposition is to be taken within the continental United States) and 15 days (if the deposition is to be taken elsewhere) prior to the time when it is desired that the deposition be taken. The regional director or trial examiner, as the case may be, shall upon receipt of the application, if in his discretion good cause has been shown, make and serve upon the parties an order which will specify the name of the witness whose deposition is to be taken and the time, the place, and the designation of the officer before whom the witness is to testify, who may or may not be the same officer as that specified in the application. Such order shall be served upon all the other parties by the regional director or upon all parties by the trial examiner.

(b) Such deposition may be taken before any officer authorized to administer oaths by the laws of the United States or of the place where the examination is held, including any agent of the Board authorized to administer oaths. If the examination is held in a foreign country, it may be taken before any secretary of embassy or legation, consul general, consul, vice consul, or consular agent of the United States.

(c) At the time and place specified in said order the officer designated to take such deposition shall permit the witness to be examined and cross-examined under oath by all the parties appearing, and his testimony shall be reduced to typewriting by the officer or under his direction. All objections to questions or evidence shall be deemed waived unless made at the examination. The officer shall not have power to rule upon any objections but he shall note them upon the deposition. The testimony shall be subscribed by the witness in the presence of the officer who shall attach his certificate stating that the witness was duly sworn by him, that the deposition is a true record of the testimony and exhibits given by the witness, and that said officer is not of counsel or attorney to any of the parties nor interested in the event of the proceeding or investigation. If the deposition is not signed by the witness because he is ill, dead, cannot be found, or refuses to sign it, such fact shall be included in the certificate of the officer and the deposition may then be used as fully as though signed. The officer shall immediately deliver an original and two copies of said transcript, together with his certificate, in person or by registered mail to the regional director or the trial examiner, care of the chief trial examiner, in Washington, D. C., or associate chief trial examiner, San Francisco, Calif., as the case may be.

(d) The trial examiner shall rule upon the admissibility of the deposition or any part thereof.

(e) All errors or irregularities in compliance with the provisions of this section shall be deemed waived unless a motion to suppress the deposition or some part thereof is made with reasonable promptness after such defect is or,

with due diligence, might have been ascertained.

(f) If the parties so stipulate in writing, depositions may be taken before any person at any time or place, upon any notice and in any manner, and when so taken may be used like other depositions.

§ 102.31 Issuance of subpenas; petitions to revoke subpenas; right to inspect or copy data. (a) Any member of the Board shall, on the written application of any party, forthwith issue subpenas requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of any evidence, including books, records, correspondence, or documents, in their possession or under their control. Applications for subpenas, if filed prior to the hearing, shall be filed with the regional director. Applications for subpenas filed during the hearing shall be filed with the trial examiner. Either the regional director or the trial examiner, as the case may be, shall grant the application, on behalf of any member of the Board. Applications for subpenas may be made ex parte. The subpena shall show on its face the name and address of the party at whose request the subpena was issued.

(b) Any person subpenaed, if he does not intend to comply with the subpena, shall, within 5 days after the date of service of the subpena upon him, petition in writing to revoke the subpena. All petitions to revoke subpena shall be served upon the party at whose request the subpena was issued. Such petition to revoke, if made prior to the hearing, shall be filed with the regional director and the regional director shall refer the petition to the trial examiner or the Board for ruling. Petitions to revoke subpenas filed during the hearing shall be filed with the trial examiner. Notice of the filing of petitions to revoke shall be promptly given by the regional director or the trial examiner, as the case may be, to the party at whose request the subpena was issued. The trial examiner or the Board, as the case may be, shall revoke the subpena if in its opinion the evidence whose production is required does not relate to any matter under investigation or in question in the proceedings or the subpena does not describe with sufficient particularity the evidence whose production is required. The trial examiner or the Board, as the case may be, shall make a simple statement of procedural or other grounds for the ruling on the petition to revoke. The petition to revoke, any answer filed thereto, and any ruling thereon, shall not become part of the official record except upon the request of the party aggrieved by the ruling.

(c) Persons compelled to submit data or evidence at a public proceeding are entitled to retain or, on payment of lawfully prescribed costs, to procure, copies or transcripts of the data or evidence submitted by them. Persons compelled to submit data or evidence in the nonpublic investigative stages of proceedings may, for good cause, be limited by the regional director to inspection of the official transcript of their testimony, but shall be entitled to make copies of documentary evidence or exhibits which they have produced.

(d) Upon the failure of any person to comply with a subpena issued upon the request of a private party, the general counsel shall in the name of the Board but on relation of such private party, institute proceedings in the appropriate district court for the enforcement of such subpena, but neither the general counsel nor the Board shall be deemed thereby to have assumed responsibility for the effective prosecution of the same before the court.

§ 102.32 Payment of witness fees and mileage; fees of persons taking depositions. Witnesses summoned before the trial examiner shall be paid the same fees and mileage that are paid witnesses in the courts of the United States, and witnesses whose depositions are taken and the persons taking the same shall severally be entitled to the same fees as are paid for like services in the courts of the United States. Witness fees and mileage shall be paid by the party at whose instance the witnesses appear and the person taking the deposition shall be paid by the party at whose instance the deposition is taken.

TRANSFER, CONSOLIDATION, AND SEVERANCE

§ 102.33 Transfer of charge and proceeding from region to region; consolidation of proceedings in same region; severance. Wherever the general counsel deems it necessary in order to effectuate the purposes of the act or to avoid unnecessary costs or delay, he may permit a charge to be filed with him in Washington, D. C., or may, at any time after a charge has been filed with a regional director pursuant to § 102.10, order that such charge and any proceeding which may have been initiated with respect thereto:

(a) Be transferred to and continued before him for the purpose of investigation or consolidation with any other proceeding which may have been instituted in a regional office or with him; or

(b) Be consolidated with any other proceeding which may have been instituted in the same region; or

(c) Be transferred to and continued in any other region for the purpose of investigation or consolidation with any proceeding which may have been instituted in or transferred to such other region.

The provisions of §§ 102.9 to 102.32, inclusive, shall, insofar as applicable, govern proceedings before the general counsel pursuant to this section, and the powers granted to regional directors in such provisions shall, for the purpose of this section, be reserved to and exercised by the general counsel. After the transfer of any charge and any proceeding which may have been instituted with respect thereto from one region to another pursuant to this section, the provisions of this subpart shall, insofar as applicable, govern such charge and such proceeding as if the charge had originally been filed in the region to which the transfer is made.

Motions to sever proceedings may be filed before hearing, with the regional director, and during the hearing, with the trial examiner. The regional director shall refer all such motions filed with him to the trial examiner for ruling. Rulings by the trial examiner on motions to sever may be appealed to the Board in accordance with § 102.26.

HEARINGS

§ 102.34 Who shall conduct; to be public unless otherwise ordered. The hearing for the purpose of taking evidence upon a complaint shall be conducted by a trial examiner designated by the chief trial examiner, Washington, D. C., or, the associate chief trial examiner, San Francisco, Calif., as the case may be, unless the Board or any member thereof presides. At any time a trial examiner may be designated to take the place of the trial examiner previously designated to conduct the hearing. Such hearings shall be public unless otherwise ordered by the Board or the trial examiner.

§ 102.35 Duties and powers of trial examiners. It shall be the duty of the trial examiner to inquire fully into the facts as to whether the respondent has engaged in or is engaging in an unfair labor practice affecting commerce as set forth in the complaint or amended complaint. The trial examiner shall have authority, with respect to cases assigned to him, between the time he is designated and transfer of the case to the Board, subject to the Rules and Regulations of the Board and within its powers:

(a) To administer oaths and affirmations;

(b) To grant applications for subpenas;

(c) To rule upon petitions to revoke subpenas;

(d) To rule upon offers of proof and receive relevant evidence;

(e) To take or cause depositions to be taken whenever the ends of justice would be served thereby;

(f) To regulate the course of the hearing and, if appropriate or necessary, to exclude persons or counsel from the hearing for contemptuous conduct and to strike all related testimony of witnesses refusing to answer any proper question;

(g) To hold conferences for the settlement or simplification of the issues by consent of the parties, but not to adjust cases;

(h) To dispose of procedural requests or similar matters, including motions referred to the trial examiner by the regional director and motions to amend pleadings; also to dismiss complaints or portions thereof, and to order hearings reopened prior to issuance of intermediate reports (recommended decisions);

(i) To make and file intermediate reports in conformity with section 8 of the Administrative Procedure Act;

(j) To call, examine and cross-examine witnesses, and to introduce into the record documentary or other evidence;

(k) To take any other action necessary under the foregoing and authorized by the published rules and regulations of the Board.

§ 102.36 Unavailability of trial examiners. In the event the trial examiner designated to conduct the hearing becomes unavailable to the Board after the hearing has been concluded and before the filing of his intermediate report, the Board may transfer the case to itself for purposes of further hearing or issuance of an intermediate report or both on the record as made, or may request the chief trial examiner, Washington, D. C., or associate chief trial examiner, San Francisco, Calif., as the case may be to designate another trial examiner for such purposes.

§ 102.37 Disqualification of trial examiners. A trial examiner may withdraw from a proceeding whenever he deems himself disqualified. Any party may request the trial examiner, at any time following his designation by the chief trial examiner or associate chief trial examiner and before filing of his intermediate report, to withdraw on ground of personal bias or disqualification, by filing with him promptly upon the discovery of the alleged facts a timely affidavit setting forth in detail the matters alleged to constitute grounds for disqualification. If, in the opinion of the trial examiner, such affidavit is filed with due diligence and is sufficient on its face, he shall forthwith disqualify himself and withdraw from the proceeding. If the trial examiner does not disqualify himself and withdraw from the proceeding, he shall so rule upon the record, stating the grounds for his ruling and proceed with the hearing, or if the hearing has closed, he shall proceed with issuance of his intermediate report, and the provisions of § 102.26, with respect to review of rulings of trial examiners, shall thereupon apply.

§ 102.38 Rights of parties. Any party shall have the right to appear at such hearing in person, by counsel, or by other representative, to call, examine and cross-examine witnesses, and to introduce into the record documentary or other evidence, except that the participation of any party shall be limited to the extent permitted by the trial examiner, and provided further that documentary evidence shall be submitted in duplicate.

§ 102.39 Rules of evidence controlling so far as practicable. Any such proceeding shall, so far as practicable, be conducted in accordance with the rules of evidence applicable in the district courts of the United States under the rules of civil procedure for the district courts of the United States, adopted by the Supreme Court of the United States pursuant to the act of June 19, 1934 (28 U. S. C. 723–B, 723–C).

§ 102.40 Stipulations of fact admissible. In any such proceeding stipulations of fact may be introduced in evidence with respect to any issue.

§ 102.41 Objection to conduct of hearing, how made; objections not waived by further participation. Any objection with respect to the conduct of the hearing, including any objection to the introduction of evidence, may be stated orally or in writing, accompanied by a short statement of the grounds of such objection, and included in the record. No such objection shall be deemed waived by further participation in the hearing.

§ 102.42 Filing of briefs and proposed findings with the trial examiner and oral argument at the hearing. Any party shall be entitled, upon request, to a reasonable period at the close of the hearing for oral argument, which shall be included in the stenographic report of the hearing. Any party shall be entitled, upon request made before the close of the hearing, to file a brief or proposed findings and conclusions, or both, with the trial examiner who may fix a reasonable time for such filing, but not in excess of 20 days from the close of the hearing. Requests for further extensions of time shall be made to the chief trial examiner in Washington, D. C., or associate chief trial examiner, San Francisco, California, as the case may be. No request will be considered unless received at least 3 days prior to the expiration of the time fixed for the filing of briefs or proposed findings and conclusions. Notice of the request for any extension shall be immediately served upon all other parties, and proof of service shall be furnished. Three copies of the brief or proposed findings and conclusions shall be filed with the trial examiner.

§ 102.43 Continuance and adjournment. In the discretion of the trial examiner, the hearing may be continued from day to day, or adjourned to a later date or to a different place, by announcement thereof at the hearing by the trial examiner, or by other appropriate notice.

§ 102.44 Contemptuous conduct; refusal of witness to answer questions. Contemptuous conduct at any hearing before a trial examiner or before the Board shall be ground for exclusion from the hearing. The refusal of a witness at any such hearing to answer any question which has been ruled to be proper shall, in the discretion of the trial examiner, be ground for striking all testimony previously given by such witness on related matters.

INTERMEDIATE REPORT AND TRANSFER OF CASE TO THE BOARD

§ 102.45 Intermediate report and recommended order; contents; service; transfer of the case to the Board; contents of record in case. After hearing for the purpose of taking evidence upon a complaint, the trial examiner shall prepare an intermediate report and recommended order, but the initial decision shall be made by the Board. Such report shall contain findings of fact, conclusions, and the reasons or basis therefor, upon all material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented on the record, and the recommended order shall contain recommendations as to what disposition of the case should be made, which may include, if it be found that the respondent has engaged in or is engaging in the alleged unfair labor practices, a recommendation for such affirmative action by the respondent as will effectuate the policies of the act. The trial examiner shall file the original of the intermediate report and recommended order with the Board and cause a copy thereof to be served upon each of the parties. Upon the filing of the report and recommended order, the Board shall enter an order transferring the case to the Board and shall serve copies of the order, setting forth the date of such transfer, upon all the parties. Service of the intermediate report and of the order transferring the case to the Board shall be complete upon mailing.

The charge upon which the complaint was issued and any amendments thereto, the complaint and any amendments thereto, notice of hearing, answer and any amendments thereto, motions, rulings, orders, the stenographic report of the hearing, stipulations, exhibits, documentary evidence and depositions, together with the intermediate report and recommended order and exceptions, shall constitute the record in the case.

EXCEPTIONS TO THE RECORD AND PROCEEDING

§ 102.46 Exception or supporting briefs; time for filing; where to file; service on parties; extension of time; effect of failure to include matter in exceptions; oral arguments. (a) Within 20 days or within such further period as the Board may allow from the date of the service of the order transferring the case to the Board, pursuant to § 102.45, any party may (in accordance with section 10 (c) of the act and §§ 102.85 and 102.86) file with the Board in Washington, D. Statements of exceptions and briefs shall designate by precise citation of page and line the portions of the record relied upon. However, the Board may, in its discretion, order such case closed upon compliance.

(b) Upon the filing of a statement of exceptions and briefs, as provided in § 102.46, the Board may decide the matter forthwith upon the record, or after oral argument, or may reopen the record and receive further evidence before a member of the Board or other Board agent or agency, or may close the case upon compliance with recommendations of the intermediate report or may make other disposition of the case.

A copy of the petition shall be served with such notice of hearing. Any such notice of hearing may be amended or withdrawn before the close of the hearing by the regional director on his own motion.

Unless expressly authorized by these rules and regulations in this part, rulings by the regional director and by the hearing officer shall not be appealed directly to the Board except by special permission of the Board, but shall be considered by the Board when it reviews the entire record. Requests to the Board for special permission to appeal from such rulings of the regional director or the hearing officer shall be filed promptly, in writing, and shall briefly state the grounds relied on. The moving party shall immediately serve a copy thereof on each other party.

(d) The right to make motions or to make objections to rulings on motions shall not be deemed waived by participation in the proceedings.

§ 102.58 Introduction of evidence; rights of parties at hearing; subpenas. (a) Any party shall have the right to appear at any hearing in person, by counsel, or by other representatives, and any party and the hearing officer shall have power to call, examine and cross-examine witnesses, and to introduce into the record documentary and other evidence. Applications for subpenas may be made ex parte. The regional director or the hearing officer, as the case may be, shall forthwith grant the subpenas requested. Any person subpenaed, if he does not intend to comply with the subpena, shall, within 5 days after the date of service of the subpena, petition in writing to revoke the subpena. Such petition shall be filed with the regional director who may either rule upon it or refer it for ruling to the hearing officer: Provided, however, That if the evidence called for is to be produced at a hearing and the hearing has opened, the petition to revoke shall be filed with the hearing officer. Notice of the filing of petitions to revoke shall be promptly given by the regional director or hearing officer, as the case may be, to the party at whose request the subpena was issued. The regional director or the hearing officer, as the case may be, shall revoke the subpena if, in his opinion, the evidence whose production is required does not relate to any matter under investigation or in question in the proceedings or the subpena does not describe with sufficient particularity the evidence whose production is required. The regional director or the hearing officer, as the case may be, shall make a simple statement of procedural or other grounds for his ruling. The petition to revoke, any answer filed thereto, and any ruling thereon, shall not become part of the record except upon the request of the party aggrieved by the ruling. Persons compelled to submit data or evidence are entitled to retain or, on payment of lawfully prescribed costs, to procure, copies or transcripts of the data or evidence submitted by them.

(d) Contemptuous conduct at any hearing before a hearing officer or before the Board shall be ground for exclusion from the hearing. The refusal of a witness at any such hearing to answer any question which has been ruled to be proper shall, in the discretion of the hearing officer, be ground for striking all testimony previously given by such witness on related matters.

(e) Any party shall be entitled, upon request, to a reasonable period at the close of the hearing, for oral argument, which shall be included in the stenographic report of the hearing.

(f) The hearing officer may submit an analysis of the record to the Board but he shall make no recommendations.

(g) Witness fees and mileage shall be paid by the party at whose instance the witness appears.

§ 102.59 Record: what constitutes; transmission to Board. Upon the close of the hearing the regional director shall forward to the Board in Washington, D. C., the petition, notice of hearing, motions, rulings, orders, the stenographic report of the hearing, stipulations, exhibits, documentary evidence, and depositions, all of which shall constitute the record in the proceeding.

§ 102.60 Proceedings before the Board; further hearings; briefs; Board direction of election; certification of results. The Board shall thereupon proceed, either forthwith upon the record, or after oral argument or the submission of briefs, or further hearing, as it may determine, to direct a secret ballot of the employees, or to make other disposition of the matter. Should any party desire to file a brief with the Board, seven copies thereof shall be filed with the Board in Washington, D. C., within 7 days after the close of the hearing: Provided, however, That, prior to the close of the hearing and for good cause, the hearing officer may grant an extension of that time not to exceed an additional 14 days. Such brief shall be legibly printed or otherwise lembly duplicated: Provided, however, That carbon copies of typewritten matter shall not be filed, and, if submitted, will not be accepted. Copies shall be served on all other parties to the proceeding, and proof of such service shall be filed with the Board at the time the briefs are filed. Requests for extension of time in which to file a brief under authority of this section not addressed to the hearing officer during the hearing, shall be in writing and copies thereof shall immediately be served on each of the other parties. Requests for extension of time shall be made not later than 3 days before the date such briefs are due in Washington, D. C. No reply brief may be filed except upon special leave of the Board.

§ 102.61 Election procedure; tally of ballots; objections; certification by regional director; report on challenged ballots; report on objections; exceptions; action of the Board; hearing. Unless otherwise directed by the Board, all elections shall be conducted under the supervision of the regional director in whose region the proceeding is pending. All elections shall be by secret ballot. Whenever two or more labor organizations are included as choices in an election, either participant may, upon its prompt request to, and approval thereof by, the regional director, whose decision shall be final, have its name removed from the ballot. Any party may be represented by observers of his own selection, subject to such limitations as the regional director may prescribe. Any party and Board agents may challenge, for good cause, the eligibility of any person to participate in the election. The ballots of such challenged persons shall be impounded. Upon the conclusion of the election, the regional director shall cause to be furnished to the parties a tally of the ballots. Within 5 days after the tally of ballots has been furnished, any party may file with the regional director four copies of objections to the conduct of the election or conduct affecting the results of the election, which shall contain a short statement of the reasons therefor. Such filing must be timely whether or not the challenged ballots are sufficient in number to affect the results of the election. Copies of such objections shall immediately be served upon each of the other parties by the party filing them, and proof of service shall be made.

If no objections are filed within the time set forth above, if the challenged ballots are insufficient in number to affect the result of the election, and if no runoff election is to be held pursuant to § 102.62, the regional director shall proceed in the following manner:

(a) After an election conducted pursuant to an agreement waiving a hearing and providing for Board determination of the facts ascertained after such election, as contemplated by § 102.54 (b), and after any election in a case in which a determination of appropriate bargaining unit remains to be made by the Board, the regional director shall forthwith forward to the Board in Washington, D. C., the tally of ballots, which together with the record previously made, shall constitute the record in the case, and the Board may thereupon decide the matter forthwith upon the record, or may make other disposition of the case.

(b) After an election not conducted pursuant to an agreement contemplated by § 102.54 (b), and where no determination of the appropriate bargaining unit remains to be made by the Board, the regional director shall forthwith issue to the parties a certification of the results of the election, including certification of representatives where appropriate, with the same force and effect as if issued by the Board, and the proceeding will thereupon be closed.

If objections are filed to the conduct of the election or conduct affecting the results of the election, or if the challenged ballots are sufficient in number to affect the result of the election, the regional director shall investigate such objections, challenges, or both, and shall prepare and cause to be served upon the parties a report on challenged ballots objections, or both, including his recommendations, which report, together with the tally of the ballots, he shall forward to the Board in Washington, D. C. Within 10 days from the date of issuance of the report on challenged ballots, objections, or both, any party may file with the Board in Washington, D. C., seven copies of exceptions to such report. Immediately upon the filing of such exceptions, the party filing the same shall serve a copy thereof upon each of the other parties, and shall file a copy with the regional director. Proof of service shall be made to the Board. If no exceptions are filed to such report the Board, upon the expiration of the period for filing such exceptions, may decide the matter forthwith upon the record, or may make other dispostion of the case.

The report on challenged ballots may be consolidated with the report on objections in appropriate cases.

If exceptions are filed, either to the report on challenged ballots, objections, or both if it be a consolidated report, and it appears to the Board that such exceptions do not raise substantial and material issues with respect to the conduct or results of the election, the Board may decide the matter forthwith upon the record, or may make other disposition of the case. If it appears to the Board that such exceptions raise substantial and material factual issues the Board may direct the regional director or other agent of the Board to issue and cause to be served upon the parties, a notice of hearing on said exceptions before a hearing officer. The hearing shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of §§ 102.56, 102.57, and 102.58, insofar as applicable. Upon the close of the hearing, the agent conducting the hearing, if directed by the Board, shall prepare and cause to be served upon the parties a report resolving questions of credibility, and containing findings of fact, and recommendations to the Board, as to the disposition of the challenges or objections, or both. If it be a consolidated report. The agent conducting the hearing shall forward to the Board in Washington, D. C., the notice of hearing, motions, rulings, orders, stenographic report of the hearing stipulations, exceptions, documentary evidence, all of which, together with the objection to the conduct of the election or conduct affecting the results of the election, the report on such objections, the report on challenged ballots, and exceptions to the report on objections or to the report on challenged ballots, and the record previously made, together with his report, if any, shall constitute the record in the case. In any case in which the Board has directed that a report be prepared and served, any party may within 10 days from the date of issuance of the report on challenged ballots, objections, or both, file with the Board in Washington, D. C., seven copies of exceptions to such report. Immediately upon the filing of such exceptions, the party filing the same shall serve a copy thereof upon each of the other parties, and shall file a copy with the regional director. Proof of service shall be made to the Board. If no exceptions are filed to such report the Board, upon the expiration of the period for filing such exceptions, may decide the matter forthwith upon the record, or may make other disposition of the case. The Board shall thereupon proceed pursuant to § 102.60.

In any such case in which the Board, upon a ruling on challenged ballots, has directed the regional director to open and count such ballots and to issue a revised tally of ballots, and no objection to such revised tally is filed by any party within 3 days after the revised tally of ballots has been furnished, the regional director shall forthwith issue to the parties certification of the results of the election, including certification of representatives where appropriate, with the same force and effect as if issued by the Board. The proceeding shall thereupon be closed.

§ 102.62 Runoff election. (a) The regional director shall conduct a runoff election, without further order of the Board, when an election in which the ballot provided for not less than three choices (i. e., at least two representatives and "neither") results in no choice receiving a majority of the valid ballots cast and no objections are filed as provided in § 102.61. Only one runoff shall be held pursuant to this section.

(b) Employees who were eligible to vote in the election and who are employed in an eligible category on the date of the runoff election shall be eligible to vote in the runoff election.

(c) The ballot in the runoff election shall provide for a selection between the two choices receiving the largest and second largest number of votes.

(d) In the event the number of votes cast in an inconclusive election in which the ballot provided for a choice among two or more representatives and "neither" or "none" is equally divided among the several choices; or in the event the number of ballots cast for one choice in such election is equal to the number cast for another of the choices but less than the number cast for the third choice, the regional director shall declare the first election a nullity and shall conduct another election, providing for a selection from among the three choices afforded in the original ballot; and he shall thereafter proceed in accordance with paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section. In the event two or more choices receive the same number of ballots and another choice receives no ballots and there are no challenged ballots that would affect the results of the election, and if all eligible voters have cast valid ballots, there shall be no runoff election and the petition shall be dismissed. Only one such further election pursuant to this paragraph may be held.

(e) Upon the conclusion of the runoff election, the provisions of § 102.61 shall govern, insofar as applicable.

§ 102.63. Refusal to issue notice of hearing; appeals to Board from action of the regional director. If, after a petition has been filed, it shall appear to the regional director that no notice of hearing should issue as provided in § 102.55, the regional director may dismiss the petition, and shall so advise the petitioner in writing, accompanied by a simple statement of the procedural or other grounds. The petitioner may obtain a review of such action by filing a request therefor with the Board in Washington, D. C., and filing a copy of such request with the regional director and each of the other parties within 10 days of service of such notice of dismissal. The request shall contain a complete statement setting forth the facts and reasons upon which the request is based.

§ 102.64 Filing petition with general counsel; investigation upon motion of general counsel; transfer of petition and proceeding from region to general counsel or to another region; consolidation of proceedings in same region; severance; procedure before general counsel in cases over which he has assumed jurisdiction. Whenever the general counsel deems it necessary in order to effectuate the purposes of the act, or to avoid unnecessary costs or delay, he may permit a petition to be filed with him in Washington, D. C., or may, at any time after a petition has been filed with a regional director pursuant to § 102.52, order that such petition and any proceeding that may have been instituted with respect thereto:

(a) Be transferred to and continued before him, for the purpose of investigation or consolidation with any other proceeding which may have been instituted in a regional office or with him; or

(b) Be consolidated with any other proceeding which may have been instituted in the same region; or

(c) Be transferred to and continued in any other region, for the purpose of investigation or consolidation with any proceeding which may have been instituted in or transferred to such region; or

(d) Be severed from any other proceeding with which it may have been consolidated pursuant to this section.

The provisions of §§ 102.52 and 102.63, inclusive, shall insofar as applicable, apply to proceedings before the general counsel pursuant to this section, and the powers granted to regional directors in such provisions shall, for the purpose of this section be reserved to and exercised by the general counsel. After the transfer of any petition and any proceeding which may have been instituted in respect thereto from one region to another pursuant to this section, the provisions of this subpart shall, insofar as applicable, govern such petition and such proceeding as if the petition had originally been filed in the region to which the transfer is made.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Amdt. 4]

GCPR—CLARIFICATION OF SECURITIES EXEMPTION

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 4 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 808) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Section 14 (h) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation exempts "Sales of bonds, stocks, or other securities and evidences of indebtedness." The Office of Price Stabilization has been informed that there is some confusion as to whether or not warehouse receipts for tangible personal property are "securities" exempted under this section.

The word "securities" as used in this section has reference to evidences of debt embodied in written instruments providing for the payment of money. Warehouse receipts, on the other hand, are not evidences of debt. They are documents acknowledging the receipt by the warehouseman of specific property, usually containing the warehouseman's contract to hold the property and return the identical or equivalent property to the holder of the warehouse receipt.

The purpose of the amendment is to eliminate the confusion and make it clear that the exemption of "securities" in section 14 (h) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation does not extend to warehouse receipts and other documents which evidence ownership of personal property. The amendment does not affect the present exemption for intangibles such as corporate stocks, bonds and other evidences of indebtedness which represent monetary obligations only.

AMENDATORY PROVISION

Section 14 (h) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation is amended to read as follows:

(h) Sales of bonds, stocks and other evidences of indebtedness representing monetary obligations only.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 8]

GCPR, SR 8—Coal Exporters

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 733), this Supplementary Regulation No. 8 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 809) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Substantial changes have occurred in our coal export markets in recent years. Prior to World War II, American coal exports were limited in tonnage, and, other than shipments to Canada, were principally to South America. Immediately upon the close of World War II, it became apparent that substantial tonnages of American coals would have to be exported to Western Europe and Italy in order to assist in the rehabilitation of such areas. During the years 1946 through 1948 American coal exports to European countries represented the greatest export of American coals in the history of the industry.

The initial export of American coals to Europe was conducted under government supervision and financed by lend-lease or UNRRA. Upon the termination of this method of export, coal exports were on a commercial basis for a short period until interim aid was granted. Following interim aid, coal purchases were made by various European countries with the assistance of ECA funds.

At the commencement of commercial exports, the export regulations of the Office of Price Administration were applied. After experience under such regulations and commercial export, the Office of Price Administration, after a detailed study, established specific mark-ups for exporters of coal by Amendment 1 to its 3d Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation. This amendment became effective September 11, 1946. The amendment provided for a mark-up for both the producer and the export merchant. This mark-up applied to all types of coal, rather than limiting it to bituminous coal. The Office of Price Administration in its statement of considerations accompanying the amendment found that the functions normally required in the export of anthracite coal were the same as those for bituminous coal. The statement of considerations further found that the percentage mark-up on commercial exports as of March 31, 1946, was representative of the average percentage mark-up of coal exporters. Due to the fact that the greater part of the export tonnages over the years 1946 through 1948 were more or less regulated by government, the interim period of commercial export selected by the OPA was a representative period of uncontrolled commercial export. It appears that such average mark-up as established by OPA was reasonable and fairly representative and should be adopted and established in this interim supplementary regulation to General Ceiling Price Regulation until a more detailed study has been completed to establish a permanent regulation with respect to the export mark-ups on coal.

The interim mark-up established herein is conservative and admittedly does not reflect some of the changes in the export markets which have occurred subsequent to 1946. The producers' sale prices of both bituminous and anthracite coal have been substantially increased and railway transportation costs have also been increased. As a result the financing of an export cargo calls for greater initial costs to the exporter than in 1946. The demurrage charges as well as the demurrage risk of the exporters have also greatly increased in recent months due to car and vessel shortages. All of these additional factors will be considered in the establishment of a permanent regulation.

The interim mark-up established by this supplementary regulation does, however, relieve the exporters from the pressure which is occasioned by the freezing of export differentials by General Ceiling Price Regulation when, at the same time, coal producers' prices have been increased as reflected in Ceiling Price Regulations 3 and 4.

During 1950, coal exports overseas amounted to less than 3 million tons, the smallest annual figure since World War II. This was in spite of the fact that shipments were stimulated towards the end of that year by new demands for American coal in certain foreign countries. It is expected that the overseas movement will total about 15 million tons in 1951. Urgent coal demands by allied countries, particularly those of Western Europe, make it essential that a reasonable and efficient export market structure be established.

FINDINGS OF THE DIRECTOR OF PRICE STABILIZATION

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of Supplementary Regulation 8 to General Ceiling Price Regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to coal exporters' mark-ups during a period established by the Office of Price Administration and to relevant factors of general applicability.

In formulating this supplementary regulation the Director has consulted with representatives of the industry to the extent practicable under the circumstances and has given consideration to their recommendations.

(7) Obtains an export license (where one is required) in his own name unless a blanket license is issued to the foreign purchaser or agent of such purchaser.

Chapter IV—Wage Stabilization Board, Economic Stabilization Agency

[General Regulation 6]

GR 6—General Wage Formula

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), General Wage Stabilization Regulation 1 (16 F. R. 816), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 3 (16 F. R. 739), this General Regulation No. 6 is hereby issued.

Statement of considerations. The wage and salary policy recommendations hereinafter set forth are adopted by the Wage Stabilization Board and submitted to the Economic Stabilization Administrator for his approval under the provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950, Executive Order 10161, and General Order No. 3 and General Wage Stabilization Regulation No. 1 of the Economic Stabilization Administrator.

Congress has declared its intent, in the Defense Production Act of 1950, that price and wage stabilization shall be used to prevent inflation and to preserve the value of the national currency; to avoid dissipation of defense appropriations through excessive costs; to stabilize the cost of living and the costs of production; to eliminate and prevent profiteering, hoarding, manipulation, speculation, and other disruptive practices resulting from abnormal conditions; to protect against undue impairment of living standards; to prevent economic disturbances, labor disputes, and interference with effective mobilization of national resources; to assist in maintaining a reasonable balance between purchasing power and supply to avoid dissipation of individual savings; and to prevent a future collapse of values.

Congress has further stated its intent that the exercise of stabilization authority shall maintain and further sound working relations, including collective bargaining, between business and labor, shall be generally fair and equitable and shall provide for such adjustments as are deemed necessary to prevent or to correct hardships or inequities.

For the purpose of preparing itself for the discharge of its responsibilities, the Wage Stabilization Board heretofore distributed to representative labor and industry groups a series of questions, the answers to which would provide the Board with essential information for the development of wage stabilization policies. Thereafter, the Board conducted conferences, some of which were attended by representatives of labor and some of industry, who presented their views respecting the development of wage stabilization policies. In the formulation of the provisions hereof there has thus been consultation with industry and labor representatives, including trade association and labor union representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

There were broad changes in wages, salaries, and other compensation paid employees during 1950 and in January 1951 until the issuance of General Wage Regulation No. 1 by the Economic Stabilization Administrator. These changes followed the period of late 1949 and early 1950, when wage and salary rates had remained relatively unchanged. The consumer price index was also relatively stable in that same period. In the spring of 1950 business conditions improved, and both wages and the cost of living commenced to rise. The outbreak of the Korean war accentuated these developments. Disparities arose as between different groups of employees as a consequence of such factors as different expiration or wage reopening dates in collective bargaining agreements or other special circumstances. Disparities also developed in various industries between increases in wage and salary rates and increases in the cost of living. These disparities were frozen as a result of the issuance of General Wage Stabilization Regulation No. 1 of the Economic Stabilization Administrator. In order to deal with, and attempt to solve this time inequity, or "catching up" problem, and to facilitate the effective prosecution of the national defense effort, the Wage Stabilization Board has determined and adopted the policies set forth below. These policies are designed to correct such inequities as have arisen because of disparities between increases in wages and salaries and the increase in the cost of living since January 15, 1950, or which may subsequently arise during the period covered by this policy.

The Wage Stabilization Board recognizes that there may be further changes in the cost of living. The present policy is adopted for the period until July 1, 1951. The policy set forth herein will be fully reviewed and re-examined before the end of this period.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 6 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105.

SECTION 1. Policy. If general increases in wage and salary levels in an appropriate employee unit have been less than ten (10) percent since the base pay period, future increases in wages, salaries, and other compensation may be permitted in amounts up to but not in excess of the difference between such past increases, if any, and the permissible ten (10) percent.[1] This ten (10) percent figure shall be reviewed in the light of the April 1951 index number of the Official Consumer Price Index (revised) of the Bureau of Labor Statistics when published.

SEC. 2. Definitions under this regulation.—(a) Base pay period. The base pay period shall be the first regular payroll period for each appropriate employee unit ending on or after January 15, 1950.

(b) Appropriate employee unit. An appropriate employee unit for the measurement of changes in wage levels is a group composed of all employees in a bargaining unit, in a plant or other establishment, or in a department thereof, or in a company, or in an industry, as best adapted to preserve contractual or historical relationships.

An appropriate employee unit for the measurement of changes in salary levels is each plant or major business division of an employer, or each rectified or recognized collective bargaining unit, treating as separate groups, however, (1) those employees who qualify as "executive, administrative, professional or outside sales personnel" under the definition of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended, and (2) other salaried employees in the unit.

(c) Wage and salary levels. Wage and salary levels include time and incentive earnings, commission rates, and actual or prorated sums of any regularly paid bonuses and night shift differentials, but exclude overtime premium payments, employer contributions to or payments of insurance or welfare benefits, employer contributions to pension funds or annuities, and other like allowances.

Thus, wage levels are to be expressed as average straight time hourly earnings, including prorated night shift differentials. Salary levels may be computed on the basis of regularly scheduled weekly, bi-weekly, semi-monthly, or monthly pay periods.

(d) General increases in wages and salaries. For the purpose of calculating prior increases in wage and salary levels, general increases are defined as those increases in wage and salary rates which raised straight time earnings by one (1) percent or more in the appropriate employee unit. General increases do not include merit increases, promotions, reclassifications, length of service increases or other wage or salary adjustments of the types covered by General Regulation 5.

(e) Other compensation. Increases in other compensation to be considered for the purpose of applying the policy herein set forth are prorated changes in compensation benefits such as night shift bonuses, overtime premium rates, vacation, holiday and like allowances, pension, insurance, and health and welfare benefits paid by employers, or contributions of employers on account thereof.

(f) Proration. Proration of bonuses, commissions, incentive earnings, etc., and of other compensation, to a payroll period shall be done by allocating to said payroll period a proportionate share of the total of such payments within the appropriate employee unit over the calendar year or such shorter period of time as is representative in the case of each class of payments.

SEC. 3. Administration. Subject to subsequent administrative arrangement increases in wages, salaries and other compensation permissible under the terms of the policy set forth in section 1 above do not require the specific prior authorization of the Wage Stabilization Board: Provided, however, That no such increase shall be deemed permissible unless appropriate written reports are filed with the nearest office of the Wage and Hour Division of the United States Department of Labor within 10 days after such increases are made effective showing the essential facts and the method of calculation. These reports are subject to review and the increases on which they report are subject to revocation if they are found to exceed permissible amounts. In the case of executive, administrative and professional employees, reports shall be filed as subsequently determined by the Board.

SEC. 4. Base pay period abnormalities. Companies, including appropriate employee units thereof, having no payroll period ending on or about January 15, 1950 because they were not in operation at that time, or having plainly abnormal pay levels during that period because of seasonal peculiarities, broad changes in product mix, wide swings in employment, and the like, may apply to the Wage Stabilization Board for appropriate and supportable adjustments of the base period pay level figures against which employee compensation changes are to be measured. The Wage Stabilization Board may give consideration on application to the special problems of seasonal industries; and to unusual cases involving firms or industries in which the rates on or about January 15, 1950 were grossly out of line with their normal relationships, provided the parties had no adequate opportunity to correct such misalignment by January 25, 1951. Applications under this section may be submitted to the nearest office of the Wage and Hour Division of the United States Department of Labor on forms to be provided for that purpose.

SEC. 5. Rare and unusual cases. In rare and unusual cases where the critical needs of essential civilian or defense production require it, the Wage Stabilization Board will consider the approval or authorization of increases in wages, salaries, and other compensation greater in amount than those specified in section 1 hereof. Such cases will be limited to those situations where there are serious manpower shortages and in which other governmental agencies concerned with production and manpower problems certify to the Board that a concerted program has been undertaken to remedy the shortages and that an increase in wages, salaries or other compensation is indispensable to attract required labor to or retain it in essential civilian or defense industries or plants. Applications under this section may be submitted to the nearest office of the Wage and Hour Division of the United States Department of Labor on forms to be provided for that purpose.

SEC. 6. Further study. The Board continues to have under study, among other subjects, the question of pension and health and welfare plans.

Effective date. This regulation shall become effective upon approval by the Economic Stabilization Administrator.

Adopted by the Wage Stabilization Board. Dissenting: Labor Members Emil Rieve, Elmer E. Walker, Harry C. Bates.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

CYRUS S. CHING,
Chairman.

[1] For example, if general wage and salary increases in an appropriate unit have amounted to seven (7) percent since the base pay period, then not more than a three (3) percent increase is permissible. This three (3) percent may be applied to wages and salaries alone or it may be applied wholly or in part to other forms of compensation. The cost of increases in other forms of compensation must be deducted from the three (3) percent.

[NPA Reg. 2, as amended Feb. 27, 1951]

REG. 2—BASIC RULES OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

This regulation, as amended, is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. Consultation with industry representatives in advance of the issuance of the amendment herein mentioned has been rendered impracticable by the fact that the amendment applies to all trades and industries.

This amendment affects NPA Reg. 2 (as amended Jan. 11, 1951) as follows: It amends section 11.5 (a) thereof by deleting two sentences. It amends section 11.6 (a) thereof by omitting the last clause. It redesignates §§ 11.1 through 11.27 as sections 1 through 27; §§ 11.31 and 11.100 become sections 31 and 100, respectively. The word "part" becomes "order" throughout.

As amended February 27, 1951, Regulation 2 reads as follows:

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 100 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order states the basic rules of the priorities system to be administered by the National Production Authority in the Department of Commerce. It states what kind of orders are rated orders, how to place them and the preference status of such orders. These rules apply to all business transactions within the jurisdiction of NPA unless more specific regulations, orders or directives of the NPA state otherwise.

SEC. 2. Definitions. (a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Materials" means any raw, in process, or manufactured commodity, equipment, component, accessory, part, assembly or product of any kind.

(c) "NPA" means the National Production Authority in the Department of Commerce.

(d) "Rated order" means any purchase order, contract or other form of procurement for materials or services bearing the authorized rating and certification provided for in this order.

(e) "Assignment" of a rating. A rating is assigned when the NPA, or a Government agency that it has authorized, grants a person the right to use the rating.

(f) "Application" of a rating. A rating is applied when the person to whom it is assigned uses the rating.

(g) "Extension" of a rating. A rating is extended when it is used by the person to whom it was applied or when it is further used by another person to whom it was extended.

SEC. 3. Rating authorized. Only a single rating is authorized, to be known as a "DO rating". This rating will be identified by the prefix DO and the two digits identifying the procurement program, which must be furnished a supplier by the person using the rating. All DO rated orders will have equal preferential status as provided in this order.

SEC. 4. When ratings may be applied. (a) When a regulation, order or certificate assigns a DO rating to any person either by naming him or by describing the class of persons to which he belongs, that person may apply the DO rating to get delivery of material or the performance of certain services.

(b) No person may place rated orders for more material than he is authorized to rate even though he intends to cancel some of the orders or reduce the quantity of material ordered to the authorized amount before it is all delivered.

SEC. 5. When ratings may be extended for material. (a) When a person has received a rated order for the delivery of material, he may extend the rating to get the material which he will deliver on that order, or which will be physically incorporated in the material which he will deliver, including containers and packaging materials required to make the delivery, and including also chemicals directly used in the production of the material. If the material is to be processed, this includes the portion of it which would normally be consumed or converted into scrap or by-products in the course of processing.

(b) If a person has made delivery of material or has incorporated it into the material which he has delivered on a rated order, he may extend the rating to replace it in his inventory subject to the provisions of Reg. 1 on inventory. Whether or not the material is covered by Reg. 1 no rating may be used for any inventory replacement which would result in more than a practicable minimum working inventory, as defined in Reg. 1. Any material ordered with a rating as replacement in inventory must be substantially the same as the material which the person delivered or incorporated in the material which he delivered, except for minor variations in size, shape or design.

SEC. 6. Additional restrictions upon the use of ratings for certain materials. (a) A person who has received a rated order may not extend the rating to get material for plant improvement, expansion, or construction, or to get machine tools or other items which he will carry as capital equipment, or to get maintenance, repair or operating supplies.

(b) The ratings established by this order shall have no effect upon deliveries of items in section 31, List A. No person shall use ratings to get any of the items in section 31, List A, and no person selling such items shall require a rating as a condition of sale. Any rating purporting to be used to get any such items on a preferred basis shall be void.

SEC. 7. Use of ratings for services. (a) When a person is entitled to use a rating to get processed material, he may furnish the unprocessed material to a processor and use the same rating to get the material processed.

(b) If the NPA specifically authorizes a person to use a rating to get services, he may use it for that purpose.

(c) Except as provided in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, no person may use a rating to get services.

(d) A person to whom a rating for services, as distinct from the production or delivery of material, has been applied or extended may not extend the rating for any purpose.

SEC. 8. How to apply or extend a rating. (a) When a person applies or extends a rating, he must put the prefix DO and the two digits supplied to him, for example DO-39, on his purchase order, or on a separate piece of paper attached to the order or clearly identifying it, together with the words "Certified under NPA Reg. 2," signed as prescribed in this section. This certificate constitutes a representation to the supplier and to the NPA that the purchaser is authorized under the provisions of this order to use the rating for the delivery of the materials covered by the order.

(b) Certifications on purchase or delivery orders must be signed by the person placing the order or by a responsible individual who is duly authorized to sign for that purpose. The signature must be either by hand or in the form of a rubber stamp or other facsimile reproduction of a handwritten signature. If a facsimile signature is used, the individual who uses it must be duly authorized in writing to use it for this purpose by the person whose signature it is, and a written record of the authorization must be kept.

(c) When a rated order is placed by telegram, the rating identification and certificate must be set out in full in the telegram. It will be sufficient if the file copy of the telegram is signed in the manner required for certification by this order.

(d) On rated orders requiring shipment within seven days, the substance of the certification may be stated verbally or by telephone. However, the following rules must be complied with:

(1) The person making the statement for the buyer must be a person duly authorized to make the certification.

(2) Both the buyer and the seller must promptly make a written record of the fact that the certification was given orally and the record must be signed by the buyer in the same way as a certification.

(e) The person who places a rated order, the individual whose signature is used and the individual who approves the use of the signature, will each be considered to be making a representation to the NPA that the statements contained in the certification are true to the best of his knowledge and belief. The person receiving the certification and any other information required to be included with it, shall be entitled to rely on it as a representation of the buyer unless he knows or has reason to believe that it is false.

(f) No person shall knowingly apply or extend or purport to apply or extend a rating to any order unless he is entitled to do so. No person shall apply or extend a rating for material or services after he has received the material or after the services have been performed, and any person who receives such a rating shall not extend it.

SEC. 9. Special provisions applicable to extensions; grouping of orders. (a) No person may extend any rating to replace inventory after three months have passed from the time he could have first extended it.

(b) If the purchase requirements for filling a number of rated orders for different items bearing different rating identifications are combined in one purchase order, each applicable rating identification must be placed alongside the related item.

(c) If the purchase requirements for filling a number of rated orders for the same material but bearing different rating identifications are combined in one purchase order, the purchase order must show the amount of each material to which a particular rating identification is extended.

(d) In the case of a manufacturer of common components or shelf items or any other person who has a number of rated orders for which he cannot place orders for minimum commercially procurable quantities of materials, to fill the rated orders individually, he may place one rated order for all the materials using the identification symbol DO–99. However, the amounts so ordered may not exceed the total amount of the material required for the rated orders so combined.

SEC. 10. Rules for acceptance and rejection of rated orders. Every order bearing a rating must be accepted and filled regardless of existing contracts and orders except as provided in this section. The "existing contracts and orders" referred to include not only ordinary purchase contracts but other arrangements achieving substantially the same results, though in form they may concern the use of production facilities rather than the material produced.

(a) A person must not accept a rated order for delivery on a date which would interfere with delivery of rated orders which he has already accepted, nor if delivery of the material ordered would interfere with delivery on an order which the NPA has previously directed him to fill.

(b) If a person when receiving a rated order bearing a specific delivery date does not expect to be able to fill it by the time requested, he must not accept it for delivery at that time. He must either (1) reject the order, stating when he could fill it, or (2) accept it for delivery on the earliest date he expects to be able to deliver, informing the customer of that date. He may adopt either of these two courses, depending on his understanding of which his customer would prefer. He may not reject a rated order just because he expects to receive other rated orders in the future.

(c) A supplier does not have to accept a rated order in any of the following cases, but there must be no discrimination in such cases against rated orders or between rated orders of different customers:

(1) If the person seeking to place the order is unwilling or unable to meet regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment. When a person who has a rated order asks a supplier to quote his regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment, the supplier must do so, except that if this would require detailed engineering or accounting work, he may give his best estimate without such work and say that it is not binding. However, the supplier need not quote if he is not required to accept the rated order and advises the person seeking the quotation of the reason for his refusal.

(2) If the order is for the manufacture of a product or the performance of a service of a kind which the person to whom the order is offered has not usually made or performed, and in addition, if either (i) he cannot fill the order without substantially altering or adding to his facilities or (ii) the order can readily be performed by someone else who has usually accepted and performed such orders.

(3) If an order for material is offered to a person who produces or acquires it for his own use only, and he has not filled any orders for that material within the past two years. If he has filled any orders within that period, but the rated order would take more than the excess over his own needs, he may reject the order for any amount over the excess.

(4) If filling the order would stop or interrupt the supplier's operations during the next 60 days in a way which would cause a substantial loss of total production or a substantial delay in operations.

(d) A manufacturer or processor need not accept a rated order from another person who manufactures or processes the same product, unless specifically directed to do so by the NPA.

(e) Any person who refuses to accept a rated order shall, upon written request of the person placing the order, promptly give his reasons in writing for his refusal.

SEC. 11. Report to NPA of improperly rejected orders. When a rated order is rejected in violation of this order, a report of the relevant facts may be filed with the NPA, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: Reg. 2. The NPA will take such action as it considers appropriate after requiring an explanation from the person rejecting the order.

SEC. 12. Cancellation of ratings. If a rating which has been used by a person is revoked he must immediately, in the case of each order to which he has applied such rating, either cancel the order or inform his supplier that it is no longer to be treated as a rated order. If any person receives notice from his customer or otherwise that the customer's order is no longer a rated order or that the customer's order is cancelled, he must immediately withdraw any extensions of that rating which he has made to any purchase order placed by him.

SEC. 13. Sequence of filling rated orders. (a) Every person who has rated orders on hand must schedule his operations, if possible, so as to fill each rated order by the required delivery or performance date. If this is not possible, for any reason, he must give precedence to all rated orders over unrated orders.

(b) As between conflicting rated orders, precedence must be given to the order which was received first with the rating: Provided, That orders received prior to October 3, 1950, and which receive ratings prior to October 31, 1950, take precedence as of the dates on which orders were first placed. As between conflicting rated orders received on the same date, precedence must be given to the order which has the earliest required delivery or performance date.

(c) A rated order calling for earlier delivery than a rated order already accepted must not be allowed to interfere with scheduled delivery on the first order, but if both deliveries can be made on schedule it is not necessary to produce or make delivery on the first customer's order ahead of the second.

(d) In the usual case, the date on which specifications have been furnished to the manufacturer in sufficient detail to enable him to put the product into production is to be considered the date on which the rated order is received.

(e) If a rated order or a rating applicable to an order is cancelled when the supplier has material in production to fill it, he need not immediately stop processing in order to put other rated orders into production. He may continue to process the material which he had put into production for the cancelled order to a stage of completion which will avoid a substantial loss of total production, but he may not incorporate any material which he needs to fill any rated orders on hand. He may not, however, delay putting other rated orders into production for more than 15 days.

SEC. 14. Changes in customers' orders. (a) The general rule is that any change in a customer's rated order constitutes a cancellation of the order and must be considered as a new order received on the date of the change, if the change will require the manufacturer to interfere with his production. For example:

(1) A change in shipping destination does not constitute the placing of a new order.

(2) An increase in the total amount ordered is a new order to the extent of the increase unless it can be filled with only a negligible interference with the filling of later rated orders.

(3) A change in the date of the delivery, whether advanced or deferred, when made by the customer, is a new rated order if it interferes with production or delays delivery on another rated order.

(4) A reduction in the total amount ordered will presumably not require a change in the manufacturer's schedule and will not constitute a new rated order. If the quantity is reduced below a minimum production quantity, the manufacturer may insist on the delivery of not less than a minimum production quantity. If the customer is not willing to order that amount, the manufacturer may reject the order. The manufacturer may not discriminate between customers in requiring delivery of minimum production amounts.

(5) When the customer directs the manufacturer to hold or suspend production without specifying a new delivery date, the rated order must be considered cancelled. If requested to do so within ten days after receiving such an instruction, the manufacturer must reinstate the order as nearly as possible to its former place in his proposed schedule of delivery as long as the reinstatement does not cause loss of production or delay in the scheduled deliveries of other rated orders. Any request for reinstatement made after ten days shall be treated as the placing of a new rated order.

(6) Where minor variations in size, design, capacity, etc., are requested by the customer and can be arranged by the manufacturer without interfering with his production, such changes do not constitute a new rated order.

(b) Where a change in an order constitutes a new rated order, the conditions existing at the time the change is received govern the acceptance of the rated order and its sequence in delivery under the rules of this order.

SEC. 15. Delivery or performance dates. (a) Every rated order must specify delivery or performance on a particular date or dates or during a particular month, which, in no case, may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. Any order which fails to comply with this requirement shall not be treated as a rated order. The words "immediately" or "as soon as possible" or other words to that effect do not meet the requirements of this paragraph.

(b) The required delivery or performance date, for purposes of determining the sequence of deliveries or performance pursuant to section 13, shall be the date on which delivery or performance is actually required. The person with whom the rated order is placed may assume that the required delivery or performance date is the date specified in the order or contract unless he knows either (1) that the date so specified was earlier than required at the time the order was placed, or (2) that delivery or performance by the date originally specified is no longer required by reason of any change of circumstances. A delay in the scheduled receipt of any other material which the person placing the order requires prior to or concurrently with the material ordered, shall be deemed a change of circumstances.

(c) If, after accepting a rated order which specifies the time of delivery, the person with whom it is placed finds that he cannot fill it approximately on time, he must promptly notify the customer, telling him when he expects to be able to fill the order.

SEC. 16. Relation of rating and directives. Special directives or authorizations issued by NPA take precedence over rated orders previously or subsequently received, unless a contrary instruction appears on the directive or authorization.

SEC. 17. Use or disposition of material acquired under this order. (a) Any person who gets material with a rating or through a specific authorization or a directive of the NPA must, if possible, use or dispose of it (or of the product into which it has been incorporated) for the purpose for which the assistance was given. Physical segregation is not required as long as the restrictions applicable to any specific lot of material or product are observed with respect to an equivalent amount of the same material or product.

(b) The restriction in paragraph (a) of this section does not apply when a material, or a product into which it has been incorporated, can no longer be used for the purpose for which the priority assistance was given, for example, when the assistance was given to fill a particular order and the material or product does not meet the customer's specifications or the contract order is cancelled. In such cases the rules on further use or disposition in paragraph (c) of this section must be observed.

(c) The holder of a material or product subject to paragraph (b) of this section may sell it as long as he complies with all requirements of other applicable section of this order and of other orders and regulations of the NPA, or he may use it himself in any manner or for any purpose as long as he complies with such requirements.

SEC. 18. Delivery for unlawful purposes prohibited. No person shall deliver any material which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted, redelivered, held or used in violation of any order or regulation of the NPA.

SEC. 19. Intra-company deliveries. The provisions of this order apply not only to deliveries to other persons, including affiliates, and subsidiaries, but also to deliveries from one branch, division or section of a single enterprise to another branch, division or section of the same or any other enterprise under common ownership or control.

SEC. 20. Inventory restrictions on materials acquired with a rating. The inventory restrictions described in NPA Reg. 1 apply to all listed materials acquired with ratings or other priorities assistance.

SEC. 21. Scope of regulations and orders. (a) All regulations and orders of the NPA (including directions, directives and other instructions) apply to all subsequent transactions even though they are covered by contracts previously entered into. Regulations and orders apply to transactions in the territories or insular possessions of the United States unless the regulation or order specifically states that it is limited to the continental United States or to the 48 States and the District of Columbia. However, restrictions of NPA orders or regulations on the use of material or on the amount of inventory shall not apply when the material is used or the inventory is held directly by the Department of Defense outside the 48 States and the District of Columbia, unless otherwise specifically provided.

(b) All orders and regulations of the NPA which control the sale, transfer or delivery of any material, product or equipment, apply to sales made by any person, whether for his own account or for the account of others, and all restrictions upon accepting delivery apply to acceptance of delivery at any type of sale, including sales made by auctioneers, receivers, trustees in bankruptcy, and other cases where the assets of a business are being liquidated.

SEC. 22. Defense against claims for damages. No person shall be held liable for damages or penalties for any default under any contract or order which shall result directly or indirectly from compliance with any regulation or order of the NPA (including any direction, directive or other instruction) notwithstanding that any such regulation or order shall thereafter be declared by judicial or other competent authority to be invalid.

SEC. 23. Records. Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alter-tion of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

SEC. 24. Audit and inspection. All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the NPA.

SEC. 25. Reports. Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act.

SEC. 26. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or any other regulation or order of the NPA, or furnishes false information or conceals any material fact in the course of operation under any such regulation or order, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

SEC. 27. Adjustments and exceptions. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file an application for an adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an unreasonable hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense.

SEC. 31. List A. Allocation and distribution of the following items is subject to regulation by other Government agencies and these items are therefore not subject to ratings issued by or under authority of NPA. However, producers of such items are subject to NPA regulations with respect to other materials and products used by them:

Electric power.[1]
Farm equipment.[2]
Fertilizer, commercial.[2]
Food.[2]
Fuels, solid.[1]
Gas.[1]
Petroleum.[1]

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,
[SEAL] MANLY FLEISCHMANN,
Administrator.

INTERPRETATION NO. 1

SEC. 100. Certain containers, packaging and chemicals. (a) The authority to apply ratings under the priorities system established by this order (NPA Reg. 2) to direct contracts and purchase orders for certain purposes has been delegated, subject to stated limitations, to the Secretary of Defense and the Atomic Energy Commission (NPA Dels. 1 and 2). However, this order (Reg. 2) does not apply to the items specified in section 31 List A, including petroleum and food. The Secretary of Defense and the Atomic Energy Commission may not therefore, apply a rating to a purchase order for petroleum or food.

(b) In addition, the Secretary of Defense and the Atomic Energy Commission have been authorized by the same delegations to assign the right to apply ratings to persons placing orders for materials to be delivered to the Department of Defense and to the Commission, respectively. The "Assignment" of a rating is defined by section 2 (e) of Reg. 2 as follows:

> A rating is assigned when the NPA, or a Government agency that it has authorized, grants a person the right to use the rating.

(c) In view of the Delegations of Authority mentioned and of the provisions of this order (Reg. 2), the Secretary of Defense and the Atomic Energy Commission, and their respective authorized representatives, may assign to their suppliers of petroleum and food the right to apply ratings to get the drums, cans and other containers and packaging required for the delivery of the petroleum and food, and to get chemicals required for use (i) directly in the production of the petroleum and food, or (ii) in processing the petroleum and food and which will be consumed or converted into by-products in the course of the processing. These ratings may not be used to get containers, packaging or chemicals, in excess of the minimum quantities required to fill such orders for petroleum and food.

(1) Illustration 1. The Department of the Navy places an order with the X Refining Company for 500 drums of gasoline. This is not a rated order. An authorized Navy representative may assign to the X Company the right to apply a rating to get the drums required for delivery of the 500 drums of gasoline.

(2) Illustration 2. The Department of the Army places an order with the X Company for 100 bbls. of flour. This is not a rated order. An authorized Army representative may assign to the X Company the right to apply a rating to get the packages or containers required for the delivery of the 100 bbls. of flour.

(3) Illustration 3. The Department of the Air Force places an order with the Z Refining Company for 100 cans of lubricating oil. This is not a rated order. The Z Company requires two types of chemicals to be used in filling this order: (i) A chemical to be directly used in the production of the oil, and (ii) a chemical that will be consumed or converted into by-products in the course of processing the oil. An authorized representative of the Air Force may assign to the Z Company the right to apply a rating to get the chemicals so required.

REG. 4—MAINTENANCE, REPAIR AND OPERATING SUPPLIES AND MINOR CAPITAL ADDITIONS

This regulation is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this regulation, there has been consultation with a number of industry representatives including trade association representatives, but it has been impracticable to consult with all affected industries because the regulation applies to all trades and industries.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 12 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This regulation provides a uniform procedure by which any business enterprise, Government agency, or public or private institution may use a DO rating (identified by the symbol "DO-97") to obtain limited quantities of maintenance, repair and operating supplies (hereinafter collectively referred to as "MRO") as well as minor capital additions. The regulation does not limit the quantity of MRO or capital additions that a person may obtain without using this DO rating, except that, if he makes any use of the rating in any particular calendar quarter, his total acquisition of MRO (rated and unrated) for such quarter becomes subject to the limitations of the regulation. The rating may not be used to secure materials for personal or household use.

SEC. 2. Definitions. For purposes of this regulation:

(a) "Person" means any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or any other organized group and includes specifically any business enterprise, Government agency, or institution. Where such a "person" has more than one department, branch, plant, or other unit which maintains separate MRO records, each shall be treated as a separate "person" hereunder.

(b) "Business enterprise" means lawful activity conducted for profit in the United States (including its territories and possessions).

(c) "Government agency" means the United States, its territories and possessions, any of the 48 States or the District of Columbia, any political subdivision thereof, and any agency of any of the foregoing which is not a business enterprise.

(d) "Institution" means any lawful organization, public or private, within the United States (including its territories and possessions) which is neither a business enterprise nor a Government agency, and includes, more specifically, institutions such as schools, libraries, hospitals, churches, clubs, and welfare establishments.

(e) "Maintenance" means the minimum upkeep necessary to continue any plant, facility, or equipment in sound working condition, and "repair" means the restoration of any plant, facility, or equipment to sound working condition when it has been rendered unsafe or unfit for service by wear and tear, damage, failure of parts, or the like. Neither "maintenance" nor "repair" includes the improvement of any plant, facility, or equipment by replacing material which is in sound working condition with material of a new or different kind, quality, or design.

(f) "Operating supplies" means, in the case of a business enterprise, any materials which are normally carried as operating supplies according to established accounting practice, and also includes items (such as hand tools) purchased by an employer for sale to his employees for use only in his business and under circumstances where they would constitute operating supplies according to established accounting practice if issued to his employees without charge. In the case of a Government agency or an institution, however, "operating supplies" means any materials which are essential for conducting any activity or rendering any service, provided such materials do not constitute capital equipment according to established accounting practice but are consumed in the course of operation. Materials incorporated in a product ordinarily may not be treated by the producer as operating supplies but may be so treated where they are normally chargeable as an operating expense according to established accounting practice.

(g) "Minor capital additions" means any improvement or addition carried as capital according to established accounting practice where the total cost of materials used does not exceed $750 for any one complete capital addition. The term "one complete capital addition" includes all items entering into the improvement or addition as part of a single project or plan whether or not installed or completed at the same time, and the cost of all such items is to be included in figuring the total cost of the addition regardless of whether they are acquired with or without the use of a rating. No capital addition shall be subdivided for the purpose of bringing it or any part of it within the foregoing definitions. Where the capital addition requires construction, authorization to construct must be obtained wherever so required by any applicable order of the NPA.

(h) "MRO" means maintenance, repair and operating supplies but does not include minor capital additions. The latter term is specifically used in this regulation wherever the meaning so requires. Products used for "MRO" (or materials required for incorporation in such products) shall not be deemed "MRO" as to the producer of such products (except as provided in paragraph (f) of this section) even though he sells them for use by others as "MRO." However, when he receives rated orders for such products, he may extend the rating to get materials to be incorporated in the products. Materials or products sold by a distributor thereof for use by others as "MRO" shall not be deemed "MRO" as to such distributor but, when he receives rated orders for them, he may extend the rating to get them.

SEC. 3. DO rating assigned. The NPA hereby assigns to every business enterprise, Government agency, and institution the right to apply a DO rating to obtain MRO and minor capital additions, subject to the quantity restrictions specified in section 5. Such DO rating shall be applied by placing on the order for MRO or minor capital additions, or on a separate piece of paper attached to the order or clearly identifying it, the symbol "DO-97" together with the words "Certified under NPA Regulation 4." Such certification shall be signed as prescribed in section 8 of NPA Reg. 2. This certification shall constitute a representation to the supplier and to the NPA that the person making it is authorized under the provisions of this regulation to use the rating to obtain the materials covered by the order.

SEC. 4. Quarterly MRO quotas. Every person making any use of the DO-97 rating herein assigned must establish his quarterly MRO quotas in accordance with this section. In figuring such quotas, he may include all expenditures for MRO in the applicable 1950 base periods, but not expenditures for minor capital additions.

(a) Standard quota. A person's standard quarterly MRO quota, to be used unless he elects to use the seasonal quota permitted by paragraph (b) of this section, is one-fourth of the amount he spent for MRO in the calendar year 1950 (or, if he operated on a fiscal year basis, in his fiscal year ending nearest to December 31, 1950). An election to use either the standard quota or the seasonal quota may not afterward be changed without prior written authorization of the NPA.

(b) Seasonal quota. A person may, if he so elects, take as his quarterly MRO quotas the amounts he spent for MRO in the corresponding quarters of the calendar year 1950 (or, if he operated on a fiscal year basis, in the corresponding quarters of his fiscal year ending nearest to December 31, 1950).

(c) Quotas where 1950 base inapplicable. A person not in operation throughout the year 1950 (calendar or fiscal) shall establish and report his quarterly MRO quotas as follows:

(1) Partial operation in 1950. A person who was in operation during a part of the year 1950 (calendar or fiscal) shall compute the amount he would have spent for MRO in that year, had he continued throughout the year the same rate of expenditure for MRO as during that part of the year when he was in operation, making such reasonable corrections as necessary to compensate for seasonal or other exceptional characteristics of the period of actual operation, so that the yearly amount so computed will be fairly representative of the year as a whole. His standard quarterly MRO quota shall be one-fourth of the amount so computed. If he elects to use seasonal quotas, he may apportion the amount so computed into four seasonal quarterly MRO quotas, in accordance with the seasonal demands of the activity in which he is engaged.

(2) No operation in 1950. If a person was not in operation in any part of the year 1950 (calendar or fiscal), his quarterly MRO quota (standard or seasonal) shall be the minimum amount of MRO which he determines to be reasonably necessary for his operation, but not in excess of $5,000 per quarter. If such quota is insufficient, an application for an increased quota may be made as provided in section 10.

(3) Notice to NPA. Any person who establishes a quarterly MRO quota in excess of $1,000 under the provisions of subparagraphs (1) or (2) of this paragraph must, within 30 days after his first use of a DO-97 rating pursuant thereto, notify the NPA in writing of the quota he has established, the base period he has used, the method by which he has figured the quota, and any corrections he has made for seasonal or other factors.

(d) Future use of increased quotas. If a person's quarterly MRO quota is increased by specific authorization of the NPA, he may continue to operate with the increased quota as his standard quota unless the increase is granted on a temporary or seasonal basis or is otherwise restricted by the terms of the authorization. An increased quarterly MRO quota granted as a seasonal quota may be used only in the corresponding quarter of subsequent years.

(e) Increases not retroactive. An increase in quota will not be granted for any period prior to the filing of the application and will not have the effect of retroactively authorizing receipt of MRO or minor capital additions previously received in violation of this regulation.

SEC. 5. Quantity restrictions. (a) Charges against quota. Every person who, during any calendar quarter, makes any use of the DO–97 rating assigned by this regulation, shall charge against his MRO quota for that quarter:

(1) All MRO material ordered for delivery during the quarter, whether or not obtained by use of the DO–97 rating, and

(2) All material for minor capital additions ordered for delivery during the quarter, if (but only if) obtained by use of the DO–97 rating.

(If, instead of computing his charges against his quarterly MRO quota on the basis of orders calling for delivery during a quarter, a person prefers to compute such charges on the basis of actual receipts of MRO during the quarter, he may do so. However, he cannot use one method for a part of his MRO and the other method for the remainder in any one quarter.)

(b) Excess of quota prohibited. No person shall use the DO–97 rating assigned by this regulation to get anything except material needed for MRO or minor capital additions nor shall any person who, during any calendar quarter, makes any use of the rating so assigned, order for delivery (or, if he is operating on the basis of receipts, he shall not receive) during such quarter a quantity of material chargeable against his quarterly MRO quota which exceeds the amount of such quota (nor, during the first month of such quarter, a quantity of such material exceeding 40 percent of such quarterly quota): Provided, however, That the quantity restrictions of this section shall not apply in any calendar quarter to any person whose aggregate charges against his MRO quota for that quarter do not exceed $1,000.

SEC. 6. Materials obtained for another's benefit—(a) Materials supplied by service trades. Any business enterprise (such as a service repair shop) engaged in doing maintenance or repair work or installing minor capital additions for any other person (as defined in section 2) may use the DO–97 rating to obtain material therefor to the same extent that such person would be entitled to use it if he were doing the work himself. The cost of materials so obtained shall be charged to the MRO quota of the person for whom the work is done.

(b) Materials for operators under government franchise. Any person (such as the operator of a toll bridge or a contract garbage collector) who, pursuant to a franchise from or contract with any Government agency, performs any service for such agency, may use the DO–97 rating to obtain MRO or minor capital additions to the same extent that such agency would be entitled to use it if the agency performed such service itself. Such service shall, for purposes of computing the quantity restrictions under section 5, be treated as if performed by a separate unit of such agency, and the cost of the materials so obtained shall be charged against the quota of such unit.

(c) A person who is obligated to maintain, repair, or operate any plant, facilities, or equipment, under the terms of any lease or other agreement for the use of such property by another person, may use the DO–97 rating to obtain materials needed for such purposes. Expenditures for such materials shall be charged to the MRO quota of the person thus using the DO rating except that, if his purchase is made on a reimbursable basis for the account of the person using the property, the latter's MRO quota shall be charged.

SEC. 7. Use of material. If a person has acquired material for MRO or minor capital additions by use of the DO–97 rating and then finds that he has another use for it, he may use the material for such other purpose if he could have used any DO rating to acquire the material for such other purpose. However, if he uses the material for another rated purpose, he may not replace it in inventory by the use of the DO–97 rating assigned by this regulation. He may replace such material in inventory only by using the DO rating under which he might have obtained the material for the purpose to which it was devoted. If he uses material acquired under this regulation for another rated use, his records must be adequate to show that his purchases of material are substantially proportionate to his authorized rated uses.

SEC. 8. Relation to other regulations. (a) Rules governing use of rating. This regulation supplements NPA Reg. 2, which sets forth the basic rules of the priorities system, and the provisions of that regulation govern the use of the DO–97 rating herein assigned.

(b) Inventory limitations. Nothing in this regulation shall be deemed to authorize any person to order or receive any material if acceptance thereof would increase his inventory above a practicable working minimum as provided in NPA Reg. 1 or the limit fixed in any other applicable regulation or order of the NPA.

(c) Delegations to Government agencies. This regulation does not revoke or prevent the use of any authority delegated by NPA to any other Government agency whereby such agency may use ratings other than DO–97 for direct procurement of its own requirements of MRO or minor capital additions.

(d) Other regulations and orders. Nothing in the regulation shall be construed to relieve any person from the obligation of complying with such limitations on acquisition or use of materials or such other provisions as may be contained in any applicable regulation or order of the NPA or with any order of any other competent authority.

SEC. 9. Records and reports. (a) Records to be kept. Each person who makes any use of the rating assigned by this regulation shall make and preserve, for so long as this or any successor regulation remains in effect and for 2 years thereafter, accurate and complete records showing what his quarterly MRO quotas are, how he computed them, the factual justification for them and for corrections or revisions thereof, any elections made as to the use of seasonal quotas, methods of figuring quotas and charges against them, or other options exercised, all materials ordered or received for use as MRO or minor capital additions whether rated or not, and all other relevant data, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this regulation have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records disclose the above data and supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) Inspection and audit. All records required by this regulation shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the NPA.

(c) Other records and reports. Persons subject to this regulation shall make such further records and submit such further reports to the NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942. (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F.)

SEC. 10. Adjustments and exceptions. Any person affected by any provision of this regulation may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that the MRO quotas provided in section 4 are insufficient for his requirements, or that a specified provision otherwise works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this regulation, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be submitted in writing and in triplicate, shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor. More particularly, where the relief sought is an increase of MRO quota, the applicant shall fully describe the nature of his business or other activity, indicating any seasonal or other unusual features, products made or distributed, or services or other activities performed, the quarterly volume of such business or other activity since January 1, 1950, etc.; state the amount spent for MRO in each quarter since January 1, 1950; specify the amount of increase in quota requested; and set forth in detail the facts and circumstances allegedly justifying such an increase.

SEC. 11. Communications. All communications concerning this regulation shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: Reg. 4.

SEC. 12. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this regulation or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this regulation is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This regulation shall take effect on February 27, 1951.

REG. 4—MAINTENANCE, REPAIR AND OPERATING SUPPLIES AND MINOR CAPITAL ADDITIONS

DIR. 1.—TRANSITIONAL PROVISIONS

This Direction 1 to NPA Reg. 4 is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this direction, there has been consultation with a number of industry representatives including trade association representatives, but it has been impracticable to consult with all affected industries because the direction applies to all trades and industries.

Sec.
1. What this direction does.
2. Quota for remainder of quarter.
3. Special adjustment where quota inadequate.
4. Rating outstanding non-rated orders.
5. Re-rating outstanding orders not required.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 5 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this direction does. NPA Reg. 4 provides for the use of DO ratings to get MRO and minor capital additions. This direction provides for the transition to operation under Reg. 4 and particularly for operation during that portion of the first calendar quarter of 1951 which remains after Reg. 4 takes effect (February 27, 1951).

SEC. 2. Quota for remainder of quarter. A person must compute his MRO quota for the first calendar quarter of 1951 as provided in Reg. 4. However, he need not charge against that quota any MRO or minor capital additions ordered for delivery (or received, if he operates on the basis of receipts) prior to the effective date of Reg. 4. Instead, he may take one-half of such quota and consider that as his remaining MRO balance available for use until April 1, 1951.

SEC. 3. Special adjustment where quota inadequate. A person whose quarterly MRO quota is too small to provide him with MRO and minor capital additions needed for performance of DO rated orders which he holds may, upon filing an application for an increased quota under section 10 of Reg. 4, consider his application as approved by NPA (unless he is advised to the contrary) to the extent that it calls for no larger MRO quota than in fact needed for performance of DO rated business. He may accordingly take one half of such requested quota as the balance remaining available for use prior to April 1, 1951.

SEC. 4. Rating outstanding non-rated orders. A person who, on the effective date of Reg. 4, has outstanding non-rated orders for MRO or minor capital additions which he would be entitled to rate under Reg. 4, or who thereafter places such orders without rating them, may nevertheless apply the DO–97 rating to them at any time while they remain outstanding. If he so rates them prior to March 15, 1951, such ratings and all DO–97 ratings applied to new MRO orders prior to March 15, 1951, shall take effect as of March 15, 1951. All ratings applied on or after March 15, 1951, shall take effect only as of the dates when applied.

SEC. 5. Re-rating outstanding orders not required. A person who has placed DO rated orders pursuant to section 5 of NPA Reg. 2, as amended January 11, 1951, for jigs, dies, tools, or fixtures used directly in the production of rated orders, need not re-rate such outstanding rated orders by applying the DO–97 rating to them regardless of their delivery dates. He need not cancel such outstanding rated orders, even if they exceed his MRO quota for one or more quarters, but in the latter event they will exhaust his quota so that no other MRO or minor capital additions chargeable against it may be obtained in such quarter or quarters without specific authorization from NPA.

This direction shall take effect on February 27, 1951.

TITLE 46—SHIPPING

Chapter I—Coast Guard, Department of the Treasury

Subchapter O—Regulations Applicable To Certain Vessels During Emergency

[CGFR 51–10]

PART 154—WAIVERS OF NAVIGATION AND VESSEL INSPECTION LAWS AND REGULATIONS[1]

PROCEDURES FOR EFFECTING INDIVIDUAL WAIVERS

The purpose for the following waiver order is to provide procedures for effecting individual waivers of navigation and vessel inspection laws and regulations administered by the Coast Guard to the extent and in the manner and upon such terms and conditions as considered necessary in the interest of national defense. This waiver order is designated as 46 CFR 154.01, as well as 33 CFR 19.01. Because of the urgency of providing waiver authority in the interest of national defense, it is found that compliance with the notice of proposed rule making, public rule making procedure thereon, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and contrary to the public interest.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by the Acting Secretary of the Treasury in his order CGFR 51–1, dated January 23, 1951, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated January 26, 1951 (16 F. R. 731), the following general waiver order is prescribed and shall become effective on and after the date of publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER:

Part 154 is amended by adding a new section 154.01, reading as follows:

§ 154.01 Procedures for effecting individual waivers of navigation and vessel inspection laws and regulations. (a) It is hereby found necessary in the interest of national defense to waive compliance with the navigation and vessel inspection laws administered by the Coast Guard, as well as the regulations issued thereunder and published in 33 CFR Chapter I or in this chapter, to the extent and in the manner and upon the terms and conditions as set forth in this section.

(b) An application requesting that a waiver be made effective with respect to a particular vessel may be made by any authorized representative of an agency of the United States Government or any other interested person (including the master, agent, or owner of the vessel involved). Except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, the application shall be in writing. The application shall be delivered to the Coast Guard District Commander or to his designated representative at the port or place where the vessel is located. In the case of a vessel in any port or place of the Canal Zone or in any foreign port or place, the application shall be made to the designated representative of the Commandant at such port or place, or if the Coast

[1] This is also codified in 33 CFR Part 19.

Guard has not established facilities in such port or place, to the nearest designated representative of the Commandant at a port or place where such facilities have been established. Every application shall contain a statement of the particular provisions of law with respect to which waiver of compliance is requested, a certification that the waiver of compliance with such laws with respect to the vessel involved is necessary in the interest of national defense and, an outline of the facts upon which such certification is based. The Coast Guard District Commander (or his designated representative or the designated representative of the Commandant, as the case may be) shall promptly examine every application for the purpose of determining whether the necessity for prompt action is such as to require that the waiver be made effective by him without reference to the Commandant. In any case in which it appears to the Coast Guard officer concerned that reference of the application to the Commandant for action would not delay the sailing of the vessel or otherwise be contrary to the interest of national defense, the application shall be so referred. In all other cases such Coast Guard officer shall give immediate consideration to the application and if he reaches the conclusion that the urgency of the situation outweighs the marine hazard involved, then such waiver shall be made effective in regard to such vessel to the extent and under the circumstances specified by him.

(c) The Coast Guard officer making such a waiver effective pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section shall immediately prepare, in triplicate, an order setting forth the name of the vessel involved, the laws (also regulations, if any) with respect to which the waiver is effective, the extent to which compliance with such laws (also regulations, if any) is waived, and the period for which the waiver shall be effective. If practicable, one copy of this order shall be delivered to the master of the vessel involved before such vessel sails. In any case where the order is not delivered to the master, it shall be delivered to the owner, operator, or agent of the vessel without delay. One copy of the order shall be transmitted to the Commandant and the remaining copy kept on file.

(d) In any case of extreme urgency the application for a waiver may be made orally and if the Coast Guard District Commander (or his designated representative or the designated representative of the Commandant, as the case may be) reaches the conclusion referred to in paragraph (b) of this section, the waiver shall be made effective without further delay, subject to the condition that the application be reduced to writing and delivered within such period after the date of the oral request as the Coast Guard officer making the waiver effective shall specify in the order.

(e) No penalty shall be imposed because of failure to comply with any provision of law (or regulation, if any), the waiver of which has been made effective pursuant to the requirements in this section.

(Order CGFR 51-1, dated January 23, 1951, of Acting Secretary of the Treasury, 16 F. R. 731. Interpret or apply Pub. Law 891, 81st Cong., 2d Sess., approved Dec. 27, 1950)

(Pub. Law 891, 81st Cong.)

Dated: February 21, 1951.

FLATHEAD INDIAN IRRIGATION PROJECT, MONTANA

ORDER FIXING OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE CHARGES

FEBRUARY 19, 1951.

Pursuant to section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act of June 11, 1946 (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 60 Stat. 238), and authority contained in the acts of Congress approved August 1, 1914; May 18, 1916; and March 7, 1928 (38 Stat. 583, 25 U. S. C. 385; 39 Stat. 1942; and 45 Stat. 210, 25 U. S. C. 367), and by virtue of authority delegated by the Secretary of the Interior to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs August 28, 1946, and by virtue of authority delegated by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs to the Regional Director September 10, 1946 (11 F. R. 10267), notice is hereby given of intention to modify §§ 130.16 and 130.17 of Title 25, Code of Federal Regulations, dealing with irrigable lands of the Flathead Indian Irrigation Project not subject to the jurisdiction of the several irrigation districts as follows:

Charges applicable to all irrigable lands in the Flathead Indian Irrigation Project but which are not included in the various irrigation district organizations.

§ 130.16 Charges, Jocko Division. An annual minimum charge of $2.19 per acre shall be made against all assessable irrigable lands, not included in the Jocko Valley Irrigation District within the Jocko Division, to which water can be delivered regardless of whether water is used.

The minimum charge when paid shall be credited on the delivery of water at the following acre-foot rates:

(a) For assessable irrigable lands receiving water from the Lower Jocko and Revais Creek laterals, water will be delivered in amounts equal to one acre-foot per acre for the entire assessable area of the farm unit, allotment, or tract, at the rate of one dollar ($1.00) per acre foot, and additional water will be delivered at the rate of fifty cents (50¢) per acre-foot.

(b) For assessable irrigable lands in the Upper Jocko area receiving water from Finley, East Finley, Agency, and Big Knife Creeks, water will be delivered at the rate of seventy-five cents (75¢) per acre-foot at any time during the irrigation season.

(c) For assessable irrigable lands in the Upper Jocko area receiving water from the Jocko River through the Jocko K lateral system, water will be delivered at the rate of fifty cents (50¢) per acre-foot at any time during the irrigation season.

§ 130.17 Charges, Mission Valley and Camas Divisions. (a) A minimum charge of $2.09 per acre shall be made against all assessable irrigable lands, not included in any irrigation district within the Mission Valley Division, to which water can be delivered regardless of whether water is used.

(b) A minimum charge of $2.27 per acre shall be made against all assessable irrigable lands, not included in any irrigation district within the Camas Division, to which water can be delivered regardless of whether water is used.

(c) The payment of the minimum charges, in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, shall entitle the farm unit, allotment or tract of land to receive one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) acre-feet of water per assessable irrigable acre or, in cases of shortage, the proportionate per acre share of the available water supply. For water delivered in excess of one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) acre-feet per assessable irrigable acre there shall be an additional charge of one dollar ($1.00) per acre-foot.

The foregoing proposed amendments of §§ 130.16 and 130.17 of the non-district operation and maintenance assessment rate order for the season 1950 are to become effective for the irrigation season of 1951 and continue in effect thereafter until further notice. CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR, Part 205]

[Draft Release No. 48]

TEMPORARY SUSPENSION OF SERVICE BY LOCAL AREA CARRIERS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that the Board has under consideration the amendment of Part 205 of the Economic Regulations as hereinafter set forth.

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rules by submitting such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted, in triplicate, to the Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. C. All communications received by March 30, 1951, will be considered by the Board before taking further action on the proposed rule. Copies of such communications will be available after April 2, 1951, for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

By petition filed with the Board November 29, 1950, Chicago and Southern Airlines, Inc., seeks amendment of Parts 205 and 290 to require holders of certificates of public convenience and necessity for local and feeder service to serve notice of requested changes in service pattern, applications for temporary suspension of service, and for temporary exemption authority, upon each scheduled air carrier which regularly renders service to or from any point in the applicant's certificate, or to or from any point located in the general area the applicant is authorized to serve.

After consideration the Board has tentatively concluded that the provisions of § 202.4[1] with respect to notice of requested changes in service pattern are adequate; that the provision of § 290.1[2] for service of notice of applications for exemption are also adequate; and that the provisions of § 205.1 with respect to service of notice of applications for temporary suspension of service, although adequate, may be improved to specifically require notice to a specified class of air carriers under the circumstances hereinafter set forth.

It should be noted that possible inadequacies of established notice requirements in particular cases are already recognized by the provisions of Part 205 in that § 205.4 specifically reserves the right to the Board to withhold action on any application pending proof of such additional service of notice by the applicant as the Board may direct. (See also § 290.3 for a similar provision.) However, in the case of local service carrier applications for temporary suspension of service, the volume of requests received may make desirable a specific requirement for service of notice on air carriers which at the time the application is filed regularly serve any two or more points named on the route segment in which the temporary suspension of service is proposed.

This proposal is believed broad enough to accomplish the objective sought by the petitioning air carrier without imposing a burden of service of notice upon carriers which have no possible interest in the subject matter of the application.

It is therefore proposed to amend § 205.1 of the Economic Regulations by adding a new paragraph (f) to read as follows:

(f) Where the application has been filed by a local service air carrier: Each scheduled air carrier, which at the time the application is filed, regularly renders service between any two or more points named in applicant's certificate and situated on the same route segment as the point to which a temporary suspension of service is proposed.

This amendment is proposed under authority of Title IV of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended. The proposed rules when finally adopted by the Board may be considerably changed in view of the comments received in response to this notice of proposed rulemaking.

(Sec. 205 (a), 52 Stat 981; 49 U. S. C. 425 (a). Interpret or apply secs. 401, 52 Stat 987; 49 U. S. C. 481)

Issued Feburary 23, 1951, at Washington, D. C.

CLEARANCE OF VESSELS

INCOMPLETE OUTWARD FOREIGN MANIFESTS AND EXPORT DECLARATIONS

Clearance of vessels before filing of complete outward foreign manifests and all required export declarations permitted in certain cases pursuant to § 4.74 (f), Customs Regulations of 1943, as amended by Treasury Decision 52675.

While it has been determined that in order to aid in the enforcement of the export regulations of the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, applicable to the exportation of merchandise to the countries named below, vessels bound for those countries should not be cleared before complete outward foreign manifests and all required export declarations have been filed with the collector of customs, it appears that at the present time there is no reason why vessels may not be cleared for other countries in accordance with the procedure provided for in paragraphs (a) to (e), inclusive, of § 4.74, Customs Regulations of 1943.

Accordingly, pursuant to § 4.74 (f), Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR 4.74 (f), as amended by Treasury Decision 52675, any vessel may be cleared for any foreign port in accordance with the procedure provided for in paragraphs (a) to (e), inclusive, § 4.74, Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR 4.74 (a)–(e)), unless its clearance is prohibited by law or regulation other than the said § 4.74 (f), except that no vessel shall be cleared for any port in Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Germany (Russian-occupied Zone only), Hong Kong, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Macao, Poland and Danzig, Rumania, or the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, and no foreign vessel shall be cleared for any Chinese communist port, or for any other place under the control of the Chinese communists, until a complete outward foreign manifest and all required export declarations have been filed with the collector of customs.

Section 3: Lot 2, $S\frac{1}{2}SE\frac{1}{4}SE\frac{1}{4}NW\frac{1}{4}$.
Section 4: Lot 1, that portion which would be if described in terms of a normal subdivision: $W\frac{1}{2}NW\frac{1}{4}SW\frac{1}{4}SE\frac{1}{4}$. Lot 2, that portion which would be if described in terms of a normal subdivision: $E\frac{1}{2}NE\frac{1}{4}SE\frac{1}{4}SW\frac{1}{4}$.

2. The lands are located on the north shore of Knik Arm and Cook Inlet approximately three miles northwest of Anchorage. Access to the area present may be obtained by airplane or small boat from Anchorage. Adequate water for domestic purposes can be obtained from wells, and sewage disposal may be made by the use of cesspools. No public facilities are obtainable in the area at the present time. The climate is a favorable combination of the temperate coastal climate of south central Alaska and the extreme continental climate characteristic of the interior of Alaska. The winter is typically long and moderately cold and the summer is short and moderately warm.

3. Pursuant to § 257.9 of the Code of Federal Regulations (43 CFR Part 257), a preference right to a lease is accorded to those applicants whose applications (a) were regularly filed, under the regulations issued pursuant to the act, prior to this classification, and (b) are of the type of site for which the lands subject thereunder have been classified. As to such applications, this order shall become effective upon the date which it is signed.

4. As to the lands not covered by the applications referred to in paragraph 3, this order shall not become effective to permit the leasing of such land under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, cited above, until 10:00 a. m. on March 14, 1951. At that time such land shall, subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, become subject to application, petition, location, or selection, as follows:

(a) Ninety-day period for other preference right filings. For a period of 90 days from 10:00 a. m. on March 14, 1951, to close of business on June 11, 1951, inclusive, to (1) application under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, by qualified veterans of World War II, for whose service recognition is granted by the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747, 43 U. S. C. secs. 279, 282) as amended, and by other qualified persons entitled to credit for service under the said act, subject to the requirements of applicable law, and (2) application under any applicable public law, based on prior existing valid settlement and preference rights conferred by existing laws or equitable claims subject to allowance and confirmation. Application by such veterans and by other persons entitled to credit for service shall be subject to claims of the classes described in subdivision (2).

(b) Advance period for simultaneous preference right filings. All applications by such veterans and persons claiming preference rights superior to those of such veterans filed on February 21, 1951, or thereafter, up to and including 10:00 a. m. on March 14, 1951, shall be treated as simultaneously filed.

(c) Date for non-preference right filings authorized by the public land laws. Commencing at 10:00 a. m. on June 12, 1951, any of the land remaining unappropriated shall become subject to application under the Small Tract Act by the public generally.

(d) In the event two or more drawing entry cards covering identical tracts are received during the twenty day simultaneous filing period outlined in subdivision (b), supra, a drawing limited to such applicants will be held in the Anchorage Land Office at a date to be announced by the Manager.

5. A veteran shall accompany his application with a complete photostatic, or other copy (both sides) of his certificate of honorable discharge, or of an official document of his branch of service which shows clearly his honorable discharge as defined in § 181.36 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations, or constitutes evidence of other facts upon which the claim for preference is based and which shows clearly the period of service. Other persons claiming credit for service of veterans must furnish like proof in support of their claim. Persons asserting preference rights, through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claim, shall accompany their applications by duly corroborated statements in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

6. All applications referred to in paragraphs 3 and 4, which shall be filed in the Land Office at Anchorage, Alaska, shall be acted upon in accordance with the regulations contained in § 295.8 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations to the extent that such regulations are applicable. Applications under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, shall be governed by the regulations contained in Part 257 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

7. Lessees under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, will be required, within the life of the lease, to construct upon the leased land, to the satisfaction of the appropriate officer of the Bureau of Land Management authorized to sign the lease, improvements which, in the circumstances, are presentable, substantial and appropriate for the use which the lease is issued before favorable consideration will be given for purchase of the tract. Leases will be for a period of two years, at an annual rental of $5.00. Successful applicants will be required to pay in advance a filing fee of $10.00 and the annual rental charge for the entire lease period. Leases will contain an option to purchase the tract at or after the expiration of one year from the date the lease is issued, provided the terms and conditions of the lease have been met.

8. All of the land will be leased in tracts varying in size from approximately 3.10 acres to approximately 7.25 acres, in accordance with the classification map on file in the Land Office, Anchorage, Alaska. The tracts where possible are made to conform in description with the rectangular system of survey, in compact units.

9. All wells and sewage disposal facilities will be located not less than 75 feet from the exterior boundaries of the tract described in the lease, Provided however, That if said tract abuts upon any stream, lake or other body of fresh water, no well or sewage disposal facility shall be placed within 100 feet of any such water. If the tract described in the lease is located upon sloping lands, lessee should locate any well or sewage disposal facility according to the recommendations of the Alaska Territorial Department of Health.

10. The leases will be made subject to rights-of-way for road purposes and public utilities, of 33 feet in width, on each side of the tracts contiguous to the section and or quarter section lines, or as shown on the classification maps on file in the Land Office, Anchorage, Alaska. Such rights-of-way may be utilized by the Federal Government, or the State or Territory, county or municipality, or by any agency thereof. The rights-of-way may, in the discretion of the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management, be definitely located prior to the issuance of the patent. If not so located, they may be subject to location after patent is issued.

11. All inquiries relating to these lands shall be addressed to the Manager, Land Office, Anchorage, Alaska.

A. J. LA COVEY,
Acting Regional Administrator.

VOLUNTARY PLAN UNDER PUBLIC LAW 774 81ST CONGRESS FOR THE CONTRIBUTION OF TANKER CAPACITY FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE REQUIREMENTS

JANUARY 18, 1951.

The Secretary of Commerce, pursuant to authority vested in him by Public Law 774, 81st Congress, and Executive Order 10161 after consultation with representatives of the tanker industry, and after expression of the views of industry, labor, and the public generally at an open public hearing held on January 18, 1951, has determined that the following plan of voluntary action is practicable and is appropriate to the successful carrying out of the policies set forth in Public Law 774.

1. What this Plan does. This Plan sets up the procedure under which the owners and charterers of oil tankers (hereinafter called Participants) agree voluntarily to make tankers and tanker space available to the Department of Defense and to other Participants at the request of the Maritime Administrator, hereinafter referred to as the "Administrator", and as provided for in the Plan. The Plan provides for the pro rata contribution of tanker capacity to the Department of Defense, at freight rates and upon charter terms and conditions determined by the Administrator, in such a way as to distribute the burden of such contributions among all the Participants in the Plan in mathematical proportion to each Participant's "controlled tonnage" as hereinafter defined.

2. Agreement by participants. Each Participant hereby agrees to contribute, pursuant to the provisions of the Plan, tanker capacity as requested by the Administrator at such times and in such amounts as the Administrator shall determine to be necessary to meet the essential needs of the Department of Defense for the transportation of petroleum and petroleum products in bulk by sea.

3. Administration of Plan. The Plan shall be administered by a "Tanker Requirements Chairman", hereinafter referred to as the Chairman, who shall be a full-time employee of the Maritime Administration. He shall administer the Plan with the advice of a "Tanker Requirements Committee", hereinafter referred to as the Committee, appointed by the Administrator from the tanker industry. The Chairman and the Committee shall assist the Maritime Administrator in obtaining for the Department of Defense the use of such industry tankers as may be required by such Department. The Chairman with the advice of the Committee shall also apportion the contribution of tanker capacity under the Plan among the Participants hereto, in accordance with the formula set forth in Paragraph 4 below, and the Participants agree that they will make available such tanker capacity as requested by the Administrator either by charters directly to the Department of Defense, or to other Participants in the Plan.

4. Pro rata contribution. Each Participant hereto agrees to contribute tanker capacity under the Plan in the proportion that its "controlled tonnage" bears to the total "controlled tonnage" subject to the Plan.

"Controlled tonnage" shall mean the total annual carrying capacity, expressed in terms of 30° gravity crude oil, Port Arthur/New York, of all tankers of over 6,000 tons deadweight capacity which are:

(a) Owned by a Participant if under U. S. Flag Registry, PLUS

(b) On charter or under contract to such Participant for a period of six (6) months or more from the effective date of this Plan, regardless of the flag of registry, LESS

(c) Chartered out or under contract to others for a period of six (6) months or more from the effective date of this Plan, PLUS

(d) Any Foreign Flag tonnage which a Participant may wish to designate as "controlled tonnage."

The obligations of the various Participants to contribute tanker capacity under the Plan shall be calculated on a pro rata basis among the Participants by the Chairman with the advice of the Committee as soon as possible after the effective date of the Plan. Such calculations shall be revised thereafter at six (6) months' intervals and such revised calculations shall take into account any charters for a period of six (6) months or more made by Participants during the preceding six (6) months' period in determining the respective obligations for the succeeding six (6) months.

5. Freight rates under Plan. Charters of vessels made at the request of the Maritime Administration, pursuant to the Plan, shall be made at a fair and equitable rate and upon charter terms and conditions to be determined by the Administrator after consultation with the Committee and the Department of Defense, and such rate shall govern in all transactions among the Participants in the Plan insofar as operations under the Plan are concerned.

6. Reports from Participants. Each Participant shall, upon request of the Chairman, submit, in such form as may be requested, to the Maritime Administration reports setting forth information as to "controlled tonnage" necessary for the administration of Paragraph 4 of the Plan.

7. Procedure for and effect of becoming Participant. After approval of this Plan by the Attorney General and by the Secretary of Commerce, and after requests for compliance with it have been made of tanker owners and charterers by the Secretary of Commerce, any such owner or charterer may become a Participant in this Plan by advising the Administrator in writing of its acceptance of such request. Such requests for compliance will be effective for the purpose of granting certain immunity from the anti-trust laws and the Federal Trade Commission Act, as provided in section 708 (b) of Public Law 774, only with respect to such tanker owners and charterers as notify the Administrator in writing that they will comply with such request.

8. Effective date and duration. This Plan shall become effective upon the date of its final approval by the Secretary of Commerce. It shall cease to be effective at the termination of Title VII of Public Law 774, 81st Congress, unless the time limitation now specified in section 716 (a) of Public Law 774 is extended or otherwise changed by legislative action in a form which permits continuation of this Plan. However, the Plan may be terminated at any time as may be determined by the Secretary of Commerce upon not less than 60 days' notice by letter, telegram, or publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

9. Withdrawal from Plan. Any Participant may withdraw from this Plan subject to the fulfillment of obligations incurred under this Plan prior to the date such withdrawal becomes effective, by giving not less than 60 days' written notice to the Administrator.

10. Duration of immunities. In the event of termination of this Plan and in the event of the withdrawal of any Participant, the immunities referred to in Paragraph 7 hereof shall extend to the fulfillment and receipt of obligations after the effective date of such termination or withdrawal as the case may be, incurred pursuant to this Plan.

11. Administrative expenses. Any reasonable expenses of administering this Plan which are not borne by the Government will be paid by the Participants in proportion to their pro rata obligation to contribute tonnage as computed under Section 4 of The Plan.

* * * * *

Pursuant to section 708 of Public Law 774, 81st Congress, and Executive Order 10161, I hereby find that the above Voluntary Plan is in the public interest as contributing to the national defense, and, after having consulted with the Attorney General and the Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission not less than 10 days before making any request or finding thereunder, and, after having obtained the approval of the Attorney General to requests to be made thereunder, I hereby approve the above Voluntary Plan under section 708 (a) of said Act.

PLAN AND REGULATIONS OF ORDNANCE CORPS GOVERNING OPTICAL FIRE CONTROL INTEGRATION COMMITTEE

JANUARY 30, 1951.

This describes the plan of the Ordnance Corps for the formation, organization, and functioning and necessity for an Ordnance Integration Committee on Optical Fire Control and the operating procedures by which such committee fulfills its purpose.

Authority for Committee. Section 708 of P. L. 774, 81st Congress (Defense Production Act of 1950); approval of request by the Attorney General of the United States, dated February 5, 1951; approval of plan and finding by the Defense Production Administrator of the Defense Production Administration, dated February 12, 1951.

I. General Statement

A. Reason for Integration Action

Integration of an Ordnance contractor industry balances the production, with the result that the desired production is obtained with a minimum facility requirement. The skill, knowledge and "know-how" of the large manufacturer are made available without obligation of any kind to the newcomer or the small manufacturer, bringing him into full production in the shortest possible time. There is made available to the Ordnance Corps on short notice complete information as to the productive capacity of the industry, its inventory of parts and material, and there is made possible rapid changes in production rates to meet the requirements of the using service.

B. Function of Committee

The general function of this committee will be to provide for the interchange between contractors of information regarding production techniques and processes; to consider and make recommendations with respect to problems of production and supply of materials and components; and to consider and recommend measures for the best integration of the facilities of several manufacturers so as to attain, in the interest of National Defense, maximum efficiency in the utilization of such facilities. It is contemplated, for example, that certain manufacturers, because of their greater efficiency or more adequate facilities may serve also as suppliers, in whole or in part, of certain parts to other manufacturers; and the performance of certain operations may be apportioned among selected contractors; or that responsibility for the supervision of certain processes or supply of certain parts be assigned to certain companies. Generally, the purpose will be to make commonly available to each manufacturer, the benefit of the production experience and techniques of all manufacturers in the group, and so to integrate the facilities of the group as to attain maximum production in the shortest possible time. Participation in such programs will be entirely voluntary and in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

C Procedure Under Act

The Ordnance Corps invited members of the optical fire control industry, and others, to participate in the drafting of a proposed plan or program of voluntary industry participation. Such exploratory meetings with industry were initiated by and under the direction of the Ordnance Corps.

As a result of such exploratory meetings with the fire control industry, Ordnance Corps, independently, has determined the specific activities which should be carried out by participating contractors. It has also been determined by Ordnance Corps that the objectives of this program cannot be accomplished by ordinary business methods.

In accordance with the provisions of Section 708, Defense Production Act of 1950, action has been initiated by Ordnance Corps to have Defense Production Administration, after consultation with the Attorney General and the Chairman, Federal Trade Commission, (1) to secure the approval of the Attorney General to a request for participation in the proposed activity by industry members named herein, and (2) to make a finding that the proposed action is in the public interest as contributing to the national defense.

D. Suspension of Committee Activity

This Committee shall not be continued beyond the expiration date of Title VII of the Defense Production Act or such earlier date as Ordnance may designate. If, prior to the expiration date of Title VII of the Act, the need for further active operations of the Committee ceases, the Chairman will notify all interested parties, including Defense Production Administration, the Attorney General and the Federal Trade Commission to that effect, indicating whether such committee will be considered in an inactive status. In the event that Ordnance Corps deems it necessary to reactivate this committee, notification shall be given to the above-mentioned parties.

II. Purposes To Be Accomplished

This Committee is formed in the interests of National Defense to integrate facilities engaged in the production of non-commercial military fire control items so as to: meet promptly the current optical fire control requirements of the Ordnance Corps military program; alleviate shortage of optical range finders and other items of fire control; augment production capacity; and put into phase the supply of fire control items necessary to insure production and issue of complete fighting tanks.

The capacity of the United States for manufacture of military fire control precision instruments is not large. The Ordnance Corps is having difficulty in meeting even the limited requirements of the present partial mobilization. The most pressing case of the shortage of fire control production capacity is that of the newly designed optical range finder for tanks. Each of the tanks (there will be thousands) to come off the production line must, for full effectiveness, especially in the vital first engaging shots, have optical fire control items of which the range finder is the most important. Each of these range finders is an expensive, complicated, 80-component part, item. The total estimated costs of the range finders for the tank program is in excess of fifty million dollars. In addition, there are tank periscopes, and other lighting equipment which lie in the same optical field. Integration action is therefore vital and necessary to the National Defense. It is emphasized, too, for a full comprehension of the problem, that the number of the optical fire control items, including range finders, for all out mobilization will far exceed the number now under procurement.

To even approximate "proper supply and phase in" of these fire control items with other components necessary to the complete fighting tanks, necessitated aggressive missionary action on the part of Ordnance Corps to secure companies to start the work. Since the optical industry does not have sufficient capacity to produce range finders and related requirements, it was necessary to go outside the optical field to secure necessary capacity. The companies other than optical concerns selected to participate in this program were chosen for the following reasons:

a. They have previously (during World War II) manufactured range finders or have made studies for the Ordnance Department which indicate that they have the management, engineering, equipment and general background which makes them suitable for production in this critical field.

b. They are already prime contractors with Ordnance in related fields and engaged in production of tank or combat vehicle components.

c. Their proposals to Ordnance were the best from the viewpoint of delivery, price, and other factors.

An Ordnance Fire Control Integration Committee will have the following direct advantages to the Government:

A. Faster and Better Production

The best Ordnance Engineers estimate that the full production rate of the finders now on order can be reached three months sooner if an Integrating Committee can begin functioning before the prime contractors begin to sublet contracts and to tool up for making parts. For example, all prime contractors could use the same subcontractor for a given part. Integrated action would insure better interchangeability of parts. This point has considerable significance when it is remembered that there are eighty odd different optical elements, some consisting of several pieces of optical glass.

B. Decreased Costs

Estimates of costs for this complex item vary but the consensus is that an Optical Fire Control Integration Committee could save the Government amounts ranging in the millions of dollars. With the Integration Committee, improved methods in one company could be transmitted to the other. The big savings will result from avoiding unnecessary duplication of tooling-up. All prime contractors could pool their subcontracting efforts, thereby saving time, money, effort, and supervision. That is, the subprocurement problem of the companies would be materially lessened if they had the herein requested authority to split up the work. Each of the "primes" would have greater assurance of being supplied with parts, so each prime could concentrate on engineering good assembly lines. Assembly in the case of the range finders is an extremely hard operation and must be done in a dehumidified atmosphere.

C. Future Changes

Should the combat troops require changes in the range finder, the Integration Committee is an ideal agency for introducing changes. Integration Committee action is therefore needed immediately to get the best out of the nation's limited and inadequate total optical productive capacity.

III. Membership and Meetings of Committee

A. Membership

This Committee will be formed as follows:

1. The Chairman is Colonel E. S. Mathews, Chief, Artillery Branch, Industrial Division, Office of Chief of Ordnance (This is the Branch in the Office of Chief of Ordnance responsible for procurement and production of fire control).

2. The Deputy Chairman is Colonel T. A. Weyher.

3. The Assistant to the Chairman is Mr. Ralph L. Goetzenberger, Minneapolis-Honeywell (Deputy Chairman of the Fire Control Instrument Division, American Ordnance Association).

4. One or more Ordnance officers experienced in military procedure shall be appointed by the Deputy Chairman from personnel of the District Office in the District in which the Committee is located to work with the Committee.

5. Each of the following contractors shall be members of the Committee:

Arma Corp., 254 Thirty-sixth Street, Brooklyn 32, N. Y.

Eastman Kodak Co., T. R. Building, Rochester 4, N. Y.

Mergenthaler Linotype Corp., 29 Ryerson Street, Brooklyn 5, N. Y.

Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., 2753 Fourth Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minn.

Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., 625 St. Paul Street, Rochester 2, N. Y.

General Motors Corp., Ternstedt Manufacturing Division, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich.

Otis Elevator Co., 200 Eleventh Avenue, New York 1, N. Y.

Chrysler Corp., 341 Massachusetts Avenue, Detroit 31, Mich.

Moreover, each new prime contractor shall become a member of the Committee. Termination or cancellation of a contract terminates membership on the Commission.

6. One policy level official and one senior production official from each of the prime contractors shall represent the members of the Committee.

7. The Secretary will be an Ordnance officer designated by the Chairman or Deputy Chairman.

8. Consultants, especially qualified in the field of committee action, may be appointed to the Committee by the Ordnance Corps acting through the Chairman.

9. Government employees shall render the necessary clerical assistance to the Committee.

B. Meetings

Committee meetings shall be called by the Chairman, Deputy Chairman, or the Ordnance Officer attached to the Committee. The agenda shall be prepared by the Chairman or Deputy Chairman. Invitations to attend will include a copy of the agenda of the meeting in order to facilitate proper representation at the meeting.

Either the Chairman, Deputy Chairman, or Ordnance officer attached to the Committee shall preside at all meetings which shall be held at offices assigned to or under the control of the Ordnance Corps. The Secretary of the Committee shall maintain and keep minutes of Committee meetings.

IV. Specific Activities of the Committee

A. Furnishing of Data

The Industry members furnish the Chairman or Deputy Chairman with a list of facilities; the rate of production, actual and projected; an inventory of finished parts; an inventory of material on hand, on order and promised delivery. The Ordnance Officer attached to the Committee compiles the production data. By comparing this data to the requirements of the Ordnance Corps, a production schedule can be made by the Ordnance Corps with the assistance of the Assistant to the Chairman, and, at this time, production, capacity, material and facilities commitments beyond the requirements of the Ordnance Corps should be released for use on other items. By including the capacity of available subcontractors, it will be possible for the Ordnance Corps to allot subcontracting capacity to the prime contractors, making possible a further release of facilities for other use.

B. Allotment of Production Schedules

After correlation of the data the Committee may recommend to the Ordnance Corps the allotment of definite production schedules to the prime contractors necessary to meet prime requirements.

C. Changes in Material and Design Including Standardization of Material

The Committee may consider and recommend desired changes in material and design including standardization of material. The Branch of the Ordnance Corps having control of the item or items is charged with the maintaining, through their engineering personnel, of bills of material, drawings, and specifications, description of engineering changes, etc. Where a committee desires a change in one of the above engineering activities, it may by mutual agreement, be decided that the change will be adopted by all members in order that the Committee maintain full interchangeability for all Ordnance requirements. The Committee must conduct such tests, chemical, metallurgical, or mechanical through usual industry or Ordnance channels to prove the adequacy of the change. The Committee may then submit, through the Committee Ordnance Officer, the recommendation for the change, together with full information of the necessity for the change, and with all available test data, direct to the Branch engineering personnel for approval or rejection. The Ordnance Officer attached to the Committee is charged by the Ordnance Corps to see that all members keep their drawings, etc., exactly alike, and that full interchangeability is always maintained for all Ordnance requirements.

D. Interchange of Parts, Material, Skills, Tools, Training Aids, Machines, Etc.

The Committee will maintain production, performance and control records and material inventories. Based on these records the Committee will be in a position to advise the Ordnance Corps of the most economical method of adjusting production to meet requirements and loading schedules. The Ordnance Officer attached to the Committee maintains such material control records as are necessary.

The Committee may consider and recommend to the Ordnance Corps, through the Ordnance Officer attached to the Committee, the interchange of parts, material, skills, tools, training aids, machines, etc. The transfer of machines or tools or other Government property should be made on memorandum receipt and should be cleared through the Ordnance District Office or the Contracting Officer, whichever is responsible under the contract as a representative of the Ordnance Corps. The interchange between industry members may be on an outright sales basis or on an exchange basis.

E. Action to Achieve Uniformity of Parts, Drawings, Bills of Material

Uniformity of parts and drawings among the contractors manufacturing any given end item are prerequisites to the interchangeability of either parts or materials. Uniformity in bills of materials is a prerequisite to the interchange of material between Committee members. The former is essential; the latter is highly desirable. The attainment of such uniformity where it does not already exist among the members of an Integration Committee is therefore an important function of every Committee.

The proceeds of the sale of the new bonds (exclusive of premium, if any, and accrued interest), of the new preferred stock, and of the new shares of common stock will be applied by Jersey Central as follows:

(a) The proceeds (other than premium, and accrued interest) from the sale of new bonds will be deposited with the Trustee under Jersey Central's mortgage and withdrawn from time to time against property additions pursuant to the provisions of the mortgage, purchased or constructed subsequent to December 31, 1950.

PART 210—THE OPERATIONS OF THE LOYALTY REVIEW BOARD

APPENDIX A—LIST OF ORGANIZATIONS DESIGNATED BY THE ATTORNEY GENERAL PURSUANT TO EXECUTIVE ORDER NO. 9835

The following material is added at the end of Appendix A:

In a letter dated January 25, 1951, the Attorney General has advised the Loyalty Review Board as set out below.

The Department's attention has been called to an error in spelling which occurred in the consolidated list of organizations transmitted to the Loyalty Review Board by my letter of October 30, 1950. The organization which appears as "Jikyoku Lin I. . . ." should correctly be designated as "Jikyoku Iinkai (The Committee for the Crisis)."

It has been observed also that the designation of the "Dante Alighieri Society" as printed in the Code of Federal Regulations, 1949 Edition, Title 5, Part 210 (Appendix A) appears as "Dante Alighieri Society (between 1935 and 1940)." The same designation should have appeared after the citation of the "Dante Alighieri Society" in the consolidated list of organizations transmitted by my letter of October 30, 1950, and it will be appreciated if you will accordingly cite this organization as "Dante Alighieri Society (between 1935 and 1940)."

§ 601.651 Administration. The program will be administered by PMA, under the general direction and supervision of the President, CCC, and in the field, will be carried out by PMA State and PMA County Committees (hereinafter called State and county committees) and PMA commodity offices. Producers interested in participating in the program should contact their county committee through which the price support documents will be distributed. All documents will be completed and approved by the county committee which will retain copies of all such documents. The county committee may designate in writing certain of its employees to approve documents on behalf of the committee.

§ 601.652 Commodities covered by this subpart. The provisions of this subpart shall apply to any grain or related commodity for which a price support program for 1951 is announced and for which a supplement to this subpart is issued.

§ 601.653 Methods of price support. This subpart applies to farm-storage loans, warehouse-storage loans, and purchase agreements. The particular methods to be used for each commodity will be specified in the applicable commodity supplement to this subpart.

§ 601.654 Disbursement of loans. Disbursement of loans will be made to producers by PMA State offices by means of sight drafts drawn on CCC, or by approved lending agencies under agreement with CCC. Disbursement shall not be made unless the commodity is in existence and in good condition; and disbursement shall not be made later than 15 days after the final date of the availability of loans set forth in the applicable supplement, unless approved by the PMA State Committee. This section shall not be construed as imposing any different responsibility on the lending agency than is imposed under the lending agency agreement.

§ 601.655 Approved lending agencies. An approved lending agency shall be any bank, cooperative marketing association, corporation, partnership, individual, or other legal entity with which CCC has entered into a Lending Agency Agreement (Form PMA 97, or other form prescribed by CCC) or a loan servicing agreement.

§ 601.656 Approved storage. Loans will be made only on commodities in approved storage. Purchase agreements will be accepted without any requirements for approved storage. However, warehouse receipts will be purchased at time of delivery only on commodities in approved warehouse storage.

(a) Farm storage. Approved farm storage shall consist of storage structures located on or off the farm (excluding Public Warehouses), which are determined by the county committee to be so located and of such substantial and permanent construction as to afford safe storage of the commodity.

(b) Warehouse storage. Approved warehouse storage shall consist of (1) Public warehouses for which a CCC uniform storage agreement for the commodity is in effect, or (2) warehouses operated by eastern common carriers under tariffs approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission for which custodian agreements are in effect. The names of approved warehouses may be obtained from PMA commodity offices or State and county committee.

§ 601.657 Applicable forms. The approved forms consist of the loan and purchase agreement forms and such other forms and documents as may be specified in the commodity supplements to this subpart, which together with the provisions of this subpart and the applicable commodity supplements, govern the rights and responsibilities of the producer. Notes and chattel mortgages, note and loan agreements, and purchase agreements must be dated and delivered to the county committee on or before the final date of availability of loans or purchase agreements, as the case may be, specified in the applicable commodity supplement to this subpart. Notes and chattel mortgages, and note and loan agreements, must have State and documentary revenue stamps affixed thereto where required by law. Loan and purchase agreement documents executed by an administrator, executor, or trustee, will be acceptable only where legally valid.

(a) Farm-storage loans. Approved forms shall consist of producer's notes on Commodity Loan Form A, secured by a chattel mortgage on Commodity Loan Form AA, and such other forms and documents as may be required by CCC.

(b) Warehouse-storage loans. Approved forms shall consist of the note and loan agreement on Commodity Loan Form B (in case of rice, CCC Rice Form B and CCC Rice Form B, Supplement), secured by warehouse receipts and such other forms and documents as may be required by CCC. Any commodities pledged as security for a loan on a single note and loan agreement must be stored in the same warehouse.

(c) Purchase agreement documents. The purchase agreement forms shall consist of the Purchase Agreement (Commodity Purchase Form 1) and Purchase Agreement Settlement (Commodity Purchase Form 4) signed by the producer and approved by the county committee, the Delivery Instructions (Commodity Purchase Form 3) issued by the county committee, negotiable warehouse receipts, and such other forms and documents as may be required by CCC.

(d) Warehouse receipts. The form in which receipts shall be submitted will be stated in the commodity supplement to this subpart.

§ 601.658 Liens. If there are any liens or encumbrances on the commodity, waivers acceptable to the county committee must be obtained.

§ 601.659 Service charges. Producers shall pay service charges computed in accordance with the following on the quantity placed under loan or specified in the purchase agreement. An additional service charge shall be paid on any additional quantity delivered under a farm-storage loan or an identity-preserved warehouse-storage loan, and accepted by CCC.

	Commodities the quantity of which is determined on basis of bushels	Commodities the quantity of which is determined on basis of pounds or 100 pounds	Minimum charge
	Per bushel (cents)	Per 100 pounds (cents)
Farm-storage loans	1	2	$3.00
Warehouse	1	1	[1] 1.50
Purchase agreements	1	1	1.50

[1] Except rice for which the service charge for warehouse-storage loans shall be 2 cents per 100 pounds with a minimum charge of $3.

(b) In the case of farm-storage loans (and identity preserved warehouse-storage loans on rice), State committees are authorized to require prepayment of $3.00 of the service charge.

(c) No refund of service charges will be made.

§ 601.660 Set-offs. Any storage payment due the producer for storage of the commodity in farm-storage structures on which CCC has made or guaranteed a storage facility loan to the producer, shall be applied to such storage facility loan until the same is fully repaid. Any amount of such storage payments not so applied and any other storage payments, together with all payments for related services, due the producer shall be subject to set-off in the same manner as provided below for loan or purchase proceeds. If the producer is indebted to CCC on any accrued obligation, or if any installments past due or maturing within twelve months are unpaid on any loan made available by CCC on farm-storage facilities, whether held by CCC or a lending agency, he must designate CCC or such lending agency as the payee of the proceeds of the loan or purchase to the extent of such indebtedness or installments, but not to exceed that portion of the proceeds remaining after deduction of loan service charges and amounts due prior lienholders. However, prepayment of only one principal installment on a farm-storage facility loan shall be deducted from the price support proceeds of any one crop year. If the producer is indebted to any other agency of the United States and such indebtedness is listed on the county debt register, he must designate such agency as the payee of the proceeds as provided above. Indebtedness owing to CCC or to a lending agency as provided above shall be given first consideration after claims of prior lienholders. Compliance with the provisions of this section shall not constitute a waiver of any right of the producer to contest the justness of the indebtedness involved either by administrative appeal or by legal action.

§ 601.661 Interest rate. Loans shall bear interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum and interest shall accrue from the date of disbursement of the loan, notwithstanding the printed provisions of the note.

§ 601.662 Transfer of producer's interest—(a) Loans. The right of the producer to transfer either his right to redeem the commodity under loan or his remaining interest may be restricted by CCC.

(b) Purchase agreements. The producer may not assign his interest in the purchase agreement.

§ 601.663 Safeguarding the commodity. The producer obtaining a farm-storage loan is obligated to maintain the storage structure in good repair and to keep the commodity in good condition.

§ 601.664 Insurance on farm-storage loans. CCC will not require the producer to insure the commodity placed under a farm-storage loan; however, if the producer insures such commodity and an indemnity is paid thereon, such indemnity shall inure to the benefit of CCC to the extent of its interest, after first satisfying the producer's equity in the commodity involved in the loss.

§ 601.665 Loss or damage to the commodity. The producer is responsible for any loss in quantity or quality of the commodity placed under farm-storage or identity preserved warehouse-storage loan, except that, subject to the provisions of § 601.664, physical loss or damage occurring without fault, negligence, or conversion on the part of the producer or any other person having control of the storage structure, resulting solely from an external cause other than insect infestation or vermin, will be assumed by CCC to the extent of the settlement rate, provided the producer has given the county committee immediate notice of such loss or damage, and provided there has been no fraudulent representation made by the producer in the loan documents or in obtaining the loan. This section shall not apply to dry edible beans, or to loss in germination of winter cover crop or hay and pasture grass seeds. The conditions for these commodities are covered in the respective supplements.

§ 601.666 Personal liability of the producer for the commodity. The making of any fraudulant representation by the producer in the loan documents, or in obtaining the loan, or the conversion or unlawful disposition of any portion of the commodity by him will render the producer subject to criminal prosecution under the Federal Law and personally liable for the amount of the loan and (including interest) for any resulting expense incurred by any holder of the note.

§ 601.667 Release of the commodity under loan. A producer may at any time obtain release of the commodity remaining under loan by paying to the holder of the note, or note and loan agreement, the principal amount thereof, plus charges and accrued interest. If the note is held by an out-of-town lending agency or by CCC, the producer may request that the note be forwarded to a local lending agency or to a county committee for collection. All charges in connection with the collection of the note shall be paid by the producer. Upon notice from the PMA commodity office or upon presentation of the paid note, the county committee shall arrange for the release of the chattel mortgage. Partial release of the commodity prior to maturity may be arranged with the county committee by paying to the holder of the note the amount of the loan, plus charges and accrued interest, represented by the quantity of the commodity to be released. In the case of warehouse-storage loans, such partial release must cover all of the commodity under one warehouse receipt.

§ 601.668 Liquidation of loans and delivery under purchase agreements—(a) Loans. In the case of farm-storage loans and identity preserved warehouse loans, the producer is required to pay off his loan on or before maturity or to deliver the commodity in accordance with instructions of the county committee. The producer may, however, pay off his loan and redeem his commodity at any time prior to the delivery of the commodity to CCC or removal of the commodity by CCC. In the event the farm is sold or there is a change of tenancy, the commodity under a farm storage loan may be delivered before the maturity date of the loan, upon prior approval by the county committee, or may be delivered before the maturity date of the loan for other reasons upon prior approval of the President of CCC. Settlement will be made at the applicable support rate, subject to the provisions of the mortgage supplement and the applicable commodity supplement to this subpart, according to grade and or quality. In the case of commodities stored in bulk, settlement will be made for the total quantity delivered, provided it was stored in the bin(s) in which the commodity under loan was stored. In the case of commodities stored in bags, settlement will be made for the total quantity delivered in all the bags delivered provided they were included in the lot placed under loan. The support rates for each commodity will be set forth in the applicable commodity supplement to this subpart.

If the settlement value of the commodity delivered under a farm-storage loan, or an identity preserved warehouse-storage loan, exceeds the amount due on the loan (excluding interest) by more than $3.00, such amount will be paid to the producer on the basis of the settlement documents. To avoid administrative costs of making small payments, if the amount found due the producer in such settlement is $3.00 or less, such amount will be paid only upon his request. Payments will be made by sight draft drawn on CCC by the State PMA office.

If the settlement value of the commodity is less than the amount due on the loan (excluding interest), the amount of the deficiency, plus interest shall be paid to CCC or may be set off against any payment which would otherwise be due to the producer under any agricultural programs administered by the Secretary of Agriculture or any other payments which are due or may become due to the producer from CCC or any other agency of the United States. To avoid administrative costs of handling small accounts, a deficiency of $3.00 or less including interest, may be disregarded unless demand therefor is made by CCC upon the producer.

In the case of warehouse-storage loans, if the producer does not repay his loan by maturity, CCC shall have the right to process and to sell or pool the commodity in satisfaction of the loan in accordance with the provisions of the note and loan agreement and § 601.669. Any payment due a producer at the time of settlement on a warehouse-storage loan, except for identity preserved warehouse-storage loans, will be made by the appropriate PMA commodity office.

(b) Purchase agreements. The producer who signs a purchase agreement (Commodity Purchase Form 1) will not be obligated to sell any quantity of the commodity to CCC. However, the quantity stated in the purchase agreement will be the maximum quantity he may sell to CCC. If the producer who signs a purchase agreement wishes to sell the commodity to CCC, he will have a 30-day period during which he must notify the county committee of his intention to sell. Such period shall end on the loan maturity date specified in the applicable commodity supplement to this subpart, or such earlier date as prescribed by the President, CCC.

In the case of eligible commodities stored commingled in an approved warehouse, the producer must, not later than the day following the final date of such 30-day period, or during such period of time thereafter as may be specified by CCC, submit to the county committee, warehouse receipts, under which the warehouseman guarantees quality and quantity, for the quantity of commodity he elects to sell to CCC, but not in excess of the quantity shown on Commodity Purchase Form 1. In the case of eligible commodities stored in other than approved warehouse storage, or stored identity preserved in approved warehouse storage the county committee will, on or after the final date of such 30-day period, issue delivery instructions to the producer. The producer must then complete delivery within a 15-day period immediately following the date the county committee issues delivery instructions, unless the county committee determines that more time is needed for delivery.

The producer may be required to redeliver a commodity in other than approved warehouse storage for a period of 60 days, such period beginning on the first day of the delivery period without any cost to CCC.

The commodity delivered under a purchase agreement will be purchased at the applicable support rate. When delivery is completed, payment will be made by sight draft drawn on CCC by the State PMA office on the basis of Commodity Purchase Form 4. The producer shall direct on such form to whom payment of the purchase price shall be made.

The commodity will be purchased on the basis of the weight, grade, and other quality factors determined at the time of delivery or, where warehouse receipts representing commingled commodities are purchased, on the basis of weight, grade and other quality factors shown on the warehouse receipts and/or accompanying documents; or if such commodity is delivered to a CCC storage facility, or stored "identity preserved" in an approved warehouse on the basis of the weight, grade, and other quality factors, determined by the county committee (in accordance with instructions for the determination of such factors under the loan program), and agreed to by the producer at the time of delivery.

§ 601.669 Removal of the commodity under loan. If the loan is not satisfied upon maturity by payment or delivery, the holder of the note may remove the commodity and sell it (dry edible beans and rice may be processed before sale), either by separate contract or after pooling it with other lots of the commodity similarly held. If the commodity is pooled, the producer has no right of redemption after the date the pool is established, but shall share ratably in any overplus remaining upon liquidation of the pool. CCC shall have the right to treat the pooled commodity as a reserve supply to be marketed under such sales policies as CCC determines will promote orderly marketing, protect the interests of producers and consumers, and not unduly impair the market for the current crop of the commodity even though part or all of such pooled commodity is disposed of under such policies at prices less than the current domestic price for such commodity. Any sum due the producer as a result of the sale of the commodity or of insurance proceeds thereon, or any ratable share resulting from the liquidation of a pool, shall be payable only to the producer without right of assignment by him.

§ 601.670 Purchase of notes. CCC will purchase from approved lending agencies, notes evidencing approved loans which are secured by chattel mortgages or negotiable warehouse receipts. The purchase price to be paid by CCC will be the principal sums remaining due on such notes, plus an amount computed according to the lending agency agreement to cover interest. Lending agencies are required to submit Commodity Credit Corporation Form 500 or such other form as CCC may prescribe for all payments received on producers' notes held by them and are required to remit to CCC a part of the interest collected, computed according to the lending agency agreement. Lending agencies shall submit notes and reports to the PMA commodity office serving the area.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Amdt. ...]

GCPR—GENERAL INCREASES BY MANUFACTURERS AND WHOLESALERS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this amendment to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 808) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Amendment 2 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, which made a number of changes in the wording of section 3, compelled many sellers to recompute their ceiling prices. Indications have been received that with respect to some sellers this has involved the task of going through many invoices and that the task could not be completed by February 28, the effective date of the amendment. An additional week's period is therefore given to put into effect ceiling price changes occasioned by the provisions of Amendment 2.

The record-keeping requirements of section 16 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation are also amended so as to postpone the requirement for preparing base period records until March 22. This new amendment makes applicable to all sellers the extension previously granted to retailers by Amendment 3.

The 10 percent rule placed into effect by Amendment 2 was open to possible varying constructions with respect to the computation of the 10 percent factor. Amendment 4 removes any ambiguity by making clear that the 10 percent factor is applied to dollar volume of deliveries of the commodity being priced during the base period. In addition, this provision is changed to permit the selection of a price as the ceiling if 10 percent of the deliveries were made at or above that price.

The language of section 3 (a), as amended by Amendment 2, has been further clarified in a number of minor respects so as to dispose of possible ambiguities. Thus, it is made clear that the price list furnishing the basis for a general increase to all of a class of purchasers can have been published either before or during the base period. It is also made clear that some deliveries must actually have been made at the increased price, even though other deliveries were made at a lower price, pursuant to firm commitments. A provision has been made that the firm commitment must be in writing to do away with evasion predicated upon alleged oral commitments.

The language has further been changed so as to require that no general increase can be predicated upon the announcement followed by sales at the increased price unless the price increase was not merely announced within the seller's own organization but was communicated to the trade or to a substantial number of the seller's customers in the seller's ordinary manner.

A change has been made in the provisions of section 3 (b) (1). In its original form, Amendment 2 did not give a seller the right to increase his prices to all classes of purchasers upon deliveries to one class of customers during the base period, unless deliveries to one class of customers accounted for 30 percent of sales during 1950. It has come to the attention of the Office of Price Stabilization that in a number of cases bona fide price increases were put into effect prior to the base period, accompanied by deliveries to one class of customers where that class of customers did not account for 30 percent or more of the 1950 business of the seller. Nonetheless, the price increase was intended to be of general applicability and was unaccompanied by any continued sales at lower prices (except under firm written commitments). The present amendment eliminates the 30 percent requirement with respect to sales to a given class. It contains, however, the requirement that the announced price increase must have been made in writing, must have announced increases in price for base period delivery, must have been widely communicated to buyers, must have been followed by deliveries to at least one class of purchasers, and must be unaccompanied by any sales at lower prices except pursuant to firm written commitments. It is felt that these safeguards are sufficient to protect against any wide-spread inflationary effect of the elimination of the 30-percent rule.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

The General Ceiling Price Regulation is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 3 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 3. General ceiling prices—(a) Ceiling prices for all sellers for commodities or services sold in base period. Your ceiling price for sale of a commodity or service is the highest price at which you delivered it during the base period to a purchaser of the same class. If you did not deliver the commodity or service during the base period, your ceiling price is the highest price at which you offered it for base period delivery to a purchaser of the same class. The offer must have been made in writing and communicated to a substantial number of customers, but in the case of a retailer may have been made by display. If you are a manufacturer or a wholesaler, you cannot, unless permitted by paragraph (b) (1) of this section use a price as your ceiling price to a class of purchaser unless you made at least 10 percent by dollar volume of your total deliveries of the commodity during the base period to that class of purchasers at that price or at a higher price.

(b) General increases by manufacturers and wholesalers. If you are a manufacturer or wholesaler of a commodity, you may apply the following provisions in determining your ceiling prices.

(1) General increases to all of a class of purchasers. If, before or during the base period, you announced in writing and put into effect a price increase for a class of purchasers by making some deliveries to that class at the higher price and no deliveries at a lower price (except pursuant to written firm commitments made before the price increase), the increased price becomes your ceiling price for that class of purchaser, even though less than 10 percent of your base period deliveries to that class were made at the higher price.

(2) General increases to several classes of purchasers. If, before or during the base period, you announced in writing, and communicated to the trade or a substantial number of customers in your customary way, a general increase of prices for base period delivery to more than one class of purchasers and if you made deliveries which, under the preceding paragraphs of this section, established the increased price or prices as the ceilings to all purchasers of one or more classes and if you made no deliveries to the other classes (except pursuant to written firm commitments made before the price increase), then the announced increased prices are your ceiling prices for all classes of purchasers for whom increases were announced.

(3) General increases on several items. If before or during the base period you announced in writing a price increase on a list of commodities, and if you made deliveries which, under the preceding paragraphs of this section, established the increased price or prices as the ceilings to all classes of purchasers of one or more of the commodities covered by the price list, and if those commodities accounted during the year 1950 for at least 30 percent of your dollar sales of the commodities covered by the price list, then the price list prices are your ceiling prices for all the items on the list.

2. Subparagraphs (2) and (3) of section 16 (a) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended, are amended to read as follows:

(2) In addition, on or before March 22, 1951, you must prepare and preserve a statement showing the categories of commodities in which you made deliveries and offers for delivery during the base period; or if you sold services you must prepare and preserve a statement listing the services which you delivered or offered to deliver during the base period.

(3) On or before March 22, 1951, you must also prepare and preserve a ceiling price list, showing the commodities in each category (listing each model, type, style, and kind), or the services, delivered or offered for delivery by you during the base period together with a description or identification of each such commodity or service and a statement of the ceiling price. Your ceiling price list may refer to an attached price list or catalogue. If you are a retailer you may satisfy the requirement of this subparagraph by recording on your purchase invoices, covering the commodities (including every model, type, style, and kind) delivered or offered for delivery by you during the base period, the price at which you sold, or offered the commodities for delivery, during the base period.

3. Ceiling prices established under the provisions of section 3, but revised by reason of the issuance of Amendment 2 or of this amendment of General Ceiling Price Regulation shall become effective March 7, 1951.

(Sec. 704 Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; Interpret or apply Title IV Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR 1950 Supp.)

Effective date. This amendment, except as otherwise herein stated, shall become effective immediately.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

Chapter VI—National Production Authority, Department of Commerce

[NPA Order M-14 as Amended Feb. 28, 1951]

M-14—NICKEL

This amendment to NPA Order M-14 is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all trades and industries affected in advance of the issuance of this order has been rendered impracticable due to the necessity for immediate action and because the order affects a large number of different trades and industries.

This amendment affects NPA Order M-14 as amended Feb. 8, 1951, as follows:

It amends sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 9. As amended this order reads as follows:

Sec.
1. What this order does.
2. Definitions.
3. Nickel forms and products to which this order applies.
4. Application of order.
5. Use of nickel.
6. Prohibited uses of nickel.
7. Maintenance, repair, and operating supplies.
8. Exemptions.
9. Inventories.
10. Application for adjustments.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 14 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this order does. The purpose of this order is to describe how the primary nickel remaining after allowing for the requirements of national defense may be distributed to the civilian economy. It is the policy of the National Production Authority that primary nickel, not required to fill rated orders, shall be distributed equitably through normal channels of distribution, and that due regard shall be given by suppliers to the needs of new and small business. It is the intent of this order that other materials which are not in short supply will be substituted for nickel wherever possible.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Base period" means the six months period ending June 30, 1950.

(c) "Consume" means to melt, alloy, mix, electrodeposit, process or otherwise alter nickel as defined by this order by physical or chemical means.

(d) "Maintenance" means the minimum upkeep necessary to continue a building, machine, piece of equipment or facility in sound working condition, and "repair" means the restoration of a building, machine, piece of equipment or facility to sound working condition when the same has been rendered unsafe or unfit for service by wear and tear, damage, failure of parts or the like: Provided, however, Neither maintenance nor repair includes the improvement of any such item with material of a better kind, quality or design.

(e) "Operating supplies" means any forms of nickel listed in paragraph (a) of section 3 which are normally carried by a person as operating supplies according to established accounting practice and are not included in his finished product.

(f) "Manufacture" means to put into process, machine, fabricate, electroplate, clad, or otherwise alter materials by physical or chemical means.

SEC. 3. Nickel forms and products to which this order applies. (a) The word "nickel" as used in this order means only the following forms of primary nickel: electrolytic nickel, ingots, pigs, rondelles, cubes, pellets and powder, rolled and cast anodes, shot, oxides, salts, chemicals and residues derived directly from new nickel, including residues containing nickel derived as a by-product from copper refinery operations.

(b) "Stainless steel," as used in this order, means chromium-nickel iron base alloys, wrought or cast, containing 6 percent to 22 percent inclusive of nickel, commonly referred to as "austenitic chromium-nickel stainless steel."

(c) "High nickel alloy," as used in this order, means ferrous and non-ferrous alloys, wrought or cast, containing more than 22 percent nickel.

(d) "Nickel silver," as used in this order, means non-ferrous alloys, wrought or cast, containing 8 percent or more nickel.

(e) "Nickel plating," as used in this order, means all plating regardless of plating procedure.

SEC. 4. Application of order. Subject to the exemptions stated in section 8, this order applies to all persons who consume nickel in manufacture, processing, or construction, or who use nickel for maintenance, repair or operating supplies. This order does not apply to the suppliers of nickel in the forms listed in paragraph (a) of section 3.

SEC. 5. Use of nickel. Subject to the exemptions stated in section 8, or unless specifically directed in writing by the National Production Authority, no person shall consume in manufacture or processing during the first calendar quarter of 1951 a quantity of nickel (as defined in paragraph (a) of section 3) by weight in excess of 65 percent of his average quarterly consumption of nickel for such purposes during the base period: Provided, however, That his consumption of nickel in any one month shall not exceed 40 percent of the permitted use during said quarter.

SEC. 6. Prohibited uses of nickel. (a) Commencing on March 1, 1951, no person shall consume nickel (as defined in paragraph (a) of section 3), secondary nickel or nickel-bearing scrap containing 6 percent or more of nickel in the production of, or use any such forms of nickel or any alloys containing nickel (as defined in paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) of section 3), or any component parts made therefrom, in the manufacture or assembly of any stainless steel, high nickel alloy, nickel plating or nickel silver items included in List A, except as indicated therein; and no person shall consume or use in the manufacture or assembly of any item, whether or not included in List A, including components or parts thereof, a greater quantity of nickel or an alloy containing a greater percentage of nickel than is necessary for functional or operational purposes, or use such material for decorative or ornamental purposes. However, these prohibitions shall not apply to such use of (1) nickel, nickel alloys above mentioned, or component parts made therefrom on and after March 1, 1951, if such materials were contained in such person's inventory on said date and are wholly unsuitable for use in the production, manufacture or assembly by such person of any item not prohibited by this section; or (2) any such materials covered by an order placed with a producer and included in the producer's schedule for February 1951, which are delivered to such person at his plant prior to June 1, 1951, to the extent that such materials are wholly unsuitable for use in production, manufacture or assembly by such person of any item not prohibited by this section. Every person who relies on the provisions of the next preceding sentence shall prepare a detailed record showing: (1) the quantities of such nickel, nickel alloys, or component parts made therefrom, which were in his inventory on the first days of December 1950, and of January, February and March 1951 which were wholly unsuitable for use by him in the production, manufacture or assembly of any item not prohibited by this section; and (2) the quantities of such materials wholly unsuitable for such use by him which were delivered to him on or after March 1, 1951, the names and addresses of the suppliers thereof, and the dates of the orders and acceptances covering such materials together with the applicable mill schedule. Such record shall be retained for at least 2 years, and shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

(b) Paragraph (a) of this section shall not apply to the use of nickel anodes in nickel plating if such nickel anodes were in the inventory of the person doing the nickel plating on March 1, 1951.

(c) No person shall use in building construction any stainless steel, high nickel alloy, nickel plating or nickel silver for any item included in List A after May 31, 1951: Provided, however, That this prohibition shall not apply to the use of such forms of nickel for any such item if its manufacture, processing or assembly is permitted by this section.

(d) The prohibitions of this section apply notwithstanding the provisions of NPA Reg. 2 with respect to the filling of rated orders, and are not affected by any of the exemptions stated in section 8.

SEC. 7. Maintenance, repair and operating supplies. Unless specifically directed by the National Production Authority, no person shall consume for maintenance, repair or operating supplies during the calendar quarter commencing on January 1, 1951, and each calendar quarter thereafter, a quantity by weight in excess of his average quarterly consumption of nickel for such purposes during the base period.

SEC. 8. Exemptions. (a) The consumption of nickel to fill an order that is rated under the priorities system established by NPA Reg. 2, or to meet any mandatory order of the National Production Authority, is permitted in addition to the consumption of nickel authorized by the provisions of sections 5 and 7.

(b) Nickel acquired by a rated order, or to meet a scheduled program of the National Production Authority, may be used in addition to the quantities permitted by the provisions of sections 5 and 7.

(c) The provisions of sections 5 and 7 do not apply to persons who use less than 250 lbs. of nickel during any calendar quarter: Provided, however, That persons who by reason of the provisions of section 5 would be permitted to use less than 250 lbs. during any calendar quarter may use during such period a quantity up to 250 lbs.

SEC. 9. Inventories. (a) In addition to the provisions of NPA Reg. 1, relating to Inventory Control, it is considered that a more exact requirement applying to consumers of nickel is necessary. No person obtaining nickel for use in manufacture, processing or building construction, or for maintenance, repair or operating supplies may receive or accept delivery of a quantity of nickel if his inventory is, or by such receipt would become, in excess of that necessary to meet his deliveries or supply his services on the basis of his scheduled method and rate of operation pursuant to this order during the succeeding 30-day period, or in excess of a "practicable minimum working inventory" (as defined in NPA Reg. 1), whichever is less. For the purpose of this section, the forms of nickel listed in paragraph (a) of section 3 in which only minor changes or alterations have been effected shall be included in inventory. NPA Reg. 1 will apply to nickel except as modified by this section.

(b) Inventories; exception to Reg. 2. No person may extend a rating pursuant to paragraph (b) of section 5 of NPA Reg. 2 to replace nickel in his inventory, which nickel has been used by him in the manufacture of stainless steel, high nickel alloy, nickel silver, or any other nickel-bearing alloy or material prior to January 1, 1951, except with respect to shipments made by warehouses subsequent to December 31, 1950. This order does not supersede Reg. 2 in any respect except as set forth in the preceding sentence. However, any person may extend a rating to replace stainless steel, high nickel alloy, nickel silver, or any other nickel-bearing alloy in his inventory pursuant to paragraph (b) of section 5 of Reg. 2.

SEC. 10. Application for adjustments. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that his business operation was commenced during or after the base period, or because any provision otherwise works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

SEC. 11. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least 2 years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act. (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F.)

SEC. 12. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-14.

SEC. 13. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this order or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

SEC. 14. List A. The use of the forms and products of nickel defined in section 3 in the items listed below is prohibited except to the extent permitted by this order, or as specified on this list.

[NPA Order M-32 as Amended Mar. 1, 1951]

LIMITATION FOR DO RATED ORDERS

This order is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order there has been consultation with industry representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

This amendment effects NPA Order M-32 by adding two items to Schedule A. As amended, this order now reads as follows:

Sec.

1. What this order does.
2. Definitions.
3. Chemicals to which this order applies.
4. Required shipment dates.
5. Rejection of rated orders.
6. Limitation for acceptance of rated orders.
7. NPA assistance in placing rated orders.
8. Adjustments and exceptions.
9. Communications.
10. Records.
11. Audit and inspection.
12. Reports.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 13 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order applies particularly to producers of each chemical listed in Schedule A appearing at the end of this order and provides rules for placing, accepting and scheduling rated orders for such chemical. Its purpose is to provide equitable distribution of rated orders among all producers thereof, in order to make possible maximum production and to reduce to a minimum disruption of normal distribution. It supplements NPA Reg. 2 but only those provisions of Reg. 2 which are inconsistent with this order are superseded and all other provisions of Reg. 2 continue to apply to the chemical industry.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons and includes agencies of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Producer" means any person engaged in the business of producing for sale any chemical listed in Schedule A.

(c) "Schedule A" means the list of chemicals marked "Schedule A" appearing at the end of this order.

(d) "NPA" means National Production Authority.

SEC. 3. Chemicals to which this order applies. This order applies only to the chemicals listed in Schedule A, as amended from time to time. It is the intention of NPA that if and when the need arises, additional chemicals will be added to Schedule A.

SEC. 4. Required shipment dates. A rated order for any chemical listed in Schedule A must specify shipment on a particular date or dates or during a particular month, which in no case may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. The producer of such chemical must schedule the order for shipment within the requested month as close to the requested shipment date as is practicable, considering the need for maximum production.

SEC. 5. Rejection of rated orders. Unless otherwise specifically directed by NPA, a producer need not accept a rated order for any chemical listed in Schedule A which is received by him less than the number of days (lead time), if any, set forth in Schedule A opposite the name of such chemical, prior to the first day of the month in which shipment is requested. Rated orders for any such chemical as to which no such period of time is specified in Schedule A are not subject to the provisions of this section.

SEC. 6. Limitation for acceptance of rated orders. Unless otherwise specifically directed by NPA, no producer shall be required to accept rated orders for shipment of any chemical listed in Schedule A in any one month in excess of the quantity of such chemical determined as in Schedule A provided.

SEC. 7. NPA assistance in placing rated orders. Any person who is unable to place a rated order for any chemical listed in Schedule A due to the limitation imposed by section 6 should apply to NPA, Ref: Order M-32, specifying the producers who refused to accept the order. NPA will arrange to assist him in locating sources of supply.

SEC. 8. Adjustments and exceptions. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file with NPA a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment which claim that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each such request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought and the justification therefor.

SEC. 9. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-32.

SEC. 10. Records. Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least 2 years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction whether the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

SEC. 11. Audit and inspection. All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of NPA.

SEC. 12. Reports. Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 13. Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of NPA or willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order as amended shall take effect on March 1, 1951.

SECTION 1. What this order does. The purpose of this order is to conserve and provide for an equitable distribution of cattlehides, calfskins and kips so as to best serve the interests of the national defense. SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons and includes agencies of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Tanner" means a person engaged in the business of tanning, dressing, or similarly processing hides or skins and who, in each month during the period of six months commencing September 1, 1950 put into process 100 or more cattlehides, calfskins or kips, or in March 1951 or in any calendar month thereafter puts into process 100 or more of such hides or skins.

(c) "Contractor" or "converter" means a person engaged in the business of causing hides or skins to be tanned or dressed for his account in any tannery not owned or controlled by him, and who in each month during the period of six months commencing September 1, 1950 caused 100 or more cattlehides, calfskins or kips to be put into process for his account, or in March 1951 or in any calendar month thereafter causes 100 or more of such hides or skins to be put into process for his account.

(h) "Domestic cattlehide, calfskin or kip" means any such hide or skin produced in the United States or any of its territories or insular possessions.

(i) "NPA" means National Production Authority.

SEC. 3. Restrictions on purchase, sale and delivery of domestic cattlehides, calfskins and kips: allocation by NPA. (a) After the effective date of this order no person shall sell, deliver (including delivery to a tannery owned or controlled by him), purchase or accept delivery of any untanned domestic cattlehide, calfskin or kip, the ownership or possession of which was acquired on or after February 5, 1951, except to the extent that the purchaser shall be specifically authorized by NPA on Form NPAF-35 or Form NPAF-37: Provided, however, That the following may be effected without such authorization:

(1) The sale and delivery of such hides or skins between domestic collectors and between a domestic producer and a domestic collector for purposes of resale within the United States.

(2) The sale and delivery to and the purchase and acceptance of delivery by any person, other than a tanner or contractor, of less than 100 cattlehides, calfskins or kips in any calendar month.

(3) The sale and delivery to and purchase and acceptance of delivery by any person of the number of domestic cattlehides, calfskins or kips for export to any place outside the United States, other than Canada, pursuant to a license to export such hides or skins granted to him by the Office of International Trade; provided that such person duly signs a certification on his purchase order delivered to the seller of such hides or skins, as follows:

Certified under M-35

Such certification constitutes a representation to the seller and to NPA that the purchaser is authorized under the provisions of this order to accept delivery of such hides or skins and that he has received such a license for their export.

(b) An application for the purchase of domestic cattlehides shall be made on Form NPAF-34 and an application for the purchase of domestic calfskins or kips shall be made on Form NPAF-36. Either or both such forms, as the case may be, shall be filed with NPA on or before March 10, 1951, and on or before the 10th day of each succeeding month.

(c) Each person receiving an authorization from NPA to purchase domestic cattlehides, calfskins or kips, either on Form NPAF-35 or NPAF-37, shall list in a copy thereof all his purchases made pursuant to such authorization, shall furnish all other information required thereby, and shall return such copy to NPA within 10 days after the date of the expiration of such authorization, specified therein.

(d) In any action which may be taken pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, it will be the policy of NPA, so far as practicable, to grant authorizations to purchase so that:

(1) A tanner or contractor may obtain domestic cattlehides, calfskins or kips in the proportion that his total wettings in 1950 of cattlehides, calfskins and kips (including imports), respectively, bear to the total wettings of cattlehides, calfskins and kips (including imports), respectively, of all contractors and tanners combined in 1950, except that authorizations to tanners or contractors having more than a practicable minimum working inventory or who do not meet a specific defense program as may be directed by NPA, may be reduced or omitted; and

(2) A contractor will contract with the same tanner or tanners, as the case may be, and in the same proportions, as in the most recent period prior to the effective date of this order when such contractual arrangements existed.

SEC. 4. Restrictions upon certain cuttings of untanned cattlehides. No producer or collector shall cut off bellies or shoulders of untanned cattlehides except for a purchaser specifically authorized in writing by NPA to purchase hides with such portions cut off.

SEC. 5. Effect upon other NPA regulations and orders. This order supersedes NPA Order M-35, effective February 5, 1951, but nothing herein shall affect any liabilities incurred under such superseded order. If any provision of this order is in conflict with NPA Reg. 1 or NPA Reg. 2, such provision of this order shall govern.

SEC. 6. Adjustments and exceptions. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file with NPA a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interests of national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment which claim that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each such request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought and the justification therefor.

SEC. 7. Records. Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction whether the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

SEC. 8. Audit and inspection. All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of NPA.

SEC. 9. Reports. (a) Regardless of whether he files any application referred to in section 3 (b) of this order, every contractor shall report to NPA each month on Form NPAF-34 and Form NPAF-36, his wettings and raw stock and every tanner shall report to NPA each month on such forms, his wettings and raw stock, if any, and his leather production, for the calendar month immediately preceding the month in which such reports are required by this order to be filed. Either or both such forms, as the case may be, shall be filed with NPA on or before March 10, 1951 and on or before the 10th day of each month thereafter. All other information required by such forms shall be furnished.

(b) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such other reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 10. Communications. All communications and reports concerning this order shall be addressed to National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref. M-35.

SEC. 11. Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of NPA or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order authorizes the placing of pool orders with producers of metalworking machines. It provides that such pool orders shall carry a DO rating which may be extended.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Metalworking machine" means any new, nonportable, power driven item of plant equipment which is listed on the attached Exhibit A and has a producer's list price for the basic machine itself of $500 or more. The producer's list price for the basic machine itself means the sale price at which the producer's catalogue or other price publication lists the basic machine, exclusive of the motor, motor drive, or any attachments therefor, unless the motor, motor drive, or attachments are initially built into the basic machine itself, as an integral part thereof, in which case the producer's list price for the basic machine shall be the sale price at which the producer lists the machine as an assembled unit.

The term "metalworking machine" includes all fixtures, equipment and tooling covered by the original purchase order which are required to be delivered with the basic machine to make it usable in production for the purposes intended. It does not include replacements, spare parts or equipment, or extra tooling.

(b) "Producer" means any person engaged in the manufacture and production of metalworking machines.

(c) "GSA" means the United States Government Agency known as General Services Administration created under the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 (63 Stat. 377).

SEC. 3. Pool orders. The National Production Authority (hereinafter called "NPA") will from time to time furnish GSA with recommendations for ordering metalworking machines. Under working arrangement between GSA and NPA, GSA will place firm orders with producers of metalworking machines in accordance with such recommendations. The orders so placed by GSA will contain, among other provisions, a provision requiring any producer, on or after April 1, 1951, to eliminate items from any such order to the extent that equivalent items manufactured by such producer are invoiced or shipped (whichever is earlier) by such producer to others pursuant to purchase orders from others or to orders and directions of NPA.

SEC. 4. Rated orders. Producers receiving such pool orders shall receive a certificate authorizing them to apply a DO rating, with digit identification 98, in accordance with section 4 of NPA Regulation 2. When any such DO rating is so applied, it may be extended in accordance with section 5 of said Regulation 2. No person shall apply or extend a DO-98 rating except in accordance with the provisions of this order and said Regulation 2. All provisions of said Regulation 2 shall continue in full force and effect except as the same may be in conflict with this order in which case the provisions of this order shall control.

SEC. 5. Certification of rated orders. When a person applies or extends such rating, the certification shall read as follows: "Certified under NPA Order M-40 and NPA Regulation 2." Such certification constitutes a representation of the recipient and to NPA that the person applying or extending the rating is authorized under the provisions of this order to so apply or extend DO-98 ratings.

SEC. 6. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least two years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

SEC. 7. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: M-40.

SEC. 8. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this order or any other order or regulation of NPA or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

(b) "Producer" means any person engaged in the manufacture and production of metalworking machines.

(c) "Service group" means a subdivision of the Department of Defense as identified in Exhibit B which is classified "Restricted" and will be furnished to producers.

(d) "Service purchasers" means those persons whose purchase orders for metalworking machines call for delivery to a service group, or to one of such group's prime contractors, or to a subcontractor of such a prime contractor. However, no such purchaser shall be considered a service purchaser unless his order is accompanied by a DO rating in accordance with existing regulations.

(e) "Other purchasers" means all purchasers other than service purchasers, whether or not a DO rating has been assigned to their purchase orders.

(f) "Size" includes all of those dimensions or variations of a particular type of metalworking machine which can be used interchangeably for production purposes. Size classification shall be that used by each producer on the effective date of this order, unless he is hereinafter authorized to use a different classification. Producers may apply for such permission by letter to the National Production Authority (hereinafter called "NPA").

(g) "Firm order" means an order which is accompanied by specification or other description of a metalworking machine in sufficient detail to enable a producer to place such machine in his production schedule.

(h) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

SEC. 3. Delivery of metalworking machines until July 1, 1951. Until July 1, 1951, each producer shall maintain his delivery schedules as now or hereafter established, unless NPA by specific direction shall require a change in such schedules.

SEC. 4. Allocation of deliveries to service and other purchasers. Starting April first and on the first of each succeeding month, each producer shall schedule his deliveries of each size of metalworking machines in accordance with the provisions of this section 4 for the fourth ensuing month (hereinafter in section 9 being referred to for convenience as the "delivery month"—for example, deliveries for the month of July would be scheduled on April 1, and July would be the "delivery month").

(a) If a producer can fill from his production all orders requiring delivery in the month being scheduled, whether such orders are rated or unrated, then he shall arrange his schedule so as to fill all such orders.

(b) If a producer cannot fill from his production all orders requiring delivery in the month being scheduled, whether such orders are rated or unrated, then he shall arrange his schedule of deliveries as follows:

(1) To the extent that a producer has rated orders on hand from service purchasers requiring delivery in the month being scheduled, he shall arrange his schedule so as to deliver up to 70 percent of his production of each size in that month to service purchasers.

(2) To the extent that a producer has rated orders on hand from service purchasers requiring delivery in the month being scheduled of more than 70 percent of his production of any size in that month, he shall not be required in any such case to deliver more than such 70 percent to service purchasers even though there be fewer rated orders from other purchasers than the equivalent of 30 percent of his production of such size.

(3) To the extent that there remains any balance of his production unscheduled for that month, after scheduling his deliveries to service purchasers in accordance with subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, a producer shall schedule such balance for such month so as to fill all rated orders from other purchasers to the extent possible, and thereafter, if any balance still remains, to fill unrated orders to be scheduled in accordance with such producer's usual custom.

SEC. 5. Distribution of production among service purchasers. Each producer shall schedule deliveries among the several service groups as follows:

(a) Exhibit B is a percentage allocation schedule. It specifies a percentage of total monthly production of each type of the category of metalworking machine which is listed in Exhibit A and which is to be scheduled for delivery each month to each service group. Such specified percentage to each service group for the purposes of this order is called a "service quota." Copies of Exhibit B will be classified "Restricted" and will be furnished to producers.

(b) Each month each producer shall schedule for delivery to each service group the number of metalworking machines of each size and type equal to that group's service quota for that month. No producer shall schedule delivery of any metalworking machine earlier than the date on which the purchaser's order requires delivery unless all required delivery dates on other orders are being met. No order shall be scheduled unless it is a firm order and accompanied by the information required by section 7.

(c) If a producer does not have on hand, at the time he schedules his monthly deliveries pursuant to section 4, enough firm orders from one or more service groups equal to the service quota of any such service group for a size of a given type of metalworking machine, the unscheduled balance of the service quota or quotas shall be used to schedule for delivery during that month rated orders, exceeding the service quota, received from other service groups for that size and type of metalworking machine which cannot be scheduled within the latter's quota. Each producer shall distribute this unscheduled service quota balance for any such metalworking machine among other service groups as follows:

(1) He shall figure the number of rated orders on his books for that size and type of metalworking machine from each service group as of the time he schedules his monthly deliveries pursuant to section 4, or, at the producer's option, the nearest date within 10 days thereof on which he may have compiled his record of orders. Only rated orders which require delivery in the month being scheduled or which could not be filled in a previous month shall be counted. From the number thus figured he shall deduct the number of metalworking machines which each such service group is entitled to receive under its service quota. The resulting balance shall be termed the net backlog of each such service group.

(2) He shall then distribute the total unscheduled rated orders for that size and type of metalworking machine among the service groups showing a net backlog for the month being scheduled, in the ratio which such service group's net backlog for that month bears to the total net backlog of all service groups. (An example of the calculations required by this paragraph is contained in the attached Exhibit C).

(d) In preparing his schedule of deliveries for a given month, each producer shall fix the dates of the deliveries to the different service groups so that each will receive its percentage of metalworking machines equitably in point of time within the month.

(e) If, under paragraph (a) of section 4, a producer is required to schedule more than 70 percent of his production for service purchasers, he shall distribute the excess over 70 percent among the various service groups in the same manner provided for unscheduled service quota balances in paragraph (c) of this section.

SEC. 6. Treatment of fractions. Where the number of metalworking machines which results from any computation required by this order contains a fraction of more than one-half, the fraction shall be counted as a whole metalworking machine. A fraction under one-half shall be disregarded, except that where the computation results in a fraction only (less than one whole metalworking machine) for any one month and such fraction is less than one-half, it shall be counted in computing the next month's service quota. Where each of the computations of two or more different service quotas for the same month shows a fraction of one-half, and there is only one remaining metalworking machine to which such fractions can apply, such metalworking machine shall be allotted to the service group having the largest service quota, and the other fractions of one-half shall be disregarded for that month, but shall be counted in computing the other service quota or quotas for the next month.

SEC. 7. Additional information to be furnished with rated purchase orders. In applying or extending a DO rating to an order for a metalworking machine, (a) any service purchaser must indicate the service group which placed or sponsored the prime or subcontract for which the metalworking machine being purchased is to be used, and the required delivery date thereof, and (b) any other purchaser must indicate the claimant agency, if any, which placed or sponsored the prime or subcontract for which the metalworking machine being purchased is to be used and the required delivery date thereof.

SEC. 8. Changes and amendments. Notwithstanding any other provision of this order, NPA may amend this order and any Exhibits hereto attached, may direct or change any schedule of production or delivery of metalworking machines, allocate any order for metalworking machines from one producer to another producer, and divert or otherwise direct the delivery of any metalworking machine from one person to another person.

SEC. 9. Frozen period. No rated order, which may be received by a producer within the 3 months period immediately preceding any delivery month as defined in section 4, shall operate to postpone, advance or in any way affect or change the delivery of any metalworking machines which have been scheduled for delivery during such delivery month, or scheduled for delivery in accordance with section 2.

SEC. 10. Effect of this order on Regulation 2. To the extent that this order is in conflict with NPA Regulation 2, the provisions of this order shall control. In all other respects, Regulation 2 shall continue in full force and effect.

SEC. 11. Replacement parts. NPA Regulation 4 as now effective or as hereafter amended, or any other NPA order or regulation concerning maintenance, repair, and replacement items, shall control with respect to the delivery by a producer of repair and replacement parts, irrespective of any provisions contained in this order.

SEC. 12. Application for adjustment. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry or its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

SEC. 13. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least 2 years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of NPA.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 14. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: M–41.

SEC. 15. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this order or any other order or regulation of NPA or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with said Federal Reports Act.

This order shall take effect on February 28, 1951.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., March 4, 1951, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., March 11, 1951, is hereby fixed as follows:

(ii) District 2: 298 carloads;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

(b) the prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said amended marketing agreement and order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached to Lemon Regulation No. 371 (16 F. R. 1788), and made a part hereof by this reference.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "carloads," "prorate base," "District 1," "District 2" and "District 3," shall have the same meaning as when used in the said amended marketing agreement and order.

TITLE 8—ALIENS AND NATIONALITY

Chapter I—Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice

PART 116—CIVIL AIR NAVIGATION

DOCUMENTS FOR ENTRY; CREW MANIFESTS

FEBRUARY 23, 1951.

The following amendments to § 116.8, Documents for entry, of Chapter I, Title 8 of the Code of Federal Regulations, also designated as § 6.8 of Title 19 and § 71.508 of Title 42, are hereby prescribed:

1. Subparagraph (1) of paragraph (b) is amended so that, with the introductory matter, it will read as follows:

(b) An aircraft commander's general declaration shall contain the following information:

(1) A crew manifest showing, as to each alien employed in any capacity on board the aircraft, surname and initials of given names, duties on board, nationality, serial number and country of issuance of license or passport. The manifest is not required if the aircraft is not arriving from outside the United States or if it is arriving on a trip which originated in Canada or the French Islands of St. Pierre or Miquelon or if the information with respect to the crew is furnished in accordance with § 116.10.

2. Subparagraph (2) of paragraph (b) is amended by deleting the word "Newfoundland" and the comma which follows that word, and by substituting the word "or" for the word "and" which appears between the words "St. Pierre" and "Miquelon".

This order shall become effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Compliance with the provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238; 5 U. S. C. 1003) as to notice of proposed rule making and delayed effective date is unnecessary because the rules prescribed by the order, as regards the amendment made to subparagraph (1) of paragraph (b), relieve restrictions and are clearly advantageous to persons affected thereby, and, as regards the amendment made to subparagraph (2) of paragraph (b), make no substantive change.

Director of Price Stabilization.

MARCH 1, 1951.

[F. R. Doc. 51-2909; Filed, Mar. 1, 1951; 3:30 p. m.]

[Ceiling Price Regulation 1, Amdt. 1]

CPR 1—NEW PASSENGER AUTOMOBILES

INCREASE IN CEILING PRICES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 1 (15 F. R. 9061) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 1 issued December 18, 1950 established ceiling prices for new passenger automobiles at the level of December 1, 1950. The purpose of that freeze was to allow time for an analysis of the increase in wage cost and in prices of raw materials which the automobile manufacturers stated had been incurred. That analysis was expected to determine whether price increases were necessary in the light of the over-all position of the industry. About the middle of January 1951, a hearing on this matter was conducted by Mr. John M. Hancock acting as special consultant to the Director of Price Stabilization. The automobile manufacturers were afforded an opportunity to submit data in support of their contentions.

The Director of Price Stabilization has given consideration to the proposals contained in Mr. Hancock's report to him not only as they apply to price control of new passenger automobiles but also as to their general adaptability in whole or in part over large areas of the manufacturing economy. Studies dealing with these twin aspects are presently being made.

By its present terms Ceiling Price Regulation 1 remains in effect only through March 1, 1951, but contains an express provision permitting an extension beyond that date. The Director of Price Stabilization has determined that this regulation should be extended for another 60 days pending the formulation of new price controls applying to manufacturers in most fields. He has further determined that in connection with this extension the automobile manufacturers should be allowed a price adjustment at this time. For that purpose, he is permitting the ceiling prices established by Ceiling Price Regulation 1 to be increased by 3½%. Upon the basis of data submitted by the manufacturers, this increase translated into dollars represents for each member of the industry less than the actual dollar increase between June 30 and December 31, 1950, in direct labor and materials costs. In some instances, it is substantially less. It should be emphasized that only direct labor and materials costs have been considered.

This action is intended only as an interim measure. The Director of Price Stabilization believes that it takes into account certain hardships growing out of the imposition of a freeze upon the prices of new passenger automobiles earlier than upon prices in general. He is moving as rapidly as possible to provide a comprehensive pricing formula and to establish standards of general applicability.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 1 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 4 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) The ceiling price for the sale or delivery of a new automobile by a manufacturer shall be 103.5% of the net price (f. o. b. factory) charged by the manufacturer to the same class of purchaser on December 1, 1950, for the same make and model, or, if the manufacturer has brought out a new line since December 1, 1950, or brings out a new line hereafter, 103.5% of the net price (f. o. b. factory) charged by the manufacturer to the same class of purchaser on that date for the counterpart model in the previous line. Whenever the manufacturer had a suggested retail price (f. o. b. factory) on December 1, 1950, his net price (f. o. b. factory) shall be determined by reducing such suggested retail price in effect on that date for the same or counterpart model of the same make by the discounts in effect on that date for the same class of purchaser to whom the sale or delivery is to be made.

2. Section 4 (b) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(b) (1) The ceiling price established by paragraph (a) of this section shall include all equipment that was standard for each such make and model on December 1, 1950, or if the ceiling price is established on the basis of a counterpart model in the previous line, the equipment that was standard for such counterpart model on December 1, 1950. In the event that a new automobile is sold without such standard equipment, the ceiling price shall be reduced by 103.5% of the amount of the manufacturer's standard charge to the same class of purchaser for such equipment on December 1, 1950.

3. A new paragraph reading as follows is added to Section 4:

(e) Any ceiling price for a new passenger automobile (but not for new equipment) which was established prior to March 1, 1951 under paragraph (d) may be increased by 3.5%. The resulting figure is the new ceiling price and shall remain in effect as the ceiling price thereafter.

4. Section 7 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Invoicing. Each manufacturer of new automobiles shall furnish to each person to whom he sells a new automobile an invoice stating, separately from any other charge, the ceiling price in effect on February 28, 1951 and any subsequent increase in the net price charged which is permitted under this regulation.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 4, Supplementary Regulation 1]

CPR 4—ANTHRACITE DELIVERED FROM MINE OR PREPARATION PLANT

SR 1—ANTHRACITE BRIQUETTS PRODUCED AT OR MADE AT PLANTS IN PENNSYLVANIA ANTHRACITE FIELD

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105) and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation No. 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation No. 4 (16 F. R. 1011) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Anthracite briquet manufacturing plants are located in the Anthracite Region of Pennsylvania. For the most part these plants are adjuncts of anthracite preparation plants.

The product, a domestic fuel, consists of 80 percent anthracite, 7 to 8 percent asphalt as a binder, and 12–13 percent bituminous coal.

Total production of anthracite briquetts in 1950 was 359,000 net tons. The product is made in one size and sold at one price.

Cost increases over January 1, 1951, have resulted from the new wage agreement with U. M. W. A. negotiated January 26, 1951. Material costs, principally anthracite and bituminous coal, have advanced pursuant to the authority of Ceiling Price Regulations Nos. 3 and 4 made effective on February 1, 1951. Asphalt, the third principal ingredient, has advanced sharply in price since 1950.

The labor increase amounts to $0.1731 per net ton, Social Security & old age benefits $0.0095, materials $0.4095, or a total cost increase of $0.5921 per ton, which practically eliminates the $0.64 net income per ton before taxes realized on the entire 1950 business.

This supplementary regulation is intended to offset the actual cost increase cited above.

FINDINGS OF DIRECTOR OF PRICE STABILIZATION

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of Supplementary Regulation No. 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation No. 4 are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

In formulating this supplementary regulation the Director has consulted with representatives of the industry to the extent practicable under the circumstances, and has given consideration to their recommendations.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. Applicability of supplementary regulation.
2. Definitions.
3. Authority to increase ceiling prices.
4. Miscellaneous.

AUTHORITY: Secs. 1 to 4 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret, or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. Applicability of supplementary regulation. This supplementary regulation grants authority to a person engaged in the business of manufacturing briquetts, made principally from anthracite coal, located in the Pennsylvania anthracite field to increase the ceiling price on briquetts sold by them, or their agents, f. o. b. the plant.

SEC. 2. Definitions. When used in this supplementary regulation, the term:

(a) "Producer" means a person engaged in the business of manufacturing briquetts, principally from anthracite coal, and any person acting as an agent of a producer.

(b) "Distributor" means a person who purchases briquetts at or for delivery from a briquet plant, for resale, and resells the same in not less than cargo or railroad carload lots, or the equivalent thereof, without physically handling such briquetts, and any person acting as an agent of such distributor in the sale of briquetts.

(c) "Briquetts" means briquetts made principally from anthracite coal, which are manufactured at plants located in the Pennsylvania anthracite field.

(d) "Ground Storage Facility" means a storage facility not operated as an adjunct of a briquet plant, which is customarily used by a producer or distributor for storage of briquetts in transit from a briquet plant to a purchaser.

SEC. 3. Prohibition against selling or delivering anthracite briquetts at prices above the ceiling. On and after the 3d day of March 1951, regardless of any contract, agreement, lease, or other obligation:

(a) No person who is a producer or distributor shall sell, dispose, deliver, or ship anthracite briquetts from a briquet plant at prices higher, f. o. b. the plant, than the ceiling price set forth in Appendix A, attached hereto and by this reference made a part hereof.

(b) No person shall, in the course of trade or business, buy or receive anthracite briquetts so delivered or shipped at a price higher than the ceiling price set forth in Appendix A, attached hereto and by this reference made a part hereof.

(c) No person shall agree, offer, solicit, or attempt to do anything prohibited under this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 4. Miscellaneous. (a) The producers subject to this supplementary regulation shall be subject to all other provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation No. 4 which are not inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(b) Each producer, sales agent or distributor shall furnish to each retail coal dealer to whom he sells briquetts a statement showing the exact dollar-and-cents amount the producer has added to the price of his briquetts as authorized under this supplementary regulation.

(c) Upon the effective date of this Supplementary Regulation No. 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation No. 4 the producers subject to this supplementary regulation shall no longer be subject to the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation issued by the Director on January 26, 1951 (16 F. R. 809), except as to activities not covered by this supplementary regulation. Such exemption, however, shall not relieve the producers hereunder from any obligation or liability incurred under the General Ceiling Price Regulation prior to the effective date of this supplementary regulation.

Effective date. This Supplementary Regulation No. 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation No. 4 shall become effective on the 3d day of March 1951.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

APPENDIX A

The following ceiling price subject to the exceptions set forth in this supplementary regulation are established for anthracite briquetts, f. o. b. manufacturing plants.

	Ceiling price Per net ton
Anthracite briquetts	$10.95

NOTE: Persons subject to the regulation shall continue to observe their customary and standard cash discount practices.

[General Wage Regulation 8]

GR 8—COST-OF-LIVING ESCALATOR CLAUSES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Congress) and Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105) this General Regulation No. 8 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This General Regulation is issued by the Economic Stabilization Administrator in discharge of his responsibility under the provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950, and Executive Order 10161. It is designed to stabilize wages, salaries, and other compensation and to effectuate the purposes and intent of said Statute and Order. Due consideration has been given to the standards established by section 402 of the Act. In the formulation of the provisions hereof there has been consultation with industry and labor representatives, including Trade Association and Labor Union representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

Some collective bargaining contracts in existence on January 25—the effective date of the first price and wage control regulations—contain provisions for subsequent changes in wages. The changes in wages depend on the changes—up or down—in the cost of living. Wage adjustments called for within the next few months by these escalator clauses will be upward because the cost of living has been rising since Korea.

For the most part, the increases permitted by the escalator clauses will be covered by the ten per cent allowable rise in General Regulation No. 6. However, such clauses in a few of the existing contracts will provide in the near future for increases somewhat exceeding the allowable figure. General Regulation No. 6 makes no provision for such cases. This regulation within certain limitations will permit the operation of such cost of living escalator clauses until June 30, 1951.

Sec.
1. Cost-of-living escalator clauses defined.
2. Certain cost-of-living increases required by escalator clauses permissible without prior approval.
3. Reports of increases made under this Regulation required.
4. Time limitation on increases.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 4 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. Cost-of-living escalator clauses defined. As used in this Regulation, the term "cost-of-living escalator clause" shall mean a provision in a collective bargaining agreement which establishes a defined relationship between the rates of wages, salaries and other compensation covered by the agreement and the cost-of-living index figure published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

SEC. 2. Certain cost-of-living increases required by escalator clauses permissible without prior approval. No prior approval is required for the putting into effect of wage or salary increases which are required by the terms of cost-of-living escalator clauses contained in contracts executed on or before January 25, 1951. General increases agreed upon after January 25, 1951, together with cost-of-living escalator clause increases shall not exceed the 10 per cent formula provided in section 1 of General Regulation No. 6 (16 F. R. 1951).

SEC. 3. Reports of increases made under this Regulation required. Reports of increases made under this regulation shall be filed with the nearest office of the Wage and Hour Division of the United States Department of Labor. Such reports shall include:

(a) Copies of the agreements containing the cost-of-living clauses, unless such copies have been filed with the Wage Stabilization Board under General Regulation No. 2 (16 F. R. 1014).

(b) An identification of the cost-of-living escalator clause in the agreement.

(c) A statement of the amount of the increase and the unit of employees to which it is applicable.

(d) A statement of any increases applicable to the same wages, salaries and other compensation that have been put into effect under General Regulation No. 6 by virtue of any agreement executed after January 25, 1951.

SEC. 4. Time limitation on increases. No increase herein authorized shall be made effective subsequent to June 30, 1951.

This regulation shall be effective immediately and shall terminate June 30, 1951. All other orders and directives of the Wage Stabilization Board and the Economic Stabilization Administrator including General Order No. 3 of January 24, 1951 (16 F. R. 739) are hereby superseded to the extent that they are inconsistent herewith.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued: March 1, 1951.

ERIC JOHNSTON,
Economic Stabilization Administrator.

[NPA Order M-22, Amendment]

ALUMINUM

This amendment to NPA Order M-22, as amended January 23, 1951, is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all trades and industries affected in advance of the issuance of this order has been rendered impracticable due to the necessity for immediate action and because the order affects a large number of different trades and industries.

This amendment affects NPA Order M-22, as amended, as follows:

By deleting section 26.63—List A entitled "Aluminum smelters," and section 26.64—List B entitled "Aluminum fabricators," and substituting therefor, respectively, the List A and List B attached to this amendment.

This order, as amended, shall take effect on March 1, 1951.

8. Records, audit, inspection, and reports
9. Violations

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 9 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order applies particularly to producers of insect wire screening and provides rules for placing and accepting rated orders therefor. Its purpose is to provide equitable distribution of rated orders among all such producers in order to make possible maximum production of such screening and to reduce to a minimum disruption of its normal distribution. It supplements NPA Reg. 2 but only those provisions of Reg. 2 which are inconsistent with this order are superseded, and all other provisions of Reg. 2 continue to apply to the insect wire screen industry.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons and includes agencies of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Producer" means any person engaged in the business of weaving wire into insect wire screening.

(c) "Wire screening" means a fiber woven from wire used primarily as a barrier against insects.

SEC. 3. Required shipment dates. A rated order for insect wire screening must specify shipment on a particular date or in a particular month, which in no case may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. The producer of insect wire screening must schedule the order for shipment within the requested month as close to the requested shipment date as is practicable considering the need for maximum production.

SEC. 4. Rejection of rated orders. Unless specifically directed to do so by the National Production Authority, a producer of insect wire screening need not accept a rated order:

(a) That is received less than 15 days prior to the first day of the month in which shipment is required.

(b) That is for shipment in any one month in excess of 10 percent of his scheduled production of insect wire screening in that month.

SEC. 5. NPA assistance is placing rated orders. Any person who is unable to place a rated order for insect wire screening due to the limitation imposed by section 4 of this order should apply to the National Production Authority, Ref.: M-42, specifying the producers who refused to accept the order. The National Production Authority will arrange to assist him in locating other sources of supply.

SEC. 6. Adjustments or exceptions. Any person affected by any provisions of this order may file with the National Production Authority a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment which claim that the public is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order consideration will be given to the requirements of public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each such request shall be in writing and shall set forth the pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 7. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: M-42.

SEC. 8. Records, audit, inspection, and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least 2 years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction whether the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of originals.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained, for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 9. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order shall become effective on March 2, 1951.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order applies particularly to producers of construction machinery and equipment, as hereinafter defined, and provides rules for placing, accepting, and scheduling rated orders for such machinery and equipment. The purpose of this order is to provide for equitable distribution of such rated orders among producers, in order to reduce to a minimum the disruption of normal distribution. This order affects Reg. 2 of National Production Authority (hereinafter referred to as "NPA") as hereinafter set out.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Construction machinery" means any type of construction machinery and equipment as listed and described in List A hereto attached and made a part of this order, and includes parts of such machinery or equipment.

SEC. 6. Effect of this order on NPA Reg. 2. To the extent that the provisions of this order, and particularly the provisions of sections 4 and 5 hereof, are in conflict with the provisions of NPA Reg. 2, the provisions of this order shall prevail. Otherwise, the provisions of said Reg. 2 shall continue to apply to the construction machinery industry.

SEC. 7. NPA assistance in placing rated orders. Any person who is unable to place a rated order for construction machinery due to the limitation imposed by section 5 of this order should apply to NPA, Machinery Division, Ref.: M-43, specifying the producers who refused to accept the order. NPA will arrange to assist him in locating sources of supply.

SEC. 8. Scheduled programs. NPA may from time to time approve scheduled programs calling for the production and delivery of one or more types of construction machinery over specified periods of time. Upon approval of any such program, a supplement or supplements to this order will be issued, describing the program and specifying the manner in which it shall be carried out by persons affected thereby.

SEC. 9. Adjustments and exceptions. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file with NPA a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each such request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts, and the nature of the relief sought and the justification therefor.

SEC. 10. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: M-43.

SEC. 11. Records, audit, inspection, and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least 2 years records of receipts, deliveries, inventores, and use, in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of NPA.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 12. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of NPA or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order shall take effect on March 2, 1951.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 8 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title I, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR 1950 Supp., E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61, E. O. 10219, Mar. 2, 1951, 16 F. R. 1983.

SECTION 1. Port terminal storage and handling of bulk grain; permit required. Notwithstanding any contract, or other commitment, express or implied, no person operating any port terminal warehouse shall store or handle in bulk at such warehouse any grain unless a grain port handling permit for such grain has been issued by the Defense Transport Administration authorizing such storage or handling, provided, that, no such permit shall be required for the storage or handling of grain covered by a transportation permit issued prior to the date of publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER by Interstate Commerce Commission service agents pursuant to its Service Order No. 872, as amended (15 F. R. 9242; 16 F. R. 1549), or by the operator of a port terminal warehouse: Provided, that such grain is loaded for movement to the port terminal warehouse within seven days after such publication.

SEC. 2. Issuance of permits, period effective. (a) Grain port handling permits will be issued by the Defense Transport Administration upon recommendations of the United States Department of Agriculture based upon (1) the relative needs of the countries of destination for the grain, (2) the availability of grain for the proposed movement, (3) the availability of shipping space, (4) the availability of transportation facilities, and (5) the availability of port terminal warehouse space. Preferred consideration will be given to applications relating to firm contracts and commitments made prior to the date of this order to the extent possible consistent with the attainment of the objectives of this order so as to minimize the impact of this order on persons having such contracts and commitments.

(b) A grain port handling permit may be issued by the Defense Transport Administration upon the application of any port terminal warehouse operator authorizing him to store or handle, at any port terminal warehouse operated by him, to such extent and for such time as may be specified in the permit, grain which, at the time of its receipt at the warehouse, is intended for domestic sale or use. Such permits will be issued upon recommendations of United States Department of Agriculture based upon (1) the need for use of the warehouse facilities for grain for export, (2) availability of other warehouse space, within the normal marketing area, for the grain proposed to be stored or handled under the permit sought, (3) the extent to which the port terminal warehouse normally has been used for storage or handling of grain for domestic sale or use, and (4) the period for which the permit is requested.

(c) Each permit shall be effective only for the period specified therein but may be extended for an additional period upon request of the holder and recommendation of the United States Department of Agriculture.

SEC. 3. Applications for permits. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, applications for grain port handling permits shall be made to the Director, Transportation and Warehousing Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., by the person proposing to export grain and shall contain the following information to the extent it is available to the applicant:

(1) Applicant's name and address;

(2) Location and name of each port terminal warehouse with respect to which the permit is sought;

(b) Applications for grain port handling permits for the storage and handling of grain intended for domestic sale or use shall be made to the Director, Transportation and Warehousing Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., by the operator of any port terminal warehouse and shall contain the following information:

(1) Applicant's name and address;

(2) Location and name of the port terminal warehouse with respect to which the permit is sought;

(3) Quantity, kind, and class of grain for which permit is sought;

(4) Point or points or areas of origin of the grain with respect to which the permit is sought;

(5) The extent to which the port terminal warehouse for which permit is sought normally has been used for storage and handling of grain for domestic sale or use;

(6) The period of time during which applicant desires to store and handle grain under the permit;

(7) Any other pertinent supplemental information requested by the Director, Transportation and Warehousing Branch.

(c) Applications for extensions of the expiration dates of permits shall also be made to the Director, Transportation and Warehousing Branch, and shall contain a full statement of the reasons necessitating such extensions.

SEC. 4. Records, reports and investigations. (a) Every person subject to this order shall prepare and preserve for not less than two years accurate records showing information of the type indicated in paragraphs (a) and (b) of section 3 hereof with respect to each lot of grain accepted for storage or handling in bulk at each port terminal warehouse operated by him and shall prepare and maintain such other records, and make such reports, as the Defense Transport Administration may prescribe.

(b) The Defense Transport Administration may obtain by investigation and interviews such information from, and make such inspection of the books, records and other writings, premises or property, and take the sworn testimony, of any person as may be necessary or appropriate, in the discretion of the Administrator, to the enforcement or administration of this order and the provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950 pertinent thereto.

Petitions shall be in writing and set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of relief sought, and justification therefor. As soon as possible after receipt of such petition the United States Department of Agriculture shall furnish the Administrator with its recommendation concerning the petition. PART 72—INTERSTATE QUARANTINE

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Further implementing the provisions of section 361 of the Public Health Service Act, 58 Stat. 703; 42 U. S. C. 264, this part is amended as indicated below for the purpose of preventing the spread of communicable diseases from one State or possession to another insofar as the danger of such spread arises from sanitary conditions on conveyances and in servicing areas and from the food (including milk) and water handled, served, or provided therein. Notice of proposed rule making in connection with the amendments herein set forth was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 10, 1951 (16 F. R. 258).

1. Section 72.101 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.101 Water for drinking and culinary purposes; general requirement. Only potable water shall be provided for drinking and culinary purposes by any operator of a conveyance engaged in interstate traffic, except as provided in § 72.115 (b). Such water shall either have been obtained from watering points approved by the Surgeon General, or, if treated aboard a conveyance, shall have been subjected to treatment approved by the Surgeon General.

2. Paragraph (a) of § 72.103 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.103 Approval of treatment aboard conveyances. (a) The treatment of water aboard conveyances shall be approved by the Surgeon General if the apparatus used is of such design and is so operated as to be capable of producing and in fact does produce, potable water.

3. Paragraph (c) of § 72.113 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.113 Potable water systems. • • •

(c) Each potable water tank shall be provided with a means of drainage and, if it is equipped with a manhole, overflow, vent, or a device for measuring depth of water, provision shall be made to prevent entrance into the tank of any contaminating substance. No deck or sanitary drain or pipe carrying any nonpotable water or liquid shall be permitted to pass through the tank.

4. Paragraph (a) of § 72.117 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.117 Drinking fountains and coolers; ice; constant temperature bottles (a) Drinking fountains and coolers shall be constructed of impervious, nonoxidizing material, and shall be so designed and constructed as to be easily cleaned. The jet of a drinking fountain shall be slanting and the orifice of the jet shall be protected by a guard in such a manner as to prevent contamination thereof by droppings from the mouth. The orifice of such a jet shall be located a sufficient distance above the rim of the basin to prevent backflow.

5. Section 72.135 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.135 Drainage. All platforms and other places at which water or food supplies are loaded onto or removed from conveyances shall be adequately drained so as to prevent pooling.

6. Section 72.137 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.137 Water equipment; outlets for nonpotable water. Outlets for nonpotable water shall be provided with fittings different from those provided for outlets for potable water and each nonpotable water outlet shall be posted with permanent signs warning that the water is unfit for drinking.

7. Section 72.138 is deleted.

8. Section 72.140 (c) is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.140 Employee conveniences. • • •

(c) Drinking fountains and coolers shall be constructed of impervious, nonoxidizing material, and shall be so designed and constructed as to be easily cleaned. The jet of a drinking fountain shall be slanting and the orifice of the jet shall be protected by a guard in such a manner as to prevent contamination thereof by droppings from the mouth. 9. Section 72.141 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.141 Disposal of human wastes. (a) At servicing areas and at stations where land and air conveyances are occupied by passengers the operations shall be so conducted as to avoid contamination of such areas and stations by human wastes.

(b) Toilet wastes shall be disposed of through sanitary sewers or by other methods assuring sanitary disposal of such wastes. All soil cans and removable containers shall be thoroughly cleaned before being returned to use. Equipment for cleaning such containers and for flushing nonremovable containers and waste carts shall be so designed as to prevent backflow into the water line, and such equipment shall be used for no purpose connected with the handling of food, water or ice.

(c) All persons who have handled soil cans or other containers which have come in contact with human wastes shall be required to wash their hands thoroughly with soap and warm water and to remove any garments which have become soiled with such wastes before engaging in any work connected with the loading, unloading, transporting or other handling of food, water or ice.

10. Section 72.147 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.147 Submittal of construction plans. Plans for the construction or major reconstruction of sanitary equipment or facilities for such conveyances shall be submitted to the Surgeon General for review of the conformity of such plans with the requirements of this subpart, except that submittal of plans shall not be required for any conveyance under reconstruction if the owner or operator thereof has made arrangements satisfactory to the Surgeon General for inspections of such conveyances while under reconstruction for the purpose of determining conformity with those requirements.

§ 72.150 Toilet and lavatory facilities. (a) Where toilet and lavatory facilities are provided on conveyances they shall be so designed as to permit ready cleaning. On conveyances not equipped with retention facilities, toilet hoppers shall be of such design and so located as to prevent spattering of water filling pipes or hydrants.

13. Paragraph (c) of § 72.151 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.151 Railway conveyances; food-handling facilities. • • •

(c) Lavatory facilities for the use of the dining car crew shall be provided on each dining car. Such facilities shall be conveniently located and used for hand and face washing only: Provided, however, That where the kitchen and pantry on a dining car hereafter constructed or reconstructed are so partitioned or separated as to impede free passage between them, lavatory facilities shall be provided in both the kitchen and the pantry.

14. Section 72.154 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.154 Railroad conveyances; discharge of wastes. (a) There shall be no discharge of excrement, garbage, waste water or other polluting material from any land conveyance while such conveyance is passing over areas designated by the Surgeon General.

§ 72.164 Source of food and drink; identification and inspection. (a) Operators of conveyances shall identify, when requested by the Surgeon General, the vendors, distributors or dealers from whom they have acquired or are acquiring their food supply, including milk, fluid milk products, ice cream and other frozen desserts, butter, cheese, bottled water, sandwiches and box lunches.

18. Section 72.165 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.165 Special food requirements. Milk, fluid milk products, ice cream and other frozen desserts, butter, cheese, and shellfish served or sold on conveyances shall conform to the following requirements:

(a) Milk and fluid milk products, including cream, buttermilk, skim milk, milk beverages, and reconstituted milk, shall be pasteurized and obtained from a source of supply approved by the Surgeon General. The Surgeon General shall approve any source of supply at or from which milk or fluid milk products are produced, processed, and distributed so as to prevent the introduction, transmission, or spread of communicable diseases. If a source of supply of milk or fluid milk products has not been approved, the Surgeon General may permit its temporary use under such conditions as, in his judgment, are necessary to prevent the introduction, transmission, or spread of communicable diseases. Containers of milk and fluid milk products shall be plainly labeled to show the contents, the word "pasteurized", and the identity of the plant at which the contents were packaged by name and address, provided that a code may be used in lieu of address.

(b) Ice cream, other frozen desserts, and butter shall be manufactured from milk or milk products that have been pasteurized or subjected to equivalent heat treatment.

(c) Cheese shall be (1) pasteurized or subjected to equivalent heat treatment, (2) made from pasteurized milk products or from milk products which have been subjected to equivalent heat treatment, or (3) cured for not less than 60 days at a temperature not less than 35° F.

(d) Milk, buttermilk, and milk beverages shall be served in or from the original individual containers in which received from the distributor, or from a bulk container equipped with a dispensing device so designed, constructed, installed, and maintained as to prevent the transmission of communicable diseases.

(f) Shucked shellfish shall be purchased in the containers in which they are placed at the shucking plant and shall be kept therein until used. The State abbreviation and the certificate number of the packers shall be permanently recorded on the container.

19. Section 72.167 is revised to read as follows:

§ 72.167 Ice; source and handling. Ice coming in contact with food or drink and not manufactured on the conveyance shall be obtained from sources approved by competent health authorities. PART 1—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

REPORT OF INTERNATIONAL TELEGRAPH TRAFFIC

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 21st day of February 1951;

The Commission, having under consideration the provisions of its Order No. 85, adopted August 18, 1941, and revised by the Commission on February 16, 1944, relating to Report of International Telegraph Traffic (see §§ 1.347 and 1.557 (a) of the Commission's rules and regulations), wherein it is required that each common carrier subject to the Communications Act engaged in international telegraph communication shall file with the Commission semiannual reports containing data with respect to traffic handled during the periods January 1 through June 30 and July 1 through December 31 of each year;

It appearing, that a revision of this order whereby the second of the two semiannual reports would contain data for the entire year, instead of for the period July 1 through December 31, would better serve the Commission's purpose and be more conducive to an efficient conduct of its duties;

It further appearing, that the proposed revision relates to information which common carriers engaged in international telegraph communications are required to maintain and file with the Commission; that every carrier affected by the proposed revision has been given actual notice thereof and an opportunity to comment thereon; that no carrier has raised any objection with respect thereto; and that, therefore, general notice of rule making in accordance with section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedures Act is unnecessary;

It further appearing, that the next report required by Order No. 85 which is to be filed on or before May 1, 1951, will be in preparation in the immediate future; and that it would be of assistance to the Commission to have such report contain data for the entire calendar year of 1950:

It is ordered, That, effective immediately, the fourth decretal paragraph of Order No. 85 is changed to read as follows:

It is further ordered, That until further order of the Commission the information required in the above ordering paragraphs shall be filed with the Commission twice each year on forms furnished by the Commission and in accordance with the instructions set forth therein as follows:

(a) The response for the period January to June inclusive of each year shall be filed on or before November 1 of the same year; and

(b) The response for the period January to December inclusive of each year shall be filed on or before May 1 of the following year.

PART 9—AERONAUTICAL SERVICES

FREQUENCIES AVAILABLE

At the session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 21st day of February 1951;

The Commission having under consideration the matter of amending § 9.912 of its rules governing aeronautical services in order to make available the frequency 4585 kc., 0.1A1 and 6A3 emission for assignment to land and mobile stations of the Civil Air Patrol; and

It appearing, that the Commission has been requested to authorize the aforesaid frequency to such stations; and

It further appearing, that the frequency 4585 kc., is a government frequency and that the interested government agencies have no objection to its utilization by the Civil Air Patrol; and

It further appearing, that because of the nature of this amendment, a notice of proposed rule making and public procedure thereon are both unnecessary and impracticable, and this amendment may be made effective immediately since it relieves a restriction existing under the present provisions by making a new frequency available for assignment; and

It further appearing, that the public interest will be served by this amendment and that the authority therefor is contained in sections 4 (i), 303 (c) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended:

It is ordered, That effective immediately, § 9.912 of the Commission's rules governing aeronautical services is amended to read as follows:

HANDLING OF MILK IN LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY, MILK MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held at the Seelbach Hotel, Louisville, Kentucky, beginning at 9:30 a. m., c. s. t., March 9, 1951, for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to emergency and other economic conditions which relate to the handling of milk in the Louisville, Kentucky, marketing area and to the proposed amendments hereinafter set forth, or appropriate modifications thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement heretofore approved by the Secretary of Agriculture and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Louisville, Kentucky, marketing area (7 CFR 946 et seq.). These proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Amendments to the Order (No. 46), as amended, for the Louisville, Kentucky, milk marketing area were proposed, as enumerated below. These proposals raise the issue as to whether the provisions of the present order tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act in light of present economic conditions affecting the marketing of milk in the Louisville, Kentucky, marketing area, and, if not, what modifications of the classification, pricing and payment provisions of the order, as amended, are appropriate to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

By the Falls Cities Cooperative Milk Producers' Association, Inc.:

1. Amend § 946.3 by amending any or all of the paragraphs and subparagraphs (including the deletion of any part thereof) so as to provide for the classification or reclassification or the combination of classifications in a manner which will result in a more equitable and proper application of prices to the utilization of the receipts of milk from producers.

2. Amend § 946.4 by amending any or all paragraphs and subparagraphs (including the deletion of any part thereof) in a manner which will provide for the fixing, or provide a method for fixing, minimum prices which all handlers shall pay for each use classification, on an equitable and proper basis, and at a level which will insure a sufficient quantity of milk to meet the demands of the market and will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act, as amended.

3. Review the applicable provision of the order dealing with the determination of uniform prices to producers and payments to producers for milk and particularly with respect to the fall production premium plan.

4. To make such other changes, amendments or deletions as may be required to make the entire marketing agreement and order conform with any provisions of amendments that may result from the hearing.

Copies of this notice of hearing and of the order, as amended, now in effect, may be procured from the Market Administrator, 1235 Starks Building, Louisville 2, Kentucky, or from the Hearing Clerk, Room 1353, South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., or may be there inspected.

4. Delete § 977.1 (k) (2) and substitute therefor the following:

(c) In the event any handler receives other source milk which is allocated to Class I milk pursuant to § 977.4 (e) such handler shall pay producers through the producer-settlement fund, an amount computed by multiplying the quantity of such other source milk allocated to Class I milk by the difference between the Class I and Class II price adjusted by the butterfat differential to handlers.

7. Amend § 977.6 by adding a new paragraph to read as follows:

(d) Handlers of non-pool plants shall make reports to the market administrator, with respect to his total receipts and utilization of skim milk and butterfat, at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may request. Handlers subject to provisions of other orders. If any handler of milk subject to the provisions of this order is also subject to any of the provisions of any other milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act in such a way as to result in an apparent conflict or duplication of obligations the Secretary may, upon request in writing by the affected handler or upon his own initiative, determine and notify the handler and the respective market administrators as to the manner and extent to which provisions of each such order apply to the handler and to such handling. The determination shall be subject to review and to modification at any time. Such request if filed by the handler, shall state specifically what the conflict is, the order provisions involved and shall include a recommended determination, the reasons therefor and all relevant facts in support thereof. In making such determination the Secretary will seek to preserve the intent of each of the respective orders, maintain stability in each market within the framework of each order and will provide for the application of the respective order provisions in such a way as to avoid a duplication of obligations, insofar as possible, consistent with such standards.

11. Renumber the sections, paragraphs, subparagraphs, and subdivisions of the order in accordance with the revised FEDERAL REGISTER procedure.

B. To what extent will the proposed services unduly prefer points offered service and unduly prejudice other points on National's (or Eastern's) routes for which service is not offered?

IV. Will the proposed fares alone or in combination with the other services debase the general fare level for air transportation?

V. Are the proposed fares alone or in their various combinations consistent with existing Board policy?

VI. To the extent, if any, that the fares, rules and regulations under investigation in this proceeding are or will be unjust or unreasonable, or unjustly discriminatory, or unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, what are the lawful fares which the Board should determine and prescribe?

INSTRUCTION BOOKS FOR FORMS FOR COMPANIES MAKING CERTAIN ANNUAL REPORTS

The Securities and Exchange Commission, acting pursuant to authority conferred upon it by the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly sections 13 and 23 (a) thereof, and deeming such action necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors, and necessary for the execution of the functions vested in it by the said act, hereby amends paragraph 3 under the caption "Instructions as to Exhibits" in the Instruction Books for Forms 12–K (17 CFR 249.312) and 12A–K (17 CFR 249.312a) to read as follows:

3. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph 1, above, any registrant filing a copy of Form A may, if it so desires, leave blank any or all pages, schedules or items of the form except the following:

Schedules 101; 102; 103; 104A; 104B; 108; 109; 110; 200A; 200L; lines 40, 49, 57, 58, 59 and 60 of 211; 211A; 211B; 211C, 211D; 211E; 211F; 212; 213; 213A; 213B; 215; 217; 218; 222; 223; 224; 251; 251A; 252; 261E; 261I; 261M; 261P; 263; line 42 of 275; 281A; 287; 291; 292; 293; 295; 300; 305; 308; 310; lines 67, 68, 69, 100; 101, 102, 115, 167, 177, 192, 193, and 194 of 320; line 216 of 320A; 320B; 320C; 320D; 320E; 320F; 321; 350; 371; 371A; 376; 377; 383; 383A; 384; 396; 412; 422; classes 900, 910, 920, 930, 940, 950, 960, 970, and 980, of 541; divisions 1, 2, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 808, 809, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910 and 950, of 561; 561C; 562; 563; 581, 591; and verification. If annual reports to stockholders are not published, that fact should be stated.

All applicable instructions of the Interstate Commerce Commission shall be followed in filling out the various schedules subject to the provisions of paragraph 4 below.

Since the foregoing amendment merely continues a privilege heretofore granted to issuers reporting on Forms 12–K and 12A–K and such issuers are already familiar with the substance of such amendments and are not materially or adversely affected thereby, the Commission finds that the giving of notice and the institution of public rule-making procedure pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act are unnecessary. Since the adoption of the amendment is for the benefit of such issuers, and as they may desire to avail themselves of the privilege granted thereby, the amendment shall become effective February 27, 1950.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

[Ceiling Price Regulation 8]

CPR 8—AMERICAN UPLAND COTTON

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Ceiling Price Regulation 8 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Why this regulation is necessary. The farm price of raw cotton has, since the Korean outbreak, risen from 29.91 cents per pound in June 1950 to 41.31 cents in January 1951, a rise of almost 40 percent. Conferences with various groups found virtually unanimous opinion that, until the size of the new crop is established, the price could rise substantially above present levels if cotton were uncontrolled. Such a rise in the price of raw cotton would put strong upward pressure on the ceiling prices of cotton textiles and hence on cotton clothing and on such basic items as sheets and towels—a basic part of the cost of living. To permit this would mean, not stabilization, but inflation.

Raw cotton is currently in very tight supply. The 1950–51 crop was just under 10 million bales, about 6 million less than in the previous year. Even though the carryover was substantial, amounting to 6.8 million bales, the total indicated supply of about 16.8 million bales for the current crop year is insufficient to meet both domestic and foreign demands. Consequently, it has been necessary for the Department of Agriculture to impose export quotas, which thus far limits total exports to an estimated 4 million bales in the current crop year. This was done to insure that estimated domestic requirements of about 10.5 million bales will be met in full, and that there will be a minimum carryover of at least 2.3 million bales, the lowest in twenty-five years.

The type of control established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation is not suited to cotton. Raw cotton is a commodity sold on the basis of grade and staple length. Under the general freeze, raw cotton was exempted when sold by producers, since a freeze order at the farm level would be meaningless, but it was controlled when sold by merchants and other dealers in cotton. The general order established individual sellers' ceilings determined by their deliveries in the base period. Thus, for the same grade and staple, sellers in the same market could have different ceiling prices. This would permit the seller with the higher ceiling price to bid away the available supply in the hands of producers from the seller with the lower ceiling price and would thus disrupt normal channels of marketing and distribution. This ceiling regulation for cotton is being issued to permit normal trading patterns to be re-established.

The structure of ceiling prices. This regulation establishes ceiling prices for American upland cotton in mixed or odd lots, by grade and staple and by location for every seller including producers. The geographic structure of these ceilings is identical with that used by the Commodity Credit Corporation for its cotton loan program. These ceilings also govern future transactions on the commodity exchanges.

Thus the ceiling price for White and Extra White Middling $^{15}/_{16}$ inch in Area 1 (comprising parts of the Carolinas) is 45.76 cents per pound. This price was derived from the highest average price of 45.14 cents reported in the ten spot markets during the base period December 19,1950–January 25, 1951, plus the average freight differential of 0.62 cent ($0.0062) per pound between the ten spot markets and Area 1. For any other grade and staple of cotton sold in Area 1, appropriate premiums and discounts are specified. These premiums and discounts are market quotations for January 25, 1951, and are arrived at in the same way as the Commodity Credit Corporation's loan differentials.

In any other area, the ceiling prices for the same grade and staple will be less than in Area 1 generally by the cost of the freight to Area 1. Area 1, besides being a region where cotton is grown, has the most important concentration of cotton textile mills in the country. Cotton is shipped into Area 1 from all parts of the Cotton Belt. Hence, for cotton to be shipped on a competitive basis into Area 1, its price at point of origin must in general be less than the price in Area 1 by the amount of transportation costs.

In addition, the regulation fixes ceiling prices for cotton landed at the mills in even running lots. After cotton is purchased in mixed lots by shippers, it must be sorted into lots containing bales of uniform grade and staple, compressed, and shipped. The regulation provides shippers' margins to be added to the ceiling prices for cotton in Area 1 for shipment to mills in the area generally known as Group B mills, which differs somewhat from Area 1. These margins were obtained from the reported spreads on January 25, 1951, between the price of cotton in mixed lots in warehouse uncompressed at Memphis and the price of the same cotton landed at Group B mill points. Since these spreads include freight cost, they were reduced by the average freight differential between the ten spot markets and Area 1 since freight is already allowed in Area 1 ceilings. This method of calculation yielded a somewhat higher shippers' margin than if the freight from Memphis to Group B mill points were deducted. Memphis prices were chosen because the range of price data available there was greater than for any other reporting market. The data for Group B landed prices are available only for the most important grades and in the staples, $^{15}/_{16}$ through $1^{1}/_{4}$ inch. For the other grades and staples, the shippers' margins were calculated by raising the shippers' margins published by the Office of Price Administration on January 14, 1946, to preserve approximately the same relationships between the spreads for which current data are available and for those for which data are unavailable as existed in the table of shippers' margins published in 1946. If it should develop that these margins calculated in this way are not fully representative of present conditions, the Director of Price Stabilization stands ready to make appropriate changes.

If a mill is located in any area other than the Group B mill area, the landed price for cotton is the Group B mill landed price adjusted for the freight differential in shipping the cotton. The regulation specifies the appropriate differential or the method of calculating this differential.

Export ceiling prices are also established in this regulation. The export ceiling prices are determined by taking the appropriate ceiling price for cotton when sold in mixed or odd lots, adding the shippers' margin and the actual cost of transportation to the shippers' point of delivery plus an allowance for the cost of high density compression when not already included in the freight cost.

The agricultural provisions of the act. Under the Defense Production Act of 1950, no ceiling for any agricultural commodity can be established at less than parity or the highest price prevailing in the period, May 24, 1950–June 24, 1950. The current parity price for raw cotton is 33.11 cents per pound and the highest farm price prevailing in the designated period was 32.37 cents per pound.

On January 15, 1951, the farm price was 41.31 cents per pound and 125 percent of parity. Since ceiling prices in this regulation are based on the highest market prices prevailing in the period, December 19, 1950–January 25, 1951, it is clear that the ceiling prices will reflect to farmers a level of prices well above the "legal minima."

The goal of maximum production. It is in the national interest to encourage the largest possible cotton crop this year. To this end, the Department of Agriculture has relaxed all limitations on the planting of cotton and has urged cotton farmers to plant sufficient acreage to produce a minimum of 16 million bales for the 1951 crop. The Director of Price Stabilization has been very conscious of the need to fix a ceiling price for raw cotton high enough to provide ample inducement to the farmer to achieve this goal. Discussions with people concerned with cotton indicate that the price of cotton prevailing in the base period, December 19, 1950–January 25, 1951, is high enough to provide such inducement. These prices set a record high in terms of cents per pound; and in terms of parity, there were only five months out of the previous twenty-five years in which the farm price reached 125 percent of parity or higher. During that period, there were four years in which the crop was 16 million bales or higher.

In formulating this regulation the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with representatives of industry to the extent practicable under the circumstances, and has given consideration to their recommendations.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the ceiling prices established by this regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

4. In other mill areas: To the mixed lot price at point of origin, as determined from Tables I and II in section 2 add the appropriate differential in section 3, Table III, and the seller's actual transportation cost.

5. There is no differential for Group B. Group B is that area designated as Group 201 in railroad tariffs on file with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

SEC. 4. Ceilings for exports. If you export cotton from the continental United States, your ceiling prices for such cotton shall be computed by adding to the mixed lot prices at point of origin, as determined from Tables I and II in section 2, the differentials set forth in section 3, Table III, and the sellers' actual transportation cost (plus the cost of high density compression if not already included in the freight rate).

SEC. 5. Prohibitions. On and after March 5, 1951, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or other commitment or obligation, you shall not sell or deliver or offer to sell or deliver American upland cotton and you shall not buy or accept delivery of any American upland cotton at a price exceeding the ceiling prices permitted by this regulation, and you shall not enter into any contract to buy, sell, or deliver American upland cotton in the future at a price exceeding the ceiling prices permitted by this regulation. Lower prices than those set forth in this regulation may, of course, be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

SEC. 6. Records. You must preserve and keep available for examination by the Director of Price Stabilization for a period of two years, a complete and accurate record of every purchase, sale or exchange of cotton covered by this regulation, including the names of the persons involved, the date of the purchase or sale or exchange, the price, the quality, and the grade and staple of the cotton so purchased, sold or exchanged. Any person who grows no more than ten bales of cotton per crop is exempt with respect to such cotton from this record-keeping requirement.

SEC. 7. Evasion. You shall not evade or circumvent the provisions of this regulation by direct or indirect methods in connection with the sale, purchase, delivery, or transfer of cotton, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by up-grading, tying-agreement, trade understanding or otherwise.

SEC. 8. Enforcement. If you violate any provision of this regulation you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950.

SEC. 9. Petitions for amendment. If you wish to have this regulation amended, you may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation 1 (15 F. R. 9055).

Effective date. This regulation is effective immediately.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 9]

GCPR, SR 9—EXEMPTION OF SALES AND DELIVERIES OF EXPORTED COMMODITIES UNDER EXISTING CONTRACTS

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Director of Price Stabilization by the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.) Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation No. 9 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

There are a number of considerations which indicate why the contracts for export sales of merchant exporters should be permitted to be fulfilled at the contract price.

There is an extra time lag between contract date and delivery in the case of exports, which does not obtain for purely domestic transactions, due to special packaging, shipping arrangements, and license clearances. In many cases exporters find that the ceiling prices of their suppliers are higher than their own ceilings. Exporters customarily operate at a smaller margin over invoice costs than is true of domestic distributors and wholesalers. Merchant exporters have in some instances been required to make part payments for export sales, particularly involving special purpose equipment for use abroad and not readily saleable here. If exporters declined to ship on contracts because of the lower price required by the ceiling regulation, the purchasers abroad unfamiliar with the price impact of the regulations might believe there was an effort to avoid any supply of the article, all to the detriment of the Nation's foreign trade and reputation for honoring international contracts, and perhaps to foreign relations in a larger sense. Delay in delivery on existing contracts for export sales pending issuance of tailored regulations, may jeopardize the transactions due to the difficulties of renewing letters of credit and governmental licenses. Cancellation of export contracts would have an unfortunate impact, contrary to the overall national interests.

On the other hand, maintenance of existing export contracts for export sales has no inflationary impact within the United States, and furthermore the policy of the Office of Price Stabilization that exports generally are governed by price ceilings is maintained in this case. The Regulations make it clear that the merchant exporters are required to observe domestic ceilings on their purchases.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. Applicability of supplementary regulation.
2. Definitions.
3. Execution of contract.
4. Preservation of records.
5. GCPR governs all other transactions.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 5 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. Applicability of supplementary regulation. This supplementary regulation grants authority, as provided in section 3, to merchant exporters to fulfill written contracts for export sales made prior to January 26 when the General Ceiling Price Regulation was issued and authority to merchant exporters to fulfill contracts for export sales made between January 26 and February 2 which were based on firm written offers made by merchant exporters prior to January 26. This authority is not granted to a producer exporter.

SEC. 2. Definitions. When used in this regulation, the term:

(a) "Merchant exporter" means any person, firm, corporation or other legal entity which purchases a commodity or commodities from a supplier, takes title to same and resells to a foreign buyer.

(b) "Producer exporter" means a manufacturer or prime producer of the commodity to be exported, or a wholly owned subsidiary corporation of the manufacturer or prime producer, which sells or delivers to a foreign buyer.

(c) "Export sale" is a sale to a person located outside the continental United States, its territories or possessions, by a seller who invoices it and who directly or through the seller's or the buyer's agent effects delivery to a carrier for transportation from the continental United States, its territories or possessions, to a point outside thereof, regardless of whether the invoicing is done within or outside the continental United States, its territories or possessions, by the seller or his agent.

All definitions used in the General Ceiling Price Regulation issued by the Director on January 26, 1951, which are pertinent to this supplementary regulation, are incorporated in this supplementary regulation by this reference, except those which are more particularly defined and used herein.

SEC. 3. Execution of contract. If a written contract for an export sale (including exchange of written or cabled offers and acceptance) was entered into by a merchant exporter having an office or place of business in the United States, on or before January 26, 1951—or on or before February 2, 1951, but pursuant to a firm written offer for an export sale made by the merchant exporter on or before January 26, 1951—and such contract provides for delivery to a foreign buyer, such delivery may be made pursuant thereto at the contract price, provided the price paid by the merchant exporter acquiring the commodity does not exceed the applicable ceiling price of the supplier.

SEC. 4 Preservation of records. All merchant exporters making shipments in accordance with section 3 of this order, will preserve for examination by the Office of Price Stabilization all documents and records which will substantiate that each such transaction complied fully with the requirements as set forth in section 3 of this order.

SEC. 5. GCPR governs all other transactions. Deliveries by a producer exporter are not within the scope of this supplementary regulation. Deliveries pursuant to this supplementary regulation shall not establish a ceiling price for any commodity or any merchant exporter or relieve any merchant exporter from compliance with the General Ceiling Price Regulation except as specifically set out herein.

Effective date. This Supplementary Regulation No. 9 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is effective March 5, 1951.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 10]

GCPR, SR 10—TEXAS CITRUS JUICES; EMERGENCY ADJUSTMENT

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation 10 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 808) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This Supplementary Regulation 10 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is issued to provide emergency relief for processors and canners of citrus juice in Texas who processed or canned grapefruit juice, orange juice, and/or grapefruit-orange juice blend during the period January 29, 1951, to March 1, 1951, from oranges and grapefruit harvested during this period from the citrus fruit growing areas of Texas affected by the freezing weather conditions of January 29, 1951, through February 3, 1951.

The Rio Grande Valley of Texas, the citrus producing area of that state, experienced a heavy freeze in late January and early February 1951. The Director of Price Stabilization has been advised that this freeze may well prove to be one of the most disastrous in the history of the American citrus industry. Temperatures in the Rio Grande Valley were below freezing for five consecutive days, and surveys have indicated that none of the citrus fruit in the freeze area could qualify for the fresh market, and that the only outlet for this crop were the processors and canners of citrus juice.

The Texas processors and canners of citrus juice found that in canning juice from fruit affected by the freeze, they were confronted with an extraordinary salvage operation rather than a normal canning procedure. The frozen fruit was soft, had to be packed specially in bags and boxes, and had to be transported to the canneries in containers rather than in loose truckloads. At the canneries a more careful inspection than normal was required, and the percentage of fruit rejected because of spoilage was heavier than usual. As a result of freezing there was considerable dehydration of the fruit which reduced the yield from a normal of twenty-seven cases of No. 2 cans per ton to nineteen cases or less per ton. Because of the emergency nature of the salvaging operations, labor charges were higher than normal as also were warehouse, hauling, and insurance costs.

Section 402 (d) (3) of the Defense Production Act of 1950 provides, in part, that whenever "a ceiling has been established * * * with respect to any agricultural commodity, or any commodity processed or manufactured in whole or in substantial part therefrom, the President from time to time shall adjust such ceiling in order to make appropriate allowances for substantial reduction in merchantable crop yields, unusual increases in costs of production, and other factors which result from hazards occurring in connection with the production and marketing of such agricultural commodity." It is clear from the facts above stated that the plight of the Texas processors and canners who canned citrus fruit from the freeze area falls within the purview of this section 402 (d) (3).

A survey of the increased costs sustained by the Texas processors and canners in their salvage canning operation has been conducted and substantiates the representations made by the canners and processors involved. These findings show these canners and processors sustained the following additional costs in cents per dozen cans for the following size cans:

Size:	Increased costs (cents per dozen cans)
202 x 314	8.5

This supplementary regulation permits the Texas processors and canners who canned citrus juice during the period January 29, 1951, through March 1, 1951, from fruit harvested during this period from the growing areas affected by the freeze of January and February 1951, to add to their ceiling prices, as otherwise determined under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, the increased costs, set forth above, in cents per dozen cans. Wholesale distributors and retailers are likewise permitted to add to their ceiling prices the dollars and cents amount by which their highest base period costs have been increased by operation of this supplementary regulation.

Before any Texas processor or canner may increase his ceiling prices under this supplementary regulation he must first supply the following information to the Director of Price Stabilization by registered mail:

(1) His existing ceiling price for each type, grade, can, size, and brand name of the citrus juices canned by him.

(2) The number of cases of citrus juices, by type, grade, can size, and brand name, which he processed during the period January 29, 1951, through March 1, 1951, from oranges and grapefruit harvested during that period from the growing areas of Texas affected by the freeze of January and February 1951, and the new ceiling prices he was taking under the supplementary regulation.

Inasmuch as the situation of the Texas processors and canners of citrus juices is an emergency one, this Supplementary Regulation 10 is issued on a temporary basis, with an expiration date of January 31, 1952, and may be superseded by another regulation, or be withdrawn prior to that date.

This action has been taken after full consultation with representative Texas processors and canners of citrus juices and generally has been approved by persons representing substantial segments of the industry affected.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the ceiling prices established by this supplementary regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. Emergency adjustments in ceiling prices for canned citrus juices from Texas freeze areas.
2. Notification provisions.
3. Applicability, and effective date.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 3 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. Emergency adjustments in ceiling prices for canned citrus juices from Texas freeze areas—(a) Emergency adjustments for processors and canners. If you processed or canned grapefruit juice, orange juice, and or grapefruit-orange juice blend during the period January 29, 1951, through March 1, 1951, exclusively from oranges and grapefruit which were harvested during such period from the citrus fruit growing areas of Texas affected by the freezing weather conditions of January 29, 1951, through March 1, 1951, you may add to your ceiling prices for these canned juices as otherwise determined under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, the following emergency increases in cents per dozen for the following size cans:

Size:	Amount of emergency increase (cents per dozen cans)
202 x 314	8.5

(b) Emergency adjustments for distribution. If you are a wholesaler, jobber or retailer, and your cost for the Texas canned citrus juices listed above is increased by operation of this section, you may increase your ceiling prices for these canned citrus juices, as otherwise determined under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, by the dollars-and-cents difference between the cost of this purchase to you and the highest price paid by you during the base period.

SEC. 2. Notification provisions. If you are a processor or canner of the Texas citrus juices listed in section 1 (a) of this order, you may not increase your ceiling prices by operation of this supplementary regulation until you first notify the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., by registered mail giving the following information:

(a) Your existing ceiling price for each type, grade, can, size, and brand name of the citrus juices canned by you.

(b) The number of cases of citrus juices, by type, grade, can size, and brand name, which you processed during the period January 29, 1951, through March 1, 1951, from oranges and grapefruit which were harvested during such period from the citrus fruit growing areas of Texas affected by the freezing weather conditions of January 29, 1951, through February 3, 1951, and the new ceiling prices you are establishing under section 1 (a) of this order.

SEC. 3. Applicability, effective date—(a) Applicability. The provisions of this supplementary regulation are applicable only to sales of canned Texas citrus juice, processed or canned during the period January 29, 1951, through March 1, 1951, from oranges and grapefruit which were harvested during such period from the citrus fruit growing areas of Texas affected by the freezing weather conditions of January 29, 1951, through February 3, 1951.

(b) Effective date. This supplementary regulation is effective immediately, and shall remain in effect until January 31, 1952, unless superseded by another regulation, or withdrawn prior to that date.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Director of Price Stabilization.

EXPLANATORY PROVISIONS

SECTION 1. Purpose and effect. The purpose of this order is to conserve the supply of rubber for the needs of national defense and to provide for its equitable distribution. It places over-all limits on the consumption of dry natural rubber, natural rubber latex, and total new rubber (including synthetic). It prohibits private importation of natural rubber and provides for allocation of Government-produced synthetic rubber. Provisions are also made for increasing production of camelback, for directing production of rubber products into standard lines, and for restricting the use of dry natural rubber in certain listed products.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Natural rubber" means all new RHC (rubber hydrocarbon) forms and types of tree, vine, or shrub rubber, both dry and latex, including the following grades of wild rubber (cut, uncut, washed or dried): upriver fine, acre fine, Bolivian fine, beni fine, island fine, and all other types of fine para, which are of equivalent quality regardless of name or origin; but excluding all other South or Central American grades of wild rubber and all rubber from guayule, balata or guttapercha, as well as all reclaimed natural rubber.

(b) "Dry natural rubber" means all natural rubber in solid form.

(c) "Natural rubber latex" means the dry latex solids contained in natural rubber liquid latex.

(d) "Synthetic rubber" means all new RHC products of chemical synthesis similar in general properties and applications to natural rubber and specifically capable of vulcanization, including synthetic rubber latex but excluding reclaimed synthetic rubber.

(e) "GR-S" means a general-purpose synthetic rubber of the butadienestyrene type produced in the United States generally suitable for use in the manufacture of transportation items such as tires or camelback, as well as any other type of synthetic rubber equally or better suited for use in the manufacture of transportation items such as tires or camelback, as determined from time to time by the NPA, but excluding reclaimed general-purpose synthetic rubber.

(f) "Butyl" or "GR-I" means a special-purpose synthetic rubber produced in the United States, suitable for use in the manufacture of transportation items such as pneumatic inner tubes, but excluding reclaimed special-purpose synthetic rubber.

(g) "New RHC" means total new rubber hydrocarbon. This is the total RHC content of dry natural rubber, natural rubber latex, synthetic rubber, uncured scrap rubber and uncured in-process materials.

(h) "Consume" means, in the case of dry natural rubber, natural rubber latex or synthetic rubber, to compound, expend, formulate or in any manner make any substantial change in the form, shape or chemical composition.

(i) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(j) "Reclaimed rubber" means any rubber derived from the processing or treatment of vulcanized rubber or cured scrap rubber.

(k) "NPA" means the National Production Authority in the Department of Commerce.

RESTRICTIONS ON IMPORTATION AND CONSUMPTION

SEC. 3. Private importation of natural rubber prohibited. (a) On and after December 29, 1950, no person other than the Administrator of General Services shall import into the United States (including its territories and possessions) any natural rubber as defined in section 2 (a), except as specifically authorized in writing by the Administrator of General Services: Provided, however, That this prohibition shall not apply to any private importation required by a contract which was made prior to December 29, 1950, and which is registered with the Administrator of General Services on or before January 5, 1951, except as any such private importation may be disapproved by said Administrator. For purposes of this section, the term "import" includes any physical movement of rubber into the United States, whether placed in general order or in a foreign-trade zone, or whether entered for consumption, bonded customs custody or otherwise, except where the rubber moves through the United States in transit, under bond, from a consignor in one foreign country to a consignee in another foreign country.

(b) The prohibition in paragraph (a) of this section does not apply to the types and grades of natural rubber excluded from the definition in section 2 (a) but all such excluded types and grades shall be inspected by, and a certificate of import secured from, the Administrator of General Services prior to their importation.

SEC. 4. Limit on total new rubber consumption (except natural rubber latex). (a) No person shall (except on prior written authorization of the NPA) consume in any calendar month a total amount of new rubber (including all synthetic both dry and latex and all natural except latex) in excess of 95 percent of his base monthly new rubber consumption as computed under paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Each person's base monthly new rubber consumption shall be one-twelfth of his actual new rubber consumption (including all synthetic both dry and latex and all natural except latex) during the year ending June 30, 1950, as adjusted by the NPA.

(c) The limitation provided in this section shall not apply to any person during any calendar quarter in which his total consumption of new rubber (including all synthetic both dry and latex and all natural except latex) does not exceed 25,000 pounds.

SEC. 5. Limit on dry natural rubber consumption. (a) No person shall (except on prior written authorization of the NPA) consume in any calendar month a total amount of dry natural rubber in excess of 48 percent of his base monthly dry natural rubber consumption as computed under paragraph (b) of this section. Neither may any person consume dry natural rubber in any such month in excess of the difference between his total new rubber consumption as permitted for that month by section 4 and the total synthetic rubber acquired by him from all sources during that month.

SEC. 6. Limit on natural rubber latex consumption. (a) No person shall (except on prior written authorization of the NPA) consume during any calendar quarter, a total quantity of natural rubber latex in excess of one-fourth of his consumption during the year ending June 30, 1950, as adjusted by the NPA.

(b) Any person who imports any natural rubber latex into the United States after October 1, 1950, shall offer at least 10 percent of his imports to the General Services Administration at his regularly established price.

(c) In the event that imports of natural rubber latex are of such volume that an excess remains available for consumption (including any amounts not accepted by General Services Administration), after deducting from total imports (1) the base-period consumption allowed by paragraph (a) of this section, (2) the stockpile requirements of the Government, and (3) a reasonable reserve for adjustments under section 18, such excess will be allocated quarterly to consumers by the NPA on the basis of their pro rata allocation of natural rubber latex during the fourth calendar quarter of 1950. Any allocations made under this paragraph may be consumed in addition to the amounts permitted by paragraph (a) of this section.

SEC. 7. Rubber to fill DO rated orders. (a) Such quantities of new rubber as are used in making products to fill DO rated orders (other than those rated "DO–97") are hereby exempted from the limitations on consumption contained in sections 4, 5 and 6. All such quantities shall accordingly be excluded in computing consumption under those sections. Allocations of synthetic rubber will be made for such purposes, upon application in writing to the NPA, in addition to the allocations for which provision is made in sections 8, 9 and 10.

(b) Any person filing an application for an allocation of rubber to fill DO rated orders (other than those rated "DO–97") must show (1) the DO rating number or symbol applied to the order, (2) the Government contract and purchase numbers, (3) the identity and quantity of the product ordered, (4) the Government specifications for the product insofar as concerns the rubber content, (5) the name and address of the customer and the shipping destination, and (6) the types and quantities of rubber required, by month, to fill the order.

ALLOCATION OF SYNTHETIC RUBBER

SEC. 8. Limitation on acquisition of synthetic rubber. No person shall acquire more Government-produced GR–S or butyl (GR–I) than is allocated to him by the NPA. No person shall sell or transfer any synthetic rubber acquired from the Government to any person other than the Office of Rubber Reserve, Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

SEC. 9. Allocation procedure. The NPA will allocate quarterly, to each consumer of GR–S or butyl, the amounts of Government-produced GR–S and butyl that he may purchase during a specified calendar quarter. The NPA will notify the Office of Rubber Reserve, Reconstruction Finance Corporation, of such allocations and the Office of Rubber Reserve will not issue purchase permits to anyone for more GR–S or butyl than is allocated to him. Persons desiring to purchase GR–S or butyl will submit purchase requests to the Office of Rubber Reserve in accordance with its established procedure.

SEC. 10. Basis of allocation. GR–S and butyl for non-defense purposes will be separately allocated by the NPA for each calendar quarter on the following basis:

(a) GR–S. Subject to the provisions of paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section, each consumer of GR–S will be allocated a fair and proportionate share of the total available Government-produced GR–S (after a reasonable amount has been reserved for DO (other than "DO–97") rated orders, for such other programs as may be approved by the NPA, and for adjustments under section 18). The share of GR–S so allocated to each consumer will be calculated so that such share, when added to the quantities of other new rubber which are permitted or allocated to him and which enter into the computation of total new rubber under section 4, will equal his total new rubber consumption as permitted by section 4.

(b) Butyl for tire tubes. Subject to the provisions of paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section, each manufacturer of tire tubes will be allocated his pro rata share of total available Government-produced butyl (after a reasonable amount has been reserved for DO (other than "DO–97") rated orders, for such other programs as may be approved by the NPA, and for adjustments under section 18), based on the proportion which his total new rubber consumption for tire tubes during the year ending June 30, 1950, bears to the total new rubber consumption of the industry for tire tubes during that period, as determined by the NPA.

(c) Butyl for other uses. Subject to the provisions of paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section, each consumer of butyl for purposes other than the manufacture of tire tubes will be allocated for each calendar quarter, his average quarterly consumption of butyl for such other purposes during the year ending June 30, 1950, as determined by the NPA.

(d) Imports to be considered. In making the allocations described in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section, the NPA will ascertain the quantities of imported GR–S and butyl acquired by each consumer, and will reduce by the amounts of such imported rubber the allocations which would otherwise be made.

(e) Inventories to be considered. In making the allocations described in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section, the NPA will ascertain and take into account each consumer's inventory of GR–S and butyl, and will adjust the allocations insofar as practicable so that inventories (including rubber in warehouse and in transit) will not be increased beyond a 20-working-day supply.

RUBBER PRODUCT REQUIREMENTS AND LIMITATIONS

SEC. 11. Camelback production required. Every person who produced camelback during the year ending June 30, 1950, shall produce in each month of 1951, an amount of camelback which by RHC weight is at least one and a half times as great in proportion to his total new rubber consumption in the manufacture of transportation products during such months, respectively, as the proportion which his production of camelback during the year ending June 30, 1950, bore by weight on RHC basis to his total new rubber consumption in transportation products during that year. For example, if a person's production of camelback on RHC basis accounted for 5 percent of his new rubber RHC consumption in transportation products during the year specified, his production of camelback in each month must account for at least 7½ percent of his new rubber RHC consumption in transportation products during each month of 1951. This means that consumers who produce transportation products other than camelback must sacrifice sufficient RHC from other transportation products to achieve the above result, since no extra allocation of RHC will be made to compensate for increased camelback production. Those who produce camelback only are not subject to this section.

SEC. 12. Rubber product simplification and manufacturing specifications—(a) Manufacture except in accordance with Appendix A prohibited. On and after March 15, 1951, no person shall manufacture any rubber product except in accordance with the specifications and other terms and conditions prescribed in Appendix A below. More specifically, (1) no person shall consume any natural rubber (dry or latex) in the manufacture of any product not listed in Column II of Appendix A, (2) no person shall consume more natural rubber (dry or latex) in the manufacture of any listed product than prescribed in Column III (as qualified by Column IV) of Appendix A, and (3) no person shall consume any new RHC (natural or synthetic) in the manufacture of any listed product in more or different lines, types, qualities, styles or colors than those prescribed in Column IV of Appendix A.

(b) Exceptions to limitations of Appendix A. (1) Defense orders. Notwithstanding the provisions of Appendix A, any product manufactured to fill a DO rated order (other than one rated "DO–97") may be manufactured to the specifications of the order if and to the extent that such specifications are required by the Government. Efforts will be made, however, to obtain maximum standardization of rubber products for Government defense requirements as well as between defense and non-defense requirements.

(2) Tire experimentation. Notwithstanding the provisions of Appendix A, any person may use up to a total of 2,000 pounds of dry natural rubber during any calendar quarter for experimentation in the manufacture of those sizes and types of tires for which specifications are provided in Appendix A.

(c) Import restrictions—(1) Certification required. No product for which specifications are established in Appendix A may be entered for consumption in the United States or its territories or possessions unless the entry thereof is accompanied by a certificate from the exporter or other qualified person to the appropriate Collector of Customs reading substantially as follows:

The undersigned hereby certifies, subject to the criminal penalties for misrepresentation contained in Title 18, U. S. Code (Crimes), section 1001, that the products covered by the invoice to which this certificate is attached contain no more natural rubber (of any type and wherever produced) than permitted by NPA Order M–2 for similar products.

(Date) (Signature)

(2) Exceptions. No such certificate shall, however, be required for the importation (i) of any products by a diplomatic representative of a foreign government for his personal use or for the use of members of his staff or by a commercial representative of a foreign government for use in his official business and not for sale or (ii) of any products for experimental and testing purposes and not for sale.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 14. Reports by tire, tube and camelback manufacturers—(a) Monthly reports. Each manufacturer of tires, tubes and camelback shall file a report of his production, shipments and inventory for each calendar month on Form NPAF–5 with the NPA in accordance with the instructions accompanying the form. Such report shall be filed by the 10th of the month following the month to which it relates.

(b) Weekly reports of cured tires. Each manufacturer of tires shall file a report of his production of cured tires for each week on Form NPAF–6 with the NPA in accordance with the instructions accompanying the form.

SEC. 15. Reports by latex importers. Every importer of natural rubber latex shall report by letter to the NPA by the 15th of each month in long tons of dry latex solids (a) his imports for the current month (actual receipts plus material due to arrive), (b) his scheduled imports for the next succeeding month, and (c) his estimate of his imports for the second and third succeeding months.

SEC. 16. Other records and reports. All persons subject to this order shall keep such records and file such other reports as may be required subject to approval by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 17. Inventory limitation. All of the materials subject to this order are also subject to NPA Reg. 1 which prohibits the accumulation of materials in excess of a practicable minimum working inventory.

SEC. 18. Adjustments and exceptions. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, in duplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 19. Communications. All applications, reports and other communications relating to this order should be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: M–2.

SEC. 20. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or furnishes false information or conceals any material fact in the course of operation under it, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to compel necessary adjustment of his inventories or consumption or to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of, or from processing or using, materials subject to this order.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order as amended shall take effect as of March 1, 1951.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,
[SEAL] MANLY FLEISCHMANN,
Administrator.

APPENDIX A—RUBBER PRODUCTS SUBJECT TO SIMPLIFICATION AND MANUFACTURING SPECIFICATIONS AS PROVIDED IN SECTION 12 OF ORDER M-2

EXPLANATION OF COLUMNS AND SYMBOLS

Column 1: The code number indicated in Column 1 is the numerical identification of a similar class of products.

Column 2: The product or product class to which the restrictions apply is described in Column 2.

Column 3: The figures and symbols in Column 3 specify the amount of natural rubber, if any, that may be used in the listed products.

For product codes 1 through 8 and 14, 15, 16, 17, 23 and 24, the figures in Column 3 represent maximum percent of dry natural rubber and/or natural rubber latex to the total weight of new RHC. For product codes 9 through 13 and 18 through 22, such figures represent maximum percent of dry natural rubber and/or natural rubber latex to the total volume of the compound, except where provided in Column 4 that the percent is expressed in terms of total weight of new RHC.

The figure "0" in Column 3 means that the use of dry natural rubber or natural rubber latex is prohibited except as may be provided in Column 4.

The symbol "X" in Column 3 means that dry natural rubber or natural rubber latex may be used in the minimum amount required except as may be provided in Column 4.

Column 4: The provisions in Column 4 are in some instances qualifications on the use of dry natural rubber or natural rubber latex as otherwise permitted by Column 3. These qualifications take precedence over Column 3 where there is any apparent inconsistency. Column 4 also contains the simplification and standardization provisions governing the manufacture of the product or product class. These latter provisions do not relate merely to the use of natural rubber but limit the lines, types, qualities, styles and colors in which the listed products may be manufactured with the use of any kind of rubber. There are no such limitations on the manufacture of listed products except as indicated in Column 4.

[NPA Order M-44]

M-44—Power Equipment: Production and Delivery

This order is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order there has been consultation with industry representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation in advance of the issuance of this order with representatives of all trades and industries affected has been rendered impracticable by the fact that the order affects a very substantial number of different trades and industries.

Authority: Sections 1 to 13 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp. Sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

Section 1. What this order does. This order requires manufacturers of heavy power equipment, as hereinafter defined and as listed and described in the attached Schedule A, to file monthly reports, beginning not later than March 15, 1951, showing orders on hand for such equipment and the related production and delivery schedules, and, on and after March 16, 1951, to maintain, modify, or alter production and delivery schedules as the National Production Authority (hereinafter referred to as "NPA") may at any time and from time to time direct. This order also provides that NPA may assist such manufacturers by allocating steel, copper, and aluminum as required to maintain production. This order supplements NPA Reg. 2 but only those provisions of said Reg. 2 which are in conflict with this order are superseded, and all other provisions of said Reg. 2 shall continue to apply to persons to whom this order and any directives issued hereunder may apply.

Sec. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Power equipment" means and includes any piece or pieces of heavy power equipment of the types listed and described in the attached Schedule A.

(c) "Manufacturer" means a person who machines, fabricates, rolls, presses, welds, bolts, or otherwise incorporates steel, copper, or aluminum into finished power equipment.

Sec. 3. Reports. Not later than the 15th day of each calendar month every manufacturer shall file with NPA in accordance with the format prescribed by Form NPAF-31 a report for the period therein specified setting forth his power equipment orders on hand, his production and delivery schedules applicable thereto, and such other information respecting power equipment on order or in process as may be called for by said Form NPAF-31. The first such monthly report to be filed hereunder shall be due not later than March 15, 1951.

Sec. 4. Modification of production and delivery schedules. With respect to the production and delivery of power equipment, NPA may:

(a) Direct the return or cancellation of any order on the books of a manufacturer;

(b) Direct changes in the production or delivery schedules of a manufacturer, requiring him to fill orders in such sequence as it may determine;

(c) Allocate orders placed with any manufacturer to another manufacturer or manufacturers;

(d) Take such other action as it deems necessary concerning the placing of orders for power equipment or parts thereof or concerning the production or delivery of power equipment or parts thereof.

Sec. 5. Defense requirements paramount. Allocations and directions hereunder will be made by NPA so as to insure satisfaction of all defense requirements of the United States, both direct and indirect, and may be made in the discretion of NPA without regard either to the provisions of NPA Reg. 2 or to the preferences or priorities assigned to particular rated orders.

Sec. 6. Adherence to production and delivery schedules. Subject to the provisions of sections 4 and 5 of this order, production and delivery schedules filed pursuant to section 3 of this order shall be deemed to have been approved as filed unless, within 14 days from the date of mailing thereof, as shown by postmark, NPA shall have specifically advised the manufacturer to the contrary. On and after March 16, 1951, each manufacturer shall produce, ship, or deliver power equipment only in accordance with his most recent schedule as the same may have been approved, modified, or altered by NPA, and no manufacturer shall interfere with any schedule so approved, modified, or altered, or disregard the same, by adding, eliminating, displacing, or altering the precedence of any order listed for production or delivery thereon unless he is specifically authorized or directed by NPA so to do.

Sec. 7. Impossibility or impracticability of adherence. A manufacturer who for any reason finds it impossible or impracticable to maintain production or delivery of power equipment in accordance with the schedule or schedules so approved, modified, or altered by NPA shall forthwith notify NPA stating the reasons for such impossibility or impracticability.

Sec. 8. NPA assistance. In the case of a manufacturer so finding it impossible or impracticable to adhere to a production or delivery schedule, NPA may assist him by such means and to such extent as in its discretion the circumstances require, including the making to him, by directive or otherwise, of such allocation or allocations of steel, copper, or aluminum as it shall consider appropriate.

Sec. 9. Exemptions. The provisions of sections 4, 5, and 6 of this order with respect to the production or delivery of power equipment shall not apply to power equipment to be produced or delivered pursuant to an order or orders from a single customer for power equipment or a part or parts thereof having an aggregate fabricated value of $5,000 or less.

Sec. 10. Adjustments and exceptions. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file with NPA a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In considering requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each such request shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 11. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to National Production Authority, Washington, 25, D. C. Ref.: M-44.

SEC. 12. Records, audit, inspection, and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall retain in his possession for at least 2 years records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, and use, and in sufficient detail to permit an audit that determines for each transaction that the provisions of this order have been met. This does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily maintained, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of NPA.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (Pub. Law 831, 77th Cong., 5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 13. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of NPA or wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order shall take effect on March 5, 1951.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 9749]

PART 20—DISASTER COMMUNICATIONS SERVICE

REPORT AND ORDER OF THE COMMISSION

In the report of proposed frequency allocations below 25,000 kilocycles (Docket 6651) of May 21, 1945, the Commission expressed the intention of providing frequencies in the band 1750–1800 kilocycles for a Disaster Communications Service. Thereafter, in making frequency allocations (see table of frequency allocations, Part 2) the frequency band 1750–1800 kilocycles was allocated to fixed, mobile, and temporarily radio location services subject to the condition that when regulations for a Disaster Communications Service were provided, that service should take precedence over any other operation in this band for the handling of emergency communications in times of disaster. In planning for the service an informal conference was held in the Commission's offices during the period June 5 and 6, 1950, among representatives of the Commission, several departments of Federal government, interested national and State relief organizations, and individuals to discuss implementation of the allocation to Disaster Communications Service by adoption of suitable rules and regulations. The Disaster Communications Service was and is intended to provide essential communications (when normal communication facilities are impaired, inoperative, or unavailable) for use in connection with disasters or occurrences of such nature as to involve safety of any group of individuals in a large area or in a small isolated area when emergencies arise by reason of occurrences such as flood, earthquake, hurricane, explosion, or the consequence of armed attack. The allocation as originally made and the rules written pursuant thereto provide, primarily, for peace-time disaster communication, but do not preclude use of the service incidental to a war-time emergency.

Pursuant to the requirements of section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, the Commission released a General Notice of Proposed Rule Making which set forth rules to establish and govern the Disaster Communications Service with provision for the submission of written comments by interested parties. This notice was duly published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950. Since frequencies in the band 1750–1800 kilocycles are allocated for use in the Disaster Communications Service by departments of federal government as well as non-government organizations, it was necessary to coordinate the proposed use of the frequencies with the departments of federal government concerned. For this purpose and to reach an understanding of the possible extent and manner of use of the Disaster Communications Service by federal agencies, several informal conferences were held. Because the interested agencies included branches of the armed services, for security reasons, public announcement of the conferences was not made and only representatives of the interested agencies attended.

Following publication of the proposed rules, comments were filed by some forty-one individuals and local, regional, or national organizations, and by twelve agencies of federal government. Included among these interested parties were several radio amateurs and amateur associations, licensees of broadcast radio stations, local relief agencies, the American National Red Cross, police associations, fire associations, and other persons and organizations interested in rendering communications and relief service in the event of a disaster. These comments were unanimously in favor of adoption of the proposed rules and many constructive suggestions were made which were incorporated in whole or in part in the rules. However, after careful consideration and study, some of the suggestions were determined to be unsuitable and they were rejected.

Changes made in the rules, after study of the comments filed, include relaxation of tolerance from 0.005 percent to 0.015 percent, provision for one additional radiotelephone channel with resulting decrease in radiotelegraph channels, and deletion of the proposed table of attenuation of harmonics and spurious emissions. The definition of "disaster" was expanded to encompass train or airplane wrecks. The definition of "competent local authority" was enlarged to include civil defense officials. Rules which prescribed operating procedures and priority of messages were amended leaving this to the discretion of activating or controlling authority. Provision was made for integration of local networks with regional systems and for the use of repeaters and automatic signaling devices. Editorial revisions were made in the text of the rules and in the application form designed for use in this service. All changes conform to the basic purpose of the proposed rules.

Several suggestions made by the American National Red Cross were incorporated into the final rules. These included liberalization of the definition of disaster to include occurrences which affect a small segment of the public. The suggestion that the rules be liberalized with respect to use of the scene of disaster frequency was followed. Also, at the suggestion of the Red Cross, the rules were changed to provide less rigid operating procedure.

Other suggestions made and incorporated in whole or in part in the rules were that the matter of priority of messages on disaster networks be left to the discretion of the activating or controlling authority rather than being specified in the rules; that the definition of disaster networks include regional or higher coordinated communications rather than be limited to local communications, and that it be indicated, clearly, that the Commission's rules do not prescribe radio operator requirements for United States Government radio stations. Pursuant to the suggestion of the International Municipal Signal Association, Inc., that coverage of some areas may require the relay of messages, provision was made for use of unattended repeater stations and for the use of automatic signalling, calling, or alerting devices.

The suggestion that the rules should provide for or designate a recognized head to coordinate the activities of various disaster networks was given careful consideration. However, it appears that since the nature of an emergency or disaster and the area in which it may occur are unpredictable, to designate specific classes of persons to coordinate communications networks appears to be unnecessarily restrictive. It was also suggested that civil defense organizations should be made responsible for coordinating the use of the Disaster Communications Service. However, although the Disaster Communications

Service would be available for use of civil defense organizations and finalization of the rules has come at a time when civil defense is a primary national consideration, the service is not intended as a special wartime measure but as a permanent vehicle to provide communications in all types of disasters. The specialized needs of civil defense are being considered separately and are expected to be separately provided for.

Several interested parties who individually are either licensees of or have an interest in stations operating in established services such as broadcast and taxicab recommended that the Disaster Communications Service rules be amended to permit use of stations in other services to handle disaster communications on frequencies assigned to the respective stations for drill purposes and for communication with other stations in times of actual emergency. For the most part, rules governing the various services provide for such communication in times of actual emergencies and amendment of the various rule parts to permit such drills is under study. Hence, such suggestions are not properly a part of this proceeding.

The suggestion that the requirements for frequency channeling and types of emission probably would vary from one locality to another, that in some communities only voice communications could be utilized due to lack of trained operators, and that the proposed channeling is not sufficiently flexible to meet this situation was also carefully studied. Since station equipment and licenses will be obtained prior to the occurrence of any incident requiring use of the stations, the licensee should be able to determine the feasibility of using voice or radiotelegraph emission, to take inventory of available operators in the area to be provided for, and to know in advance which type of emission could best be used. It further appears that to permit use of both types of emission on all frequencies could be expected to result in interference among networks in adjacent areas, and for this reason the suggestion was not adopted.

It appears that the suggestion that the Disaster Communication Service be restricted to Continental United States and some other provision be made for Disaster Communications in Alaska was made because the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the U. S. Weather Bureau operate a network of aeronautical and weather communications in Alaska on the frequency 1790 kc. An examination of the allocation of the frequency band 1750–1800 kc. reveals that the only permanent allocation of this band was made to the Disaster Communications Service. The only provision made in the Commission's allocation for use of these frequencies by government stations is in the allocation table where note 1 describes persons who are eligible to operate in the Disaster Communications Service as "amateurs and other non-government and government groups". It further appears that the frequency 1790 kc. was assigned to the mentioned government stations on the specific condition that it was not to be a bar to or prejudice the implementation of the Disaster Communications Service in the United States and territories. Since the only frequencies available for the Disaster Communications Service are in the band 1750–1800 kilocycles, Alaska would be deprived of the use of that service at a critical time if this request were granted. Therefore, applicability of the rules was not limited to Continental United States but the service is available in the territories and possessions as well.

The Central Committee on Radio Facilities of the American Petroleum Institute, while expressing approval of the proposed Disaster Communications Service, requested that the frequencies 1750–1800 kc. be shared with the Radiolocation Service. At the present time, the Radiolocation Service is authorized to use frequencies in this band for certain limited purposes on a temporary basis and on the basis of non-interference to the Disaster Communications Service. Such information as is presently available to the Commission regarding the nature and scope of currently permitted radiolocation operations in this band indicates that it may be feasible to establish an appropriate method whereby the Disaster Communications Service and the Radiolocation Service may share the use of this band other than during times of emergency when, of course, the Disaster Communications Service must necessarily continue to have absolute priority. Accordingly, the Commission is giving this matter its further consideration.

Other suggestions not incorporated into the rules were that portions of the amateur frequency bands be made available to the Disaster Communications Service; that, to avoid sabotage, the names of licensees and locations of stations in this service be classified as confidential and not made public, and that certain amateur stations be selected to operate on police frequencies in the police service in emergencies. Because, as heretofore stated, the Disaster Communications Service is not intended primarily as a Civil Defense service, these suggestions are not considered relevant to these proceedings.

No request for oral argument or for hearing was made by any interested party, and the suggestions not adopted do not appear to present important issues of fact concerning the proposed rules which would warrant the holding of oral argument or a hearing.

In view of the foregoing considerations and determinations, the Commission finds that the public interest, convenience, and necessity will be served by adoption of the rules herein ordered. Accordingly, pursuant to the authority of sections 4 (i), 301, and 303 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended: It is ordered, This 21st day of February 1951, that Part 20, "Disaster Communications Service," together with FCC Form No. 525[1] thereto appended, be and it hereby is adopted as set forth below. It is further ordered, That the said Part 20 and form shall become effective March 21, 1951.

Adopted: February 21, 1951.

SUBPART A—GENERAL INFORMATION

§ 20.1 Basis and purpose. (a) The basis of this part is the Communications Act of 1934 as amended, and applicable treaties and agreements to which the United States is a party. This part is issued pursuant to authority contained in Title III of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which vests authority in the Federal Communications Commission to regulate radio transmissions and to issue licenses for radio stations.

(b) The purpose of this part is to provide for the licensing or authorizing of radio stations to provide essential communications incident to or in connection with disasters or other incidents which involve loss of communication facilities normally available or which require the temporary establishment of communication facilities beyond those normally available.

§ 20.2 Disaster defined. As used in this part, the terms "disaster" or "disaster or other incident" are defined as meaning an occurrence of such nature as to involve the health or safety of a community or larger area, or the health or safety of any group of individuals in an isolated area to whom no normal means of communications are available and include, but are not limited to, floods, earthquakes, hurricanes, explosions, aircraft or train wrecks, and consequences of armed attack.

§ 20.3 Disaster station defined. A disaster station is defined as any government or non-government radio station able to function as a fixed, land, or mobile station and authorized, if government, by its controlling federal government agency or licensed, if non-government, by the Federal Communications Commission to operate in the Disaster Communications Service. A single disaster station may consist of more than one unit, each capable of being operated independently as a fixed, land, or mobile station.

§ 20.4 Associated station defined. For the purposes of this part, a disaster station is considered to be associated with a licensed station in some other service when both stations are licensed to the same licensee at the same location and both stations are included in at least one coordinated disaster communications plan of the area concerned. A portable station or a mobile station in the Disaster Communications Service will be considered to be associated with the station in the other service which is located at its base of operations.

§ 20.5 Portable station defined. For the purposes of this part, a portable station is defined as a land station in the Disaster Communications Service which is capable of being moved from place to place and is in fact, from time to time, moved to and operated at unspecified fixed locations for the purpose of communicating with other fixed, land, or mobile stations.

§ 20.6 Disaster communications defined. Disaster communications are defined as:

(a) Communications essential to the establishment and maintenance of communication channels to be used in connection with disasters or other incidents involving loss of communications facilities normally available or which demand the temporary establishment of communications facilities beyond those normally available, including communications necessary or incidental to drills and simulated disaster relief activity on the part of persons or organizations participating in the use of such communication channels; or

(b) Communications or signals essential to the public welfare, or that of any segment of the public, including communications directly concerning safety of life, preservation of property, maintenance of law and order, and alleviation of human suffering and need, in the case of any actual or imminent disaster or other such incident.

§ 20.7 Competent local authority defined.[1] For the purposes of this part, competent local authority is defined as meaning that authority within a community or larger area which is so designated in the coordinated disaster communications plan for the area concerned, including any alternate authority who may be so designated in such plan. In the absence of the specifically designated authority, the individual in charge of the net control station, or his representative, for the organized disaster station network established in accordance with the coordinated disaster communications plan, shall be considered as competent authority for the activation of the stations of that network.

[1] Duly designated civil defense officials will be considered competent local authority in the organization or operation of disaster communications radio networks and stations, and in the coordination of disaster communications plans.

SUBPART B—STATION LICENSE OR AUTHORIZATION

§ 20.11 Eligibility. (a) A license for a station to be operated in the Disaster Communications Service may be granted to any person eligible to hold a station license under the provisions of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended: Provided, That the station or proposed station is shown to constitute an element of a bona fide disaster communications network organized or to be organized and operated in accordance with a locally or regionally coordinated disaster communications plan under responsible leadership and direction.[1]

(b) Authorization for a United States Government station to operate in the Disaster Communications Service will be granted by the appropriate United States Government agency controlling that station.

§ 20.12 Organization of networks. (a) Local disaster communications networks may be organized by any responsible local group or groups that may be in a position to provide such service. In any particular area there may be several such networks and each network may be independent of the others. Whenever there is more than one network in the same area, however, they must all share the available frequencies in an efficient and orderly manner, under a single coordinated disaster communications plan. Any particular network shall be organized and set up along such lines and in accordance with such disaster communications plan that an inspection of the written records of the network will show that there is in fact a local disaster network of definitely identified stations with appropriate and responsible leadership and rules for self government that provide for an orderly and efficient service. The various networks in adjacent areas shall establish proper liaison arrangements, which will become a part of their respective disaster communications plans, to provide for efficient use of the available frequencies and that, in case of need, communications may be handled on an inter-area basis.

(b) Each disaster communications network shall establish a basic operating procedure for the type or types of transmission to be employed; which operating procedure shall be based on a generally understood procedure in common use in other services for the types of communications and the types of transmissions to be employed.

§ 20.13 Application for construction permit and license. (a) Application for construction permit and new license for a station to be operated in the Disaster Communications Service shall be submitted on FCC Form No. 525, signed by the applicant, and countersigned by the competent local authority in charge of the disaster communications network in which the station is, primarily, intended to be operated. To facilitate a determination of eligibility, such application shall be accompanied by a statement describing in detail the purpose of the proposed station which shall include a copy of the locally coordinated disaster communications plan under which the station is intended to be operated unless such information has already been submitted to the Commission, in which case the application shall clearly identify that plan and the competent local authority under whose direction the station is proposed to be operated. In cases where a description of the station's antenna is required to be submitted on FCC Form No. 401–A, in accordance with the provisions of § 20.14, such form shall be submitted concurrently with the application for construction permit and license.

(b) Unless otherwise directed by the Commission, application for modification of station license in the Disaster Communications Service shall be submitted on FCC Form No. 525 in the same manner as application for construction permit and new license, whenever the license or the basic location of a licensed station is proposed to be changed.

(c) Unless otherwise directed by the Commission, application for renewal of station license in the Disaster Communications Service shall be submitted on FCC Form No. 525 at least 60 days prior to the date of expiration of the license sought to be renewed.

§ 20.14 Limitation on antenna structures. (a) No new antenna or antenna structure shall be erected for use by any station licensed or proposed to be licensed in the Disaster Communications Service, and no change shall be made in any existing antenna or antenna structure for use or intended to be used by any station licensed or proposed to be licensed in the Disaster Communications Service so as to increase its over-all height above ground level, without prior approval from the Commission in any case when either (1) the antenna supporting structure and/or the antenna proposed to be erected will exceed an over-all height of 170 feet above ground level, or (2) the antenna supporting structure and/or the antenna proposed to be erected will exceed an over-all height of one foot above ground level for each 200 feet of distance, or fraction thereof, from the nearest boundary of any aircraft landing area. Application for Commission approval in such cases shall be submitted on FCC Form 401–A (revised).

(b) For the purpose of this section an aircraft landing area is defined, in accordance with the provisions of Part 17 of this chapter, as any locality, either land or water, including airports and intermediate landing fields, which is used, or approved for use, for the landing and take off aircraft, whether or not facilities are provided for the shelter, servicing or repair of aircraft, or for the receiving or discharging of passengers or cargo.

(c) In cases where an FCC Form 401–A is required to be filed, further details as to whether an aeronautical study and/or obstruction marking may be required, as well as specifications for obstruction marking when required, may be obtained from Part 17 of this chapter, "Construction, Marking, and Lighting of Antenna Towers and Supporting Structures." Information regarding requirements as to inspection of obstruction marking, recording of information regarding such inspections, and maintenance of antenna structures is also contained in Part 17 of this chapter.

§ 20.15 License term. A license to operate a radio station in the Disaster Communications Service will be issued for a term of from one to five years from the effective date of grant as the Commission may determine in each case to permit the orderly scheduling of renewals, and for a renewal term of four years from the effective date of renewal.

SUBPART C—USE OF STATIONS

§ 20.21 Activation of stations. (a) All stations in the Disaster Communications Service are authorized to be operated on the frequencies and with the types of emission specified by this part only when competent local authority either (1) determines that an impending or actual disaster or other such incident warrants their activation, or (2) schedules training operations, practice drills or tests to keep the networks and associated stations alert and efficient.

(b) Except during scheduled training operations, practice drills or tests, the scene of disaster frequency shall be used only (1) by the station or stations actually located in the disaster area and those stations with which the station or stations actually in such disaster area are in direct communication, or (2) as a notification frequency, for the transmission of any authorized emission including automatic alarm signals, when a disaster is imminent or has occurred, or (3) in an impending disaster situation, as a calling frequency for preliminary contacts in establishing or alerting nets, or (4) as a calling frequency for non-net stations seeking contact with the control station of a net for disaster-related communications.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent any radio station from operating on the scene of disaster frequency, using such equipment and such power as may be available or necessary, and communicating in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section at any time the safety of life or property within the area of responsibility of that station is in danger as a result of an impending or actual disaster or other such incident.

§ 20.22 Points of communications. All stations in the Disaster Communications Service, when activated in accordance with the provisions of § 20.11, are authorized to communicate with each other, with stations in the Amateur Radio Service, and with stations of the United States Government which are authorized by their controlling federal government agencies to communicate with stations in the Disaster Communications Service; and are further authorized to communicate with any station in any service licensed by the Federal Communications Commission whenever such station is authorized to communicate with stations in the Disaster Communications Service by the provisions of the Commission's rules governing the class of station concerned or in accordance with the provisions of § 2.405 of this chapter.

§ 20.23 Limitations on use. (a) Stations operating in the Disaster Communications Service are authorized to transmit and to receive only those types of communications set forth in § 20.24 for:

(1) Liaison purposes for the coordination of the activities of various local or larger mutual aid organizations, between established individual or network stations authorized to operate in other services and engaged in disaster communications on their own regularly assigned service frequencies; or

(2) Direct operation as a part of a disaster communications network established for the purpose of providing disaster communications for an organization or organizations having no other frequencies available or none satisfactory for the distances or locations to be covered.

(b) Stations operating in the Disaster Communications Service are authorized to retransmit, by automatic means, authorized disaster communications being transmitted by other stations of the same disaster communications network, and to originate and transmit, by automatic means, distinctive signals, on the scene of disaster frequency only, for the alerting of the disaster communications network and/or for the actuation of selective signaling, calling or alerting devices: Provided, That when such automatic transmission or retransmission is employed, such stations shall not emit radio-frequency energy except when actually transmitting authorized disaster communications.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the operation of a station in the Disaster Communications Service for the purpose of brief tests or adjustments during or coincident with the installation, servicing or maintenance of such station: Provided, That the transmissions of that station during such tests or adjustments shall not cause harmful interference to the conduct of communications by any other station.

(d) A station in the Disaster Communications Service shall not be used to transmit or to receive messages for hire, nor for communications for material compensation, direct or indirect, paid or promised.

§ 20.24 Permissible communications. Stations in the Disaster Communications Service are authorized to transmit and to receive only the following types of disaster communications:

(a) Communications when there is no impending or actual disaster:

(1) Necessary drills and tests to insure the establishment and maintenance of efficient networks of stations in the Disaster Communications Service and other authorized services. These drills and tests may include the prearranged exchange of communications by stations of established networks with stations outside any established network where the purpose of such exchange is to provide training and practice in the establishment and maintenance of liaison and coordination between such networks and non-network stations. Such drills and tests shall not be permitted, in any way, to interfere with communications in connection with any actual or impending disaster or other such incident.

(b) Communications when there is an impending or actual disaster:

(1) Communications directly concerning:

(i) The activation of a disaster network, or

(ii) The establishment and maintenance of liaison and coordination between:

(a) The stations of one network and the stations of any other network, or

(b) Any network station and any non-network station of any agency possessed of its own system of radiocommunication which is actually engaged in averting or overcoming the effects of the disaster, or

(c) Any non-network station of one agency possessed of its own system of radiocommunication which is actually engaged in averting or overcoming the effects of the disaster and any non-network station of any other agency possessed of its own system of radiocommunication which is actually engaged in averting or overcoming the effects of the disaster.

(2) Communications directly concerning the conduct of service by an activated disaster network.

(3) Communications directly concerning safety of life, preservation of property, maintenance of law and order, and alleviation of human suffering and need by authorized government and relief agencies.

(4) Communications directly concerning the accumulation and dissemination of public information regarding safety of life, preservation of property, maintenance of law and order, or alleviation of human suffering and need by authorized government or relief agencies.

(5) Communications directly concerning the transaction of business essential to the public welfare.

(6) Communications concerning personal matters of individuals directly affected by the disaster.

(c) The order of priority of communications when there is an impending or actual disaster shall be as determined by the competent local authority activating the station or network, or his authorized representative.

§ 20.25 Station identification.—(a) Call signs. Disaster stations licensed by the Commission will be assigned distinctive call signs, consisting of four letters and one digit, in accordance with the table of geographical assignment of call signs contained in § 2.303 of this chapter. Stations of the United States Government authorized to operate in the Disaster Communications Service will be assigned appropriate call signs by their cognizant United States Government agencies from the call signs available to such agencies.

(b) Use of call signs.—(1) Radiotelegraph. When transmitting by radiotelegraphy, each disaster station shall transmit the call sign of the station being called followed by its own call sign at the beginning of each series of communications with the called station, at least once each fifteen minutes of such operation, and when terminating communications with the called station. One-way transmissions intended for several stations shall be identified in the same manner except that a general call may be used in place of the call signs of the several stations intended to receive the transmissions. Test transmissions of a station making adjustments shall be identified by the transmission of the station call sign at the beginning and end of the test period and at least each 30 seconds during such period.

(2) Radiotelephone. When transmitting by radiotelephony, each disaster station shall identify itself and the station or stations being called in the same manner prescribed in this section for identification during radiotelegraph transmissions, except that, if there is no possibility of confusion, the name, location, or other designation of the station may be used in lieu of the call sign when that name, location, or other designation is the same as that of an associated station in some other service and is authorized to be used by such associated station when identifying itself on its regularly assigned frequencies.

(3) Multiple units. When two or more separate units of a station are operated at different locations, each unit shall separately identify itself by the addition of a unit name, number or other designation at the end of its call sign or other authorized means of identification. When transmitting by radiotelegraphy, such additional identification shall be separated from the call sign by use of the "slant" or fraction bar.

(4) Additional identifications. A list of all general or collective call signs, unit designators, and other authorized substitutes for or additions to assigned call signs used in each disaster station network shall be maintained at the control station of such network, and shall be made available for inspection upon reasonable request from any authorized representative of the federal government.

(1) Name and address of the disaster station licensee, station call sign used in the disaster communications service, date of expiration of the disaster station license, and d. c. plate power input to the vacuum tube or tubes supplying energy to the transmitting antenna system. This information need be entered only once in the log unless there is a change in any of the above items. Each change shall be entered with the date the change is made.

(2) Date and time of beginning and end of each period during which the disaster station is operated.

(3) Signature of each licensed operator who manipulates the key of a manually operated radiotlegraph transmitter or the signature of each licensed operator who operates a transmitter using any other type of emission, and the name (or signature) of any person not holding an operator license who transmits by voice over the facilities of that station other than by automatic relay of the signal of another station or stations. The signature of the operator shall be entered with the date and time at both the beginning and the end of each period during which he is manning the controls of the disaster station and at least once on each page additional to the first page covering the period for which he is the responsible operator. The signature of any additional operator who operates the station during the regular watch of another operator shall be entered in the proper space for that additional operator's transmissions.

(4) Upon the completion of each period of operation for drill, training, liaison or test purposes and each period of operation in connection with an impending or actual disaster, there shall be entered in the log a summary of such operation describing its nature and giving pertinent details.

(5) There shall be no erasures, obliterations or destruction of any part of the disaster station log. Corrections shall be made by striking out erroneous portions and initialing and dating the correction.

(b) The current portion of the log of a licensed disaster station shall be kept at the location of the control position of such station. Other portions of the log shall be retained by the licensee for a period of at least one year, at such place as he may deem appropriate and advisable: Provided, That the log of a disaster station shall be made available for inspection upon reasonable request by any authorized representative of the federal government; And provided further, That those portions of any disaster station log covering operation of such station in connection with any actual disaster shall not be destroyed unless prior approval for such destruction shall have been received from the Commission.

SUBPART D—OPERATING REQUIREMENTS

§ 20.31 Assigned frequencies and authorized emissions. (a) The following frequencies in the frequency band 1750–1800 kc. are assigned, on a nonexclusive basis, to all stations in the Disaster Communications Service. The selection and use of these frequencies shall be in accordance with a coordinated local area and adjacent area disaster communications plan [1] the specific types of emission herein indicated and the other applicable provisions of this part:

Channel No.	Channel width	Assigned frequency	Authorized emission
(1) Radiotelegraph channels
1	1 kc.	1750.5 kc.	0.5 A1

14	7 kc.	1796.5 kc.	6 A3

(b) In the foregoing table, a figure specifying the maximum authorized bandwidth in kilocycles to be occupied by the emission is shown as a prefix to the authorized emission classification. The specified bandwidth shall contain those frequencies upon which a total of 99 percent of the radiated power appears, and shall include any discrete frequency upon which the power is at least 0.25 percent of the total radiated power. Any radiation in excess of the limits specified is considered to be an unauthorized emission.

(c) When an unauthorized emission results in harmful interference, the Commission may, in its discretion, require appropriate technical changes in equipment to alleviate the interference.

§ 20.32 Transmitting power. The transmitting equipment of a radio station in the Disaster Communications Service shall be adjusted in such a manner as to produce the minimum radiation necessary to carry out the communications desired when such station is operating in the frequency band 1750–1800 kilocycles. No station in the Disaster Communications Service shall be operated on these frequencies using a direct current plate power input to the vacuum tube or tubes supplying energy to the antenna in excess of 500 watts, except when operating on the scene of disaster frequency in accordance with the provisions of § 20.21 (c).

§ 20.33 Equipment requirements. (a) All stations in the Disaster Communications Service, except those intended only for the transmission of an automatic alarm or alerting signal, shall be capable of both transmitting and receiving on the scene of disaster frequency.

(b) The carrier frequency of each licensed station in the Disaster Communications Service shall be maintained within 0.015 percent of the assigned frequency.

[1] Duly designated civil defense officials will be considered competent local authority in the organization or operation of disaster communications radio networks and stations, and in the coordination of disaster communications plans.

(c) When the radio frequency carrier of a station in the Disaster Communications Service is amplitude modulated, such modulation shall not exceed 100 percent on negative peaks.

(d) The licensee of each station in the Disaster Communications Service which is utilized for the transmission of Type A–1 or Type A–3 emission shall use adequately filtered direct-current plate power supply for the transmitter to minimize modulation from that source.

§ 20.34 Operator requirements. (a) Except under the conditions specified in paragraph (d) of this section, one or more licensed radio operators of the class or grade specified in paragraph (b) of this section shall be on duty at the place where the transmitting apparatus of each licensed disaster station is located, or at the control position of such station if the control position is located at a place other than the location of the transmitting apparatus, and in actual charge thereof whenever it is being operated for the purpose of transmitting disaster communications, as defined in § 20.6, or is otherwise placed in a condition so as to produce radiation of radio frequency energy. No person shall manipulate the radiotelegraph key of a licensed disaster station for the purpose of manually transmitting radiotelegraph signals except under and in accordance with the authority of an operator license granting appropriate radiotelegraph operating privileges in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Disaster stations licensed by the Federal Communications Commission may be operated, when properly transmitting in accordance with the provisions of this part, by the holders of:

(1) Any amateur radio operator license issued by the Federal Communications Commission which authorizes the holder thereof to operate an amateur radio station in the amateur segments of the 1800–2000 kc. frequency band; or

(2) Any commercial radio operator license issued by the Federal Communications Commission: Provided, That the holder of such commercial radio operator license shall perform or be responsible for only those operating duties and responsibilities at a disaster station which he is authorized, under the authority of such license, to perform or be responsible for at some other class of station licensed by the Commission when using the same type of emission and method of operation on a frequency or frequencies below 25 mc.

(c) When a station of the United States Government is authorized by the appropriate United States Government agency concerned to be operated in the Disaster Communications Service, the operator requirements for that station will be determined by the authorizing agency.

(d) Stations which are entirely automatic in their operation, including automatic modulation of the carrier, shall be exempt from the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section during the course of the normal rendition of the service of such stations: Provided, That all adjustments or tests during or coincident with the installation, servicing or maintenance of such stations shall be performed only by or under the immediate supervision and responsibility of a duly licensed operator whose license authorizes him to operate the station under those conditions in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section: And provided further, That the station shall be so designed and installed as to be inaccessible to unauthorized personnel and incapable of any unauthorized transmission.

§ 20.35 Availability of station and operator licenses. (a) The original station license for a station in the Disaster Communications Service, or a photocopy thereof, shall be permanently attached to each transmitter of such station if the transmitter is readily accessible, or permanently posted at the control position of such station if the control position is located at a place other than the location of the transmitter.

(b) The original radio operator license or verification card (FCC Form No. 758–F) of the operator controlling the emissions of a licensed station in the Disaster Communications Service shall be carried on his person or kept immediately available at the place where he is operating the station.

(c) Whenever the original station license is not posted in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, or whenever the original operator license is not readily available at the place where the operator is on duty, such original license shall be made available for inspection upon reasonable request from any authorized representative of the federal government.

[7 CFR, Part 924]

HANDLING OF MILK IN DETROIT, MICH., MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of the recommended decision of the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order, regulating the handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business the 20th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. A public hearing, on the record of which the proposed marketing agreement and the proposed order were formulated was called by the Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, following receipt of a petition filed by the Michigan Milk Producers Association, Detroit, Michigan, and was held at Highland Park, Michigan, June 5 through June 16, 1950, pursuant to notice duly published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (15 F. R. 3105, F. R. Doc. 50–4290). The period from June 16 1950, to August 1, 1950, was reserved for interested parties to file briefs on the record.

The major issues developed at the hearing were concerned with the following matters:

(1) Whether the handling of milk produced for the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area is in the current of interstate commerce or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce in milk or its products;

(2) Whether marketing conditions justify the issuance of a milk marketing agreement or order;

(3) The extent of the marketing area;

(4) What milk should be covered for pricing purposes;

(5) The classification of milk;

(6) The level of class prices to be paid and the methods for determining such prices;

(7) The type of pool to be used and a base rating system of distributing returns to producers; and

(8) Administrative provisions.

Findings and conclusions. Upon the basis of the evidence adduced at the hearing and on the record thereof, it is hereby found and concluded that:

(1) Character of commerce. The handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area is in the current of interstate commerce and directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce in the handling of milk and its products.

A total of 64 dairy farms located outside the State of Michigan regularly supply milk to the Detroit market. During the month of April 1950, 45 of these farms located in Ohio and Indiana delivered over a half million pounds of milk to Detroit receiving plants, or at the rate of over six million pounds per year. Three dairy plants in Indiana and one in Ohio hold permits from the Detroit Department of Health to furnish sweet cream for consumption in Detroit.

During the months of high production, large quantities of Detroit inspected milk produced on dairy farms which supply milk for city consumption in other seasons of the year are diverted to manufacturing plants in Ohio and Indiana. One cooperative in the year of 1948 delivered over 4½ million pounds of such milk to a plant in Indiana. In 1949 movements of milk from the Detroit market to plants in Ohio totaled about 10 million pounds and in the first 5 months of 1950 amounted to over 5 million pounds. There are 36 dairy manufacturing plants located within the Detroit milkshed and purchasing milk from dairy farmers in competition with Detroit milk distributors. Several of these plants also handle surplus milk from the Detroit market. All of these plants manufacture dairy products, and a substantial portion of these products are disposed of in other states. Large quantities of Detroit inspected milk, exceeding 60 million pounds in 1949 and 30 million pounds in the first 5 months of 1950, were moved to certain of these manufacturing plants by one cooperative. Additional large amounts of milk are manufactured in plants operated by milk distributors. This milk is manufactured into evaporated milk, cheese, butter, and nonfat dry milk solids, a large proportion of which is disposed of outside of the State of Michigan.

Milk is distributed on routes operated from Detroit plants in direct competition with milk distributed from Toledo, Ohio, plants in the City of Monroe and at other points. The milksheds of the Detroit and Toledo markets overlap over an area of 4 counties and dairy farmers frequently shift from one market to the other. The Detroit milkshed also overlaps that of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and Cleveland, Ohio.

Milk, cream and dairy products processed in Detroit plants are furnished to interstate carriers for consumption in various states and in Canada. Seven Detroit milk distributing plants have been certified by the U. S. Public Health Service for processing milk and milk products for sale for consumption outside the state at the request of interstate carriers. These carriers include two railroads, the Pullman Company, four airlines and nine steamship companies.

From the foregoing it is evident that a substantial volume of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, market is moved physically in interstate commerce in the form of milk and milk products and that the handling of milk in the market directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce in milk or its products.

(2) Need for an order. An order regulating the handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area should be issued.

A large proportion of the milk consumed in the Detroit area is marketed by a cooperative association of dairy farmers. A price for milk marketed by the cooperative and used for fluid sales is arrived at for each month by bargaining. A lower price than applies to a small amount of milk in addition to that used for fluid sales and the remainder is sold at the average price paid by certain dairy manufacturing plants.

A number of Detroit milk distributors buy milk from dairy farmers who are not members of a cooperative. The record indicates that this milk is paid for at the average price paid for all milk to cooperative members, or a lower price. By purchasing as close as possible to needs for fluid sales, these distributors are able to buy milk at a considerably lower cost on a utilization basis than that of distributors who buy from the cooperative. This is true because the cooperative and certain distributors who buy milk through the cooperative assume the responsibility of carrying sufficient milk to supply the market in the periods of lowest production. Distributors who do not assume this responsibility are able to buy milk used largely for bottled milk sales at the average price paid to cooperative producers, which average price reflects a large volume of milk at the manufacturing price in the months of high production. This buying advantage has led to lower resale prices, the loss of business by distributors who buy higher cost milk through the cooperative, and demands that the price of milk for fluid use be lowered to cooperative buyers to permit competition with distributors who buy without regard to utilization.

This unstabilizing influence has been greatly aggravated by a widening of the spread between the price of milk for fluid use and the average producer price for all milk. In April 1948 the cooperative price to distributors for milk for fluid use was $4.90 and the average price paid producers for all milk was $4.76, a difference of 14 cents. In April 1950 the corresponding prices were $4.20 and $3.72 or an advantage of 48 cents to a buyer able to buy milk for fluid sales at the cooperative average price and an even greater advantage in case less than this average price was paid. The price paid for milk used for manufacturing by cooperative buyers was $4.11 in April 1948, and $2.88 in April 1950, an increase in the spread between fluid and manufacturing milk prices from 80 cents to $1.32. This price trend has greatly increased the advantage of distributors who may buy some milk for fluid use at the manufacturing price.

Statements of payments to producers for milk by buyers who do not buy through the cooperative covering several months in 1950 were submitted. One distributor had paid one producer from 35 to 38 cents per hundredweight less than the cooperative average price, another distributor paid from 19 to 34 cents less and a third paid from 34 to 38 cents less. Fall purchases of additional milk by one of these distributors to supplement his supply from producers indicate a fluid milk usage of producer milk above the average of the market.

The price advantage of buyers who do not purchase milk through a cooperative not only has forced cooperative buyers to exert continual pressure for lower prices, but also has encouraged buyers to sever business relations with the cooperative and take advantage of the lower cost milk available by direct purchase from dairy farmers at the cooperative average price or lower. One handler of a substantial volume of milk has recently taken this step after buying through a cooperative for many years. This trend, if continued, will supplement the pressure for lower prices in bringing about demoralization of the market.

The effect of these conditions in causing market instability is shown in the record of prices and milk supply over the last 3 years. In the 8 month period of June 1947 through February 1948 the Class I price negotiated by the cooperative dropped from $1.62 above the price paid by manufacturing plants to 71½ cents above. Under pressure of a shortage of milk, this negotiated price then increased to a high of $2.32 above the manufacturing price in March 1949. Then as the supply of milk in relation to market needs increased steadily, the negotiated price fell to $1.05 above the manufacturing milk price in May 1950. While these wide price variations were occurring, the supply of milk was first so reduced that an average of 92 percent of producer milk was used in Class I in the months of November 1947 through January 1948 compared with 84 percent in the corresponding period a year earlier. This shortage was followed by relatively high prices and increasing production until during the corresponding months of 1949–50, less than 71 percent of producer milk was disposed of as Class I.

The cooperative has not been able to sell milk even to regular buyers on a complete utilization basis. Only milk used for fluid sales is priced on the basis of utilization and additional milk is classified on a bargained percentage basis without regard to utilization. This lack of complete pricing according to utilization results in differences in costs to the various distributors for milk for uses other than fluid sales which also contributes to market instability.

In the Ann Arbor portion of the area, producers have been unable to sell milk on any utilization plan. A certain price is set by bargaining for milk deliveries up to a "base" established for each producer, and additional deliveries are paid for at the manufacturing milk price. The record indicates that this method of buying results in a lower cost to these distributors for milk for fluid sales than the cost to distributors in other parts of the Detroit area.

Dairy farmers supplying the Detroit area who are not cooperative members, over 2,000 in number, have no facilities for regularly checking the accuracy of weights or butterfat tests of milk sold.

No complete statistics are available as to total sales of milk and milk products in the Detroit market or as to total receipts of milk in the market. Negotiated prices must be fixed without full knowledge of the needs of the market or of the supply of milk available. A marketing order would make available complete and accurate market statistics, provide for payment for milk according to use and for verification by audit of all handlers' utilization of milk, and for the checking of weights and butterfat tests.

A milk marketing order is needed in the Detroit area to establish and maintain orderly marketing and a level of prices which will insure an adequate supply of pure and wholesome milk, and to prevent the development of disorderly and chaotic conditions.

(3) Extent of the marketing area. The marketing area should include the cities of Detroit, Dearborn, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Pontiac, Mount Clemens, Marine City, St. Clair and Port Huron and adjacent areas of high population density. This area would cover the territory within the boundaries of 10 townships in St. Clair County, 6 townships in Macomb County, 9 townships in Oakland County, 3 townships in Washtenaw County and all of Wayne County with the exception of 5 townships.

Proponents of the order proposed a considerably larger marketing area covering a number of rural townships and a few additional small towns. Certain milk distributors proposed an extension of the area to the north along the Lake Huron shore, to include Worth and Lexington townships in Sanilac County. Certain distributors objected to including the cities of Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor.

The townships of Lexington and Worth in Sanilac County should not be included in the marketing area. There are no thickly populated areas in these townships except the Lake Huron shore line in the summer season and the small city of Croswell and the village of Lexington. It was not shown that any substantial volume of milk is sold in this area from outside plants, or that a marketing order is needed to promote orderly marketing in this area. There was no showing that orderly marketing of milk in the Detroit area is influenced by milk distribution in these townships. No request was made by dairy farmers supplying milk to this area that it be included in the marketing area.

The cities of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti and surrounding territory should be included in the marketing area. Milk is distributed from plants in or near these cities, which are located near the thickly populated suburban area west of Detroit, in competition with routes operated from Detroit plants. Because of the wide seasonal variations in milk consumption in these cities due to the large student population, distributors are dependent upon the Detroit market for much of their milk supply. Over 6½ million pounds of milk from Detroit receiving stations was supplied to Ann Arbor distributors in the two years of 1948 and 1949. Milk is purchased by Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti distributors from producers without regard to use and apparently at lower prices than if bought on a use basis at the class prices prevailing in the Detroit market. Attempts by the cooperative to have such purchases made on a use basis have failed. The need for a marketing order to bring about orderly milk marketing seems greater in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area than in other parts of the proposed marketing area.

Rural areas and small towns not near to the large cities should not be included in the marketing area. Thirty-seven additional townships in St. Clair, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw, Monroe and Wayne Counties, which are relatively thinly populated and include some 19 small towns and villages, were within the marketing area as proposed by producers. Health regulations with respect to milk in effect in the cities are not applicable in much of this area. It is not considered necessary to include these 37 rural townships in the marketing area to promote orderly marketing of milk in Detroit and nearby cities.

The marketing area as outlined above embraces a contiguous, heavily populated territory served by milk distributors whose routes overlap and intermingle and which constitutes a single milk market, all parts of which are subject to substantially the same conditions and influences. Health regulations with regard to milk are substantially the same in all major municipalities in the area and milk produced on farms approved by the Detroit Health Department is permitted to be sold in all parts of the area. Differences in seasonal consumption in various parts of the area tend to make all of the area dependent on milk produced under Detroit inspection, which is diverted to any part of the area where needed. Failure to include any part of this territory in the marketing area would tend to disrupt orderly milk marketing in the whole area.

(4) Milk to be priced. All milk approved by health authorities for regular sale in the marketing area should be priced under the order. A "handler" is defined as the operator of a plant in which milk is processed and from which such milk is disposed of on a route in the marketing area as Class I milk, or a plant which is approved by health authorities of marketing area cities for handling milk for fluid consumption. The handler definition describes the kinds of plants to which farmers deliver milk for fluid uses in the greater Detroit market.

A number of plants disposing of Class I milk on routes in the marketing area receive milk directly from dairy farms. The larger part of the supply, however, is received at country plants and reshipped to city bottling plants. The country plant may be owned and operated by the operator of the city bottling plant or by another person. All of these country plants receive milk only from dairy farms approved by the Detroit Health Department. Receipt of milk from any other source at one of these plants disqualifies the entire plant supply for use in Detroit and other marketing area cities which accept Detroit inspection. By defining a handler as the operator of either an approved country plant or a bottling plant, the handling of all milk regularly approved for consumption in the marketing area is made subject to regulation by the order.

The land boundary of the marketing area extends over 185 miles. A few small milk plants located outside the marketing area dispose of some milk on routes extending into the area. If the amount of such milk is not large, its sale has little or no effect on the marketing of milk in the area. Application of order pricing and payment provisions to these handlers would entail effort and expense and would not contribute to orderly marketing in the area. Prices appropriate in the marketing area might not be appropriate in the localities where most of the sales of these handlers may be made. It was proposed that handlers operating bottling plants outside the marketing area and disposing of not more than an average of 600 pounds of Class I milk per day in the area in any month be exempt for that month from all except the reporting and auditing provisions of the order. Limitation of the exemption to handlers disposing of not more than 600 pounds of Class I milk in the marketing area daily, less than one economical route, and transferring no milk to other handlers would furnish adequate protection from unfair competition to fully regulated handlers and guard against any threat to orderly milk marketing in the area. It is concluded that such an exemption should be provided.

A cooperative which operates a number of country plants receiving Detroit inspected milk has also arranged by contract for the receiving, weighing and cooling of member milk at certain plants not owned or operated by the cooperative. In each case the contracting plant handles no milk except that handled for the cooperative, and the disposition of such milk is entirely under the direction of the cooperative, in most cases being moved from the receiving plant in trucks owned and operated by the cooperative. Payments to producers for this milk are made at a blend price computed on uses of this and other milk marketed by the cooperative. It was proposed that in such cases the order provide that the milk be considered as received at a plant operated by the cooperative and the cooperative thus be made the handler for such milk.

The order provides for the verification of weights and butterfat tests of producer milk, for auditing of producer payrolls, and for determination of the disposition of producer milk. When producer milk is moved in bulk from the plant to which it is delivered by the producers, the identity of each producer's milk is lost. The person operating the plant where the milk is first received must therefore be responsible for weighing and testing the milk, maintaining records of such weights and tests and also records of the disposition of milk received, and usually records of payments to producers. If such person is not a handler under the order he cannot be held responsible for performing the functions listed above. He need not give the market administrator access to the plant or make available to him records of receipts and disposition of milk or facilities for verifying weights and tests. It appears that the person operating each plant which receives milk from producers must be made a handler if the provisions of the order are to be carried out. If the arrangement between a cooperative and the owner of a plant does not make the cooperative the operator of the plant, then the operator of the plant cannot be relieved of his handler status because of the arrangement. On the other hand, if the arrangement is of such a character as to make the cooperative the operator of the plant, or the part of the plant in which producer milk is received, then no special provision of the order is needed to make the cooperative the handler with respect to this milk.

Special provision is made for handlers who produce milk and receive no milk from other producers or cooperative associations. Defined as "producer-handlers," such handlers are exempted from all provisions of the order except reporting and auditing.

A "producer" is defined as any dairy farmer who produces milk which is delivered to a plant operated by a handler. This definition will identify all of the dairy farmers whose milk deliveries are regarded as a part of the normal Detroit area fluid milk supply. Although most producers will hold permits from a health authority in one of the major cities in the marketing area, there may be some small sections of the marketing area under the jurisdiction of health authorities which do not issue dairy farm permits. A health authority permit is therefore not specified for determining producer status. It is provided that a dairy farmer delivering milk to a plant not operated by a handler may retain producer status if such milk has been diverted from a handler plant. This would permit milk to be diverted to nonhandler manufacturing plants during the surplus season and still be priced and pooled under the order.

Definitions of "producer milk" and "other source milk" are included to distinguish between the regular supply for the fluid market and occasional receipts from other sources. Other source milk may be surplus from another fluid milk market or milk from a plant which is primarily a manufacturing plant. If such other source milk is disposed of as Class I milk in the marketing area a payment on that quantity at the difference between the manufacturing milk price and the Class I price should be required in order to curb any incentive for handlers to drop regular producer supplies of milk to purchase surplus of manufacturing milk at a price advantage.

"Route" is defined as a delivery, including a sale from a store, of a Class I product to a wholesale or retail stop or stops, except to a handler. The handler exception avoids qualifying a plant as a handler when deliveries are only made to other handlers. This would prevent a plant from qualifying as a handler and participating in the market pool merely by delivering some milk to a handler plant inside the marketing area.

The provision of a base and excess plan of payment requires a definition of "base," "base milk," and "excess milk." Other standard terms are defined for the purpose of facilitating subsequent provisions of the order.

(5) Classification of milk. Milk should be classified in three classes reflecting the principal differences in the value of milk for different uses.

(a) Classes. Class I should include all skim milk and butterfat disposed of for consumption as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, or flavored milk, plant loss of producer milk in excess of 2 percent, and skim milk and butterfat not accounted for in Class II or Class III utilization. Class II should include skim milk and butterfat disposed of (a) for consumption as cream or any fluid product not named in Class III and containing more than 6 percent of butterfat, (b) used to produce cottage cheese, ice cream or ice cream mix, or (c) contained in dried whole milk, whole or skimmed evaporated or condensed milk, sweetened or unsweetened, unsalted butter, or cheese. Class III should be skim milk and butterfat contained in livestock feed, nonfat dry milk solids or salted butter, or in milk dumped or in plant loss of producer milk not in excess of 2 percent and all plant loss of other source milk.

All classification proposals included milk and flavored milk for fluid consumption in Class I. Producers proposed that skim milk and buttermilk for fluid consumption be in Class I and handlers proposed that these products be in Class II. Representatives of health departments of the larger cities involved testified that such skim milk and buttermilk are required to be made from milk approved for fluid use. It is concluded that milk required to meet the sanitary standards for fluid consumption and the products required to be made from such milk (flavored milk, and skim milk and buttermilk for fluid consumption) should be in Class I.

Testimony indicated that there are no farm inspection requirements for milk disposed of in most of the marketing area in any form other than as milk, flavored milk, skim milk and buttermilk for fluid consumption. Cottage cheese, and cream used for fluid consumption or for ice cream in Detroit must be made in approved plants but the farms producing the milk used in these products are not inspected by city health authorities. There was no showing of any specific difference in the quality of milk used to produce cream and cottage cheese for use in the marketing area and the quality of milk manufactured into evaporated milk, cheese and other products in the various manufacturing plants in the milkshed. Handlers proposed that all products other than those requiring farm inspected milk be included in one class. There does not appear to be justification, on the basis of the quality of milk required for their production, for different classification for milk used to produce cream and the various manufactured products. Butterfat and skim milk used in cream and all manufactured dairy products (with the exception of butter and nonfat dry milk solids which are discussed below) are therefore classified as Class II. The use of a butterfat test of 6 percent was suggested to distinguish between milk products and cream products. This appears to be an appropriate test for this purpose and all fluid products having a butterfat test in excess of 6 percent are included in Class II and those testing 6 percent or less in Class I.

Both producers and distributors proposed a separate classification for so-called "distress" milk resulting from production in excess of market needs, which often must be disposed of at lower prices than received for milk for general manufacturing uses. A large amount of the milk not needed for fluid sales is handled by a cooperative which has limited manufacturing facilities. A substantial volume is also received by distributors who have no manufacturing facilities. The disposition of this milk in the spring months of heavy production has been a serious problem. Since manufacturing plants are operating at close to capacity at that time, disposition of this milk may require these plants to operate in excess of normal capacity, involving high cost overtime rates. In some cases it must be transported to distant plants. The choice of plants to which this milk may be diverted may be limited and sometimes it is accepted only at prices lower than those paid for milk from regular supply sources.

The problem of disposing of surplus milk has been met in recent years by providing a class (Class II–B) for all milk received by a distributor in excess of a certain amount, at a price lower than Class II–A, which includes all manufacturing milk. Distributors proposed to continue this practice by an order provision that in any month when total market receipts of producer milk exceed 147 percent of market Class I utilization, all producer milk received by any handler in excess of 125 percent of his Class I utilization (provided the handlers' Class I utilization was 60 percent or more of his producer milk receipts in the preceding October, November and December) be Class IV milk, to be priced lower than Class III milk. Producers, however, proposed to meet the problem by providing a Class III made up of plant loss, dumped milk and all manufactured products other than ice cream and cottage cheese to be priced relatively low but somewhat higher than the Class IV proposed by the distributors.

The distributors' proposal does not provide that milk be classified in accordance with the form in which or the purpose for which it is used, but would base classification in part upon the amount of milk received and the amount used in another class. The producers' proposal would place a large proportion of the milk used for manufacturing in the lowest price class although there may be no disposal problem with respect to much of this milk.

The seasonal surplus of milk approved for the Detroit area is disposed of so far as possible for the production of sweet cream, ice cream, evaporated milk and cheese. In most years, however, it is not possible to utilize all of the excess spring production in these products. The additional amount is manufactured into butter and nonfat dry milk solids. The return for milk so used has been lower than for milk used in other manufactured products. The cooperative which assumes the major responsibility for disposing of excess milk in the market has facilities for manufacturing butter and nonfat dry milk solids only. In 1949 over 16 million pounds of milk not needed in the market was handled at the manufacturing plant of this cooperative. Of the milk diverted in that year by this cooperative to other plants for manufacture, over 50 million pounds were diverted to plants making butter or nonfat dry milk solids or both, although other products were also made in these plants. Since milk used to produce butter and nonfat dry milk solids is valued lower than that for other uses, and since these products provide a final outlet for milk in the Detroit market which cannot be disposed of for fluid consumption or used in the manufacture of other products, a separate class should be provided for skim milk and butterfat used in butter and nonfat dry milk solids. This class should also include milk dumped or used for livestock feed, and plant loss.

Producers proposed that plant loss up to 2 percent of producer milk received be allowed in the lowest price class, any in excess of this amount to be in Class I. Handlers proposed all plant loss be in the lowest class, claiming that loss of the milk is sufficient incentive to keep such losses at a minimum and that the penalty of Class I pricing of any in excess of 2 percent is not justified. Data submitted indicate that with plant operation of average efficiency, losses normally do not exceed 2 percent. Unlimited allocation of plant loss to Class III would place a premium on unaccounted for milk and encourage incomplete records of Class I utilization. Plant losses of producer milk in excess of 2 percent should be included in Class I.

It was proposed that in the case of milk moved from a country plant operated by a cooperative to a bottling plant, the 2 percent plant loss be allowed at the bottling plant. No reasons were given for limiting this provision to plants operated by a cooperative. It would seem that since part of the plant loss may be incurred at each plant, the allowance might more logically be divided between the plants. However, the proposed method avoids the problem of determining a fixed allocation of plant loss between the two handlers. The country plant operator may recover any receiving loss in his handling charge, and present charges probably cover this cost. It is concluded that the proposed provision, without the cooperative limitations, as well as the standard provisions for prorating loss between producer and other source milk, and allowing loss on diverted producer milk at the plant where actually received, should be included in the order.

(b) Milk transfers. Provision is made for classification of milk transferred between handlers, handlers and persons not handlers, and between cooperative plants and handlers. In the case of transfers between handlers not involving a cooperative plant, transfer is permitted in any agreed class in which the transferee plant has utilization in an amount equal to or greater than the amount so transferred, after allocating any other source milk, since under a market-wide pool the classification of milk transferred between handlers may represent any agreed producer milk use without affecting the payment to producers. Handlers are required to furnish written notification to the market administrator of an agreed classification, otherwise milk transfers are classified as Class I and cream transfers as Class II.

In the case of transfers from a handler plant to a plant not operated by a handler, a requirement that producer milk be allocated to the highest value uses in the transferee plant might increase the difficulty of disposing of surplus milk. Operators of some such nonhandler plants have Class I uses and might refuse to handle surplus milk from the Detroit market if such milk would be allocated to their highest value uses. It is concluded that, as proposed, transfers from a handler plant to a plant not operated by a handler in the form of milk or skim milk be in Class I and in the form of cream be in Class II, but that such transfers shall be classified as mutually agreed by the transferor and transferee if the market administrator is notified of such agreement, the transferee has use in the agreed class in an amount at least equal to the amount transferred, the transferee maintains books and records showing utilization of all receipts at his plant and the market administrator is permitted to verify the reported utilization. In case the agreed utilization in the transferee plant exceeds the total of such utilization in the plant, the excess should be applied next to Class II, then Class III and finally to Class I.

A number of country plants receiving Detroit inspected milk are operated by a cooperative association. Milk is transferred from these plants by tank truck to a large number of handler bottling plants. This milk is now classified for purposes of pricing at the pro rata classification of all producer milk in the bottling plant. Although classification has been on a relatively simple two class, hundredweight basis, market experience has shown that about a month is required to get the utilization reports from all the various buyers and to prorate the transferred milk to each class. Final settlement has not been made until the second month after delivery of the milk.

It is recommended herein that utilization of all handlers, including cooperatives, be reported not later than the 5th day of the month following receipt of the milk, and that a uniform price based on these utilization reports be computed and announced not later than the 10th. It was considered improbable that the cooperative could collect utilization reports from the large number of handlers involved, compute other source milk allocations, prorate cooperative transfers of producer milk over remaining utilization, combine the results into a utilization report for the cooperative and submit it to the administrator in the 5 days allowed. Furthermore, any audit adjustments in classification for each handler involved would require an adjustment between the handler and the cooperative and a second adjustment between the cooperative and the equalization fund of the market-wide pool.

To simplify the procedure of accounting for such transfers, and to facilitate the reporting of utilization by the date specified, it was proposed that handlers operating bottling plants be required to pay the cooperative association a minimum of the uniform base price for the month for such milk. In computing the cooperative equalization account the value of such bulk milk transferred to bottling plants at the uniform base price would be added to the class values of other utilization.

This proposal would not affect the final cost of milk to handlers or the return to producers, and differs from settlement between the cooperative and transferee handlers at a pro-rata or an agreed classification only in the method of handling a relatively small difference between the value of the transferred milk at the pro rata or agreed classification and such value at the uniform base price. This difference would be reflected in the handler's payment made to or received from the equilization account. The recommended procedure would provide the same assurance of payment for milk marketed to handlers through a cooperative plant as for milk delivered directly by producers, and would result in payment for milk by each handler at his utilization value with a minimum of accounting requirements. The use of the uniform base price in computing the equalization account charges and credits for such transferred milk is recommended because it would result in initially charging each handler at the approximate utilization value of the milk and, therefore, relatively small settlements with the equalization fund would be required.

It was proposed that a cooperative not be a handler with respect to milk transferred in bulk to a handler operating a bottling plant. A cooperative operating a plant which first receives milk from producers must be responsible for all records of milk receipts and of payments and therefore should be a handler with respect to all producer milk received at such plant.

Since some handlers do combine operations which utilize other source milk in the same plants as those which handle producer milk for the fluid market, it is necessary to provide a method for allocating such other source milk to the various classes of utilization. Since producer milk includes all milk which is regularly available for fluid disposition in the marketing area, the method of allocating provides that such producer milk shall be allocated to the higher fluid uses to the extent that such uses are available.

(6) Class prices. Since the Detroit fluid milk market supply is obtained from a region in which large quantities of milk are delivered to plants which manufacture various milk products, it is necessary that the price for the fluid market be closely related to the level of prices being paid at competing manufacturing plants. There are some differences from time to time between the prices paid at plants manufacturing different products. Therefore, the Class I price should be related to that particular manufacturing milk price which represents the best outlet for manufacturing milk at any particular time. The method of accomplishing this has been to relate the Class I price to a series of basic formula prices which represent different kinds of manufacturing milk prices. Special differentials should be added to the highest of the prices determined by 4 separate alternate price formulas to determine the Class I price for each month.

(a) Basic formula price. Producers proposed 4 alternate basic formulas for use in determining the Class I price based on prices of butter and powder, butter and cheese, prices paid dairy farmers by 18 midwest dairy manufacturing plants and by 5 Michigan dairy manufacturing plants. Distributors made the same proposal and also proposed use of the same basic formulas in slightly modified form, and the 18 midwest plant price only.

The first 3 of the price formulas included in the producer proposal are widely used for determining Class I prices in milk markets under Federal regulation. The use in this order of these price formulas with appropriate Class I price differentials would correlate the Detroit Class I price with Class I prices in other markets such as Toledo and Cleveland. No objection was made to the use of the average of prices paid by certain Michigan manufacturing plants as an alternate basic formula, but there was disagreement as to which specific plants should be used. A number of different plants were proposed for inclusion, and the use of 7 plants instead of 5 was suggested. The following considerations should govern the selection of these plants so far as possible:

(1) Cooperative plants should not be included since their pay price to farmers usually includes only part of the return for milk, the remainder being paid as a patronage dividend which is not reflected in the reported pay price.

(2) Plants operated by a handler under the order should not be included because prices should be determined wholly independently of the actions of any handler.

(3) The plants selected should represent as wide a variety of manufactured products as possible.

(4) The plants should be so located as to represent all parts of the milkshed.

The use of 7 plants involves the possible difficulty of getting prompt payment reports, and it is improbable that the added quotations would influence the average price appreciably or make it more representative of manufacturing milk values in the area. The reporting of pay prices by the plants selected is voluntary and the use of any plant pay price in this formula will depend on consent of the plant operator to report his average pay price.

The following 5 plants appear to most nearly meet the requirements set forth above and should be used in determining the basic formula price.

Company	Location	Products
Nestles Milk Co.	Ubly	Evaporated milk.
Kraft Cheese Co.	Clare	Cheese.
Carnation Milk Co.	Sheridan	Evaporated milk.
Grand Ledge Milk Co.	Grand Ledge	Nonfat dry milk solids, sweet cream.
Saranac Milk Co.	Saranac	Nonfat dry milk solids, sweet cream, cottage cheese.

Use of the highest formula price as the basic formula price would base the Class I price on the most favorable manufacturing use for milk in each month. In an area where all important dairy products are manufactured, fluid milk markets must compete for milk with plants making the highest value products. The Class I price should therefore be based on the formula representing the highest value for milk for manufacturing.

(b) Class I price. The Class I price should be determined by adding $1.35 to the basic formula price. This added differential should be increased 15 cents when a shortage of producer milk for Class I utilization is indicated by the ratio of receipts of producer milk to Class I utilization in the second preceding month and decreased by 15 cents when an excess supply of milk is so indicated. An additional 15 cents should be added or subtracted for each additional full five percentage points decrease or increase in the ratio of producer milk receipts to Class I utilization.

Producers proposed a Class I price differential of $1.40 to be added to the basic formula price each month. Distributors proposed various differentials varying seasonally, which would average about $1.10 over the year, and one to be determined each month by a supply-demand formula. It was testified that a large proportion of the milk supply for the Detroit area is received at country stations and reshipped to bottling plants. The country station location differentials proposed by producers average 17 cents per hundredweight so that the Class I price reflected in the price to most producers at the point of milk delivery would average 17 cents below the marketing area price. This must be taken into account in setting the Class I differential.

Data covering an estimated 80 percent of the market volume of milk deliveries indicate that the average number of producers supplying the market increased 1.5 percent from 1946 to 1949, while the average milk deliveries per producer increased 2 percent. In the same period, however, average daily Class I sales increased 5 percent. For the three years 1947 through 1949 producer milk deliveries averaged 135 percent of total Class I sales. The Class I price negotiated by the cooperative during this 3 year period averaged $1.39 over the proposed basic formula price. For the year 1947 the Class I price in Detroit averaged $1.23 above manufacturing milk prices as represented by the recommended basic formula price, and for the first 8 months of 1948 averaged only 86 cents above. These relatively low prices were associated with a decline in milk receipts in relation to sales. For the 12 month period ending with July 1948 Class I sales averaged 81 percent of producer milk receipts and during the period from November 1947 through February 1948 the market was short of milk.

Deliveries of milk to the Detroit market seem to respond readily to changes in the relationship of Detroit prices to prices for manufacturing milk. When the differential between the two prices has been large deliveries to Detroit have increased. When the price differential has narrowed deliveries have fallen off. Manufacturing milk prices dropped sharply after August, 1948, and the Class I price was increased, with the result that for the 9 month period from September, 1948, through May, 1949, the differential between Detroit Class I prices and manufacturing prices averaged $2.05 per hundredweight. This period of relatively high Class I prices brought about a reversal of the downward trend of milk receipts in relation to sales. For the year of 1949 Class I sales averaged 69 percent of producer milk receipts compared with 80 percent for 1948, and the supply each month exceeded that in the corresponding month of 1948. In the 12 month period of June, 1949, through May, 1950, the Class I price averaged $1.41 above the proposed basic formula price. During the first 7 months of this period, producer milk receipts increased in relation to Class I sales to a high point in December, 1949, in which month only 70 percent of producer milk was sold as Class I compared with over 84 percent in December 1948. The maximum effect of the high differential between Detroit prices and manufacturing prices from October, 1948, through May, 1949, and of other factors such as favorable weather and ample feed supplies seems to have been reached by the end of 1949.

During the first 5 months of 1950 the excess of milk receipts over the corresponding months of 1949 decreased and receipts in May 1950 were below May 1949. During this period the Class I price was at approximately the level above manufacturing milk prices which producers proposed to be fixed by the order. The record of milk receipts and Class I sales would seem to indicate that a Class I differential as high or higher than that proposed would be necessary to insure an adequate supply of milk. However, a number of provisions of the order other than the Class I price would have the effect of increasing the average return to producers. Distributors not in the present pool but who would be handlers under an order have a higher average Class I utilization than those now pooled. A higher butterfat differential would increase the return somewhat for Class I milk. The Class II order price recommended would probably return somewhat more for milk for these uses than was realized in 1949. Payment for all milk on a complete classified use basis would probably increase the average price to producers for all milk somewhat, and an audit verification of all handler uses would tend to have the same result.

Considering all of the factors discussed above, it is concluded that a Class I price differential of $1.35, subject to a supply-demand adjustment as recommended below, will attract to the Detroit market area an adequate supply of milk meeting the applicable health standards.

A proposal was made that the Class I price differential be adjusted monthly in relation to changes in the ratio of producer milk receipts to Class I utilization. Such a provision appears desirable but the proposal made should be modified somewhat. There are objections, for instance, to relating a current period to a 1947–48–49 base period, as proposed, as a measure of the time and amount of price changes desirable. During this 3 year period producer milk deliveries were 135 percent of Class I utilization, a larger supply than necessary to insure sufficient milk for Class I utilization in the short supply months. The 3 year period was one of wide variations both in prices and in production. The Class I price ranged from 58 cents above the proposed basic formula price to $2.32 above and producer milk receipts ranged from 107 percent of Class I utilization in December, 1947, to 143 percent in December, 1949. For these reasons the 1947–49 period does not seem to be suitable either as an indication of an appropriate Class I price differential, or as a guide to the normal seasonal variations in the ratio of receipts to Class I utilization.

The object of a supply-demand price adjustment in this market is to bring about an automatic price increase when the supply of producer milk is at such a level in relation to Class I utilization that a shortage in the months of seasonally low production is indicated, and a price decrease when the supply may be expected to be substantially above Class I needs in the low production months. These price changes should be made as soon as possible after an oversupply or shortage is indicated, as a lag of a few months may result in increased prices in the spring months of high production as a result of a shortage the previous winter. A minimum lag of 2 months appears necessary, allowing computation in the current month of the market supply-demand relationship in the preceding month to be applied to the Class I price in the next following month.

It was testified that a minimum milk supply for the market of 115 percent of Class I utilization is needed in any one month to provide adequate milk for Class I uses because of unequal distribution among handlers and daily and weekly variations in receipts and sales. A supply of more than 120 percent of Class I utilization in the shortest supply month would indicate a supply larger than needed. An upward price adjustment would be indicated if the market supply of producer milk in the shortest supply month might be expected to fall below 115 percent of Class I utilization and a downward adjustment indicated if this supply might be expected to exceed 120 percent of Class I utilization. Monthly data on daily average deliveries per farm indicate a fairly uniform seasonal variation in production each year. The supply-demand ratio for other months which would correspond to the 115 percent—120 percent range in the shortest supply month may therefore be computed by adjusting these ratios by a standard seasonal variation in producer milk deliveries computed as an average of the seasonal variation of the most recent 5 years. A Class I price increase is then indicated at each full 5 percentage points below the upper ratio (less 0.1 percent) and a decrease at each full 5 percentage points above the lower ratio, as computed or each month. The standard seasonal adjustment should be recomputed each year to keep it representative of the seasonal pattern of the most recent 5 years.

Producer milk receipts in relation to sales and to producer prices over the last 4 years indicate that the proposed 3 cents per percentage point is a desirable rate of supply-demand adjustment of the Class I price differential. A period of 9 months during which the Class I price averaged about 82 cents above the recommended basic formula price coincided with a period of milk shortage. Another period of 8 months during which the Class I price averaged about $2.12 above the recommended basic formula price coincided with and was followed for several months by an oversupply of milk. These data indicate that a range of Class I price differentials somewhat less than these extremes is desirable. A price change of 15 cents for each 5 percentage points, when applied to the supply-demand ratios of the last 4 years gives a top differential of $1.80 and a low (in 3 months only) of 60 cents. It is unlikely that either of these extremes would have been reached had the recommended pricing plan been in effect during these years, since the computed range of 60 cents to $1.80 is based on production responses to differentials ranging from a low of 58 cents to a high of $2.32. The range which might be expected from the use of a 15 cent adjustment for each 5 percentage points probably would not exceed $1.05 to $1.65 which appears appropriate to stimulate an ample supply of producer milk and at the same time avoid a large surplus.

To remove the possibility of a succession of increases and decreases if the ratio should fluctuate slightly above and below the level at which a price change is effected, it is provided that after a price change occurs a change in the ratio of an additional ½ percentage point is required to bring about a succeeding change in the opposite direction.

(c) Class II price. The Class II price should reflect the value of milk for general manufacturing uses in the Detroit milkshed. The average of the prices paid by 5 Michigan dairy manufacturing plants, as recommended for use as an alternate basic formula price, will normally reflect the value of milk in the Detroit area which is not used for fluid milk sales. Much of this milk is diverted to manufacturing uses in the various plants in the milkshed, and the 5 plant average price will usually be representative of the prices received for this milk, because of the selection of the plants as discussed in connection with the basic formula price.

It is possible, however, that due to the limited number of plants which it is practical to use, and the limited area represented, that prices paid by these plants may be lower at times than the market prices of manufactured dairy products would justify. As a safeguard against temporarily depressed prices in the local area, an alternate Class II price based on the market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk solids should be provided. A formula used in many milk markets under Federal regulation for pricing milk for manufacturing uses is recommended. This formula determines butterfat values at the average price of 92-score butter at Chicago plus 20 percent and skim milk values at the average price of spray and roller process nonfat dry milk solids at Chicago area plants less a manufacturing cost allowance of 5.5 cents per pound and converted to skim milk equivalent by use of a yield factor of 8.5 pounds of powder per hundredweight. Use of this formula price as an alternate Class II price would insure a price in line with national values of manufactured dairy products during any periods when the price paid by the particular local plants selected might be abnormally low for any reason.

(d) Class III price. The Class III price should be determined by a butter-powder formula using the average price of 92-score butter at Chicago, increased 20 percent to convert to butterfat, less 5 cents, as the butterfat value per pound, and the average price of roller process nonfat dry milk solids at Chicago area plants, less a manufacturing allowance of 5.5 cents per pound of powder, converted to skim milk equivalent by multiplying by a yield factor of 8.5 pounds per hundredweight, as the skim milk price per hundredweight. As explained in the discussion of classification, Class III is provided largely to facilitate disposal of milk in excess of market needs and the amount which can be diverted to uses other than butter and nonfat dry milk solids. A similar price for butterfat used in butter is in effect in other fluid milk markets such as Cleveland, Columbus, and Cincinnati, Ohio. The skim milk price is based on market prices of roller process powder because spray powder equipment is inadequate to handle the volume of excess skim milk in the Detroit area, and much of it must be used in roller powder. The cooperative which disposes of a large amount of the excess milk has facilities for making roller process powder only. A study submitted showing average manufacturing costs in butter-roller powder manufacturing plants in 1948 indicates a cost per hundredweight of milk of 56 cents. The allowance in the recommended formula of 62.6 cents recognizes an increase in manufacturing costs since 1948.

Producers proposed the average price paid by 5 local manufacturing plants as an alternate Class III price, but applying to a Class III which included most of the manufactured products here priced in Class II. Considering the variety of products manufactured at the local plants, the average price paid might well be too high to permit disposal of milk as butter and roller process nonfat solids, and should not be used as an alternate Class III price.

(e) Method of pricing. Producers proposed that butterfat and skim milk be classified and priced separately. Distributors objected to butterfat and skim milk pricing, and proposed that the utilization in each class in hundredweight be priced at a 3.5 percent hundredweight price, adjusted to average test of the class by use of the producer butterfat differential, which averages about 112 percent of the Chicago 92-score butter price. They contended that resale prices of the various products marketed are adjusted to this method of pricing milk, which has been in use in the market for many years. This method of pricing tends to encourage consumption of butterfat, they claimed, by fixing a relatively low cost for high butterfat content products. Producers claimed that all handlers should pay the same price for all butterfat and skim milk used in any one class and that the relative values of butterfat and skim milk in each class should be the relative values in the open market as shown by market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk solids. These relative values should change from month to month as market values change. The additional cost of producing milk of the quality required for Class I products should be allocated to Class I butterfat and skim milk in proportion to the market values of butterfat and skim milk for manufacturing uses. They pointed out that the distributors' proposal allocated all of this additional cost to the skim milk.

Computing the proposed prices by the method suggested by distributors, for the month of April 1950, skim milk in Class I would have cost $1.99, 3.2 percent milk $4.03 and 5.0 percent milk $5.24. The added fat would cost about the price proposed for butterfat in the Class III formula. In Class II, 100 pounds of 40 percent cream would have cost $26.71 while the 40 pounds of butterfat in this cream would be worth $28.70 at the butterfat value in the proposed Class II formula (Chicago 92-score butter plus 20 percent). Under the pricing method proposed by producers, the corresponding prices would have been 74 cents for skim milk, $3.96 for 3.2 percent milk, $5.78 for 5 percent milk and $29.01 for 40 percent cream.

The proposed methods of pricing milk on a hundredweight basis or a butterfat and skim milk basis represent alternate accounting methods and do not determine the cost of milk to handlers or the return to producers. In view of the market custom of hundredweight accounting and pricing, it appears that a continuation of this method of pricing by the terms of the order is desirable. Class prices should be expressed as hundredweight prices, and the price for each class should be adjusted to the actual butterfat test of the class by use of the butterfat differentials recommended below.

The classification and allocation of producer milk should be on a skim milk and butterfat basis. Because of the wide variation in the butterfat test of the various products, it is probable that the skim milk from producer milk will frequently be utilized in a different class than the butterfat from the same milk. Classification of skim milk and butterfat separately is necessary to accomplish complete classification according to use. It is also necessary to allocate producer skim milk and butterfat separately in order to give producer milk preference over other source milk in the higher value uses.

(f) Handler butterfat differential. The Class I butterfat differential proposed by distributors places a low value on butterfat in Class I milk relative to the hundredweight value of the milk. On the other hand, the producer proposal would price such butterfat relatively high, particularly in view of pricing practices prevailing in the market. The proposed Class I and Class II price formulas would have resulted in the last 3 years in a Class I price for 3.5 percent milk ranging from 23 percent to 32 percent above the Class II price. A Class I butterfat differential set at 20 cents per pound of butterfat above the producer butterfat differential recommended herein would result in a Class I differential ranging between 20 and 30 percent above the Class II butterfat differential, depending on the level of butter prices. A differential so determined would range from 25 to 30 cents above the Chicago 92-score butter price. At price levels of April 1950, this would provide a Class I butterfat differential of 85 cents per pound compared with 65 cents proposed by distributors and $1.015 proposed by producers. It is concluded that the addition of 2 cents to the one-tenth pound producer butterfat differential, which is based on the price of 92-score butter at Chicago, will provide an appropriate Class I butterfat differential.

Since formulas are provided for determining the butterfat and skim milk values in Class II and Class III milk, the butterfat differentials for these classes should be the butterfat values determined by the respective formulas. In the event the 5 plant average pay price is the effective Class II formula, the butterfat differential should be the value determined by the butterfat portion of the Class II butter-powder formula.

(g) Location adjustments. Adjustments for delivery location are provided with respect to payments to producers for milk delivered (1) at country plants (i. e. plants from which no route deliveries are made into the marketing area) located more than 33 miles from the Detroit City Hall and (2) at plants from which route deliveries are made into the marketing area if such plants are located more than 33 miles from the nearest point on the periphery of the marketing area. A credit to handlers at the same rate is provided on milk moved from a country plant to plants operating routes in the marketing area not in excess of Class I disposition of such milk at the receiving plant, and on milk disposed of as Class I milk from the country plant other than to a handler. No location adjustments are provided for plants operating routes in the marketing area and located less than 33 miles from the marketing area, either on payments to producers for milk received or as credits on milk disposed of as Class I.

It was proposed that producer and handler location adjustment rates now in effect be incorporated in the order. For more than 30 years a location adjustment has been applied to milk received at country plants for re-shipment to city bottling plants in the Detroit area. This adjustment, based on the distance of the country plant from some point in the marketing area, has been deducted from the marketing area delivered price in making payments to farmers delivering milk to country plants, and a credit at the same rate has been allowed to country plant operators on milk moved to city plants.

In the earlier years these location adjustment rates were increased several times, reaching a high in 1930 when they ranged from 24 cents per hundredweight at 25 miles or less to 81 cents at 90 miles from the basing point. During the following 9 years the rates were lowered 4 times, to a low which ranged from 12 cents at 45 miles or less to 19 cents at points over 94 miles from the basing point, which rates prevailed for the two years following September 1, 1939.

The slightly higher schedule proposed, which has been in effect since October 1, 1947, provides an adjustment of 14 cents on milk received at or moved from a plant located in a zone 33 miles to 48 miles from the Detroit City Hall by shortest road distance, and an additional 1 cent per hundredweight for each 8 mile zone with a limit of 21 cents, which applies to any location beyond 96 miles. While no data were given on milk hauling costs, the proposed rates were considered somewhat more than adequate to cover cost of transporting the milk by tank truck from the receiving plant to city bottling plants. No allowance was proposed for the zone within 33 miles of the city hall as milk produced within this zone may be delivered more economically directly to city bottling plants.

The location allowance is limited to a maximum of 21 cents which is the allowance applicable to the zone starting at 96 miles from the Detroit City Hall. Ample milk for the market is available within the area included in the 8 zones for which mileage rates are provided and very little milk is moved from beyond 96 miles. The movement of milk for unnecessarily long distances at the producers' expense would not be economical. The proposed maximum rate of 21 cents would not discourage the movement of milk from reasonable distances beyond the 96 miles as the economies of the long haul would to some extent offset the lower rate per mile.

Both the Grand Boulevard and the city hall in Detroit were proposed as basing points for location adjustments. Mileage may be determined more readily from a single point than from a street extending many miles. The Detroit City Hall is therefore specified as the basing point for all distance differentials. Zone distances 3 miles greater than now in use based on the Grand Boulevard are provided to allow for the average 3 mile distance between the two basing points. The shortest road distance as determined by the market administrator was proposed for fixing the zone location of country plants and appears satisfactory for this purpose. The location adjustments as proposed would apply to all producer milk delivered to qualifying country plants in each zone and it appears would result in a fair value for such milk in relation to the value of milk delivered at city bottling plants.

It was proposed by producers that handlers operating receiving plants in the location adjustment area receive a credit computed by applying the applicable zone rate to all milk moved to marketing area bottling plants regardless of the use classification of the milk so moved. Handlers proposed that the customary method of pricing milk be continued and this method, in effect, allows the location adjustment credit on 107 percent of Class I utilization. This results from adjusting the city price of Class II–B milk, which includes all producer milk in excess of 107 percent of Class I milk, by adding the average location adjustment of 17 cents to the Class II–B price formula. While the location adjustment credit is allowed on all milk moved to city bottling plants, it is in effect removed from Class II–B milk by increasing the marketing area price by the average location adjustment. This method of pricing manufacturing milk is not recommended.

Producers should not be required to bear the cost of transporting manufacturing milk from country plants to city plants. Milk may usually be manufactured more economically in country plants, and if a handler chooses to transport milk into the city for manufacture he should pay the cost of transportation. The handler location adjustment should apply therefore only to milk moved to bottling plants for Class I use. The use of milk moved from country plants would be determined by pro-rating to such milk the classification of all producer milk in the bottling plant (after first allocating other source milk to the lowest value uses). Since in most cases some milk in excess of Class I uses must be moved to a city bottling plant from country plants, limiting the handler credit to Class I milk only would result in a small reduction of the credit now being allowed.

Existing location adjustments to country plant operators are considered satisfactory by both producers and distributors. In fact transportation costs justify a somewhat lower handler credit but it appears that this is about offset by the smaller quantity of milk to which the location adjustment will apply and for this reason no modification of the rate is made.

Because of the large size of the marketing area, some bottling plants located in the marketing area would also be in a zone to which a location adjustment would apply. It was proposed that the producer location adjustment apply to milk delivered to such plants as well as that delivered to country receiving plants. It was further proposed by distributors that handlers disposing of Class I or Class II producer milk from plants located in a location adjustment zone, including bottling plants in the marketing area, receive a credit on such milk at the rate of the handler location adjustment applicable to the zone. Producers also proposed such a credit but that it be applicable only at plants located more than 64 miles from the Detroit City Hall.

The portion of the marketing area including the city of Ann Arbor would be in the first location adjustment zone (33 to 48 miles from the Detroit City Hall) and that including Port Huron and nearby cities would lie in the first 3 zones (33 to 64 miles from the Detroit City Hall). As proposed, producers delivering milk to Ann Arbor bottling plants would receive 14 cents less than for milk delivered within the 33 mile zone, and those delivering to plants in Port Huron and nearby areas would receive 14 to 16 cents less. As proposed by handlers, a handler credit of like amount would be allowed on Class I and Class II disposition from these plants. Under the producers' proposal, however, no credit on Class I and Class II disposition would be allowed within the 64-mile zone, which would exclude all plants within the marketing area.

All parts of the marketing area are dependent upon the entire production area for a year around supply of milk. While part of the milk for the Ann Arbor and Port Huron areas is supplied by nearby farms, both areas depend for a large amount of milk on country plants which are part of the supply system for the entire marketing area. The prices necessary to attract an adequate supply of milk should apply therefor to all parts of the area. Lower prices in outlying parts of the marketing area would not attract sufficient milk for these localities.

Location adjustments to producers are provided to adjust the amount paid for milk which is not delivered to city bottling plants to allow for the additional cost of moving such milk from the plant where it is delivered by the producer to the area where it is to be distributed and should not apply to milk delivered by a producer to a bottling plant distributing milk in or near the marketing area unless the bottling plant is located an appreciable distance from the marketing area. No location differentials are recommended at points nearer than 33 miles to the Detroit City Hall. The same distance is appropriate for determining the application of a location differential to plants operating routes in the marketing area, except the distance should apply to the nearest point by highway to the boundary of the marketing area. It is provided that location adjustments, both producer and handler, apply to milk delivered to plants more than 33 miles from the Detroit City Hall, and in the case of plants operating routes in the marketing area, also located more than 33 miles from the boundary of the marketing area.

Handler plants receiving Detroit inspected milk may dispose of Class I milk in localities outside the marketing area. It was testified that the Detroit market is the dominant factor in the determination of prices in the entire milkshed. Hence, the Detroit Class I price, less the applicable location adjustment, would represent approximately the value of Class I milk disposed of from any plant in the Detroit milkshed. It is provided that a handler shall receive a credit with respect to Class I milk disposed of, other than to another handler, from a plant outside the marketing area from which a route is not operated in the marketing area at the rate of the location adjustment for the zone in which the plant is located. This credit is made applicable only at plants located more than 33 miles from the nearest point by highway to the boundary of the marketing area in the case of plants disposing of milk on routes in the marketing area. No allowance is provided for Class II milk since this milk would be mostly used in manufactured products and its value would not decrease at locations more distant from Detroit.

(h) Transportation credits. No transportation credits in addition to the zone location adjustment should be allowed to handlers on Class I milk disposed of, or on Class II or Class III milk moved for manufacturing.

It was proposed that a credit be allowed to a handler on any bulk, unpasteurized milk moved to a person other than a handler at a location 64 miles or more from the Detroit City Hall for Class I utilization computed at a rate of 17 cents for the 64 to 72 mile zone from the Detroit City Hall and increased one cent for each additional 8-mile zone. It was testified that the proposal was intended to permit disposal of milk during the summer season to milk distributors in distant resort areas at a price not in excess of the Detroit Class I price at the handler's receiving plant.

This proposal conflicts with the proposal discussed above to allow a credit on any Class I disposition other than to another handler from certain plants at the rate of the location differential applicable to the plant. This proposal, in effect, would require producers to pay the transportation cost to any point more than 64 miles from Detroit where a handler might choose to dispose of bulk Class I milk. If Class I milk from the Detroit area is needed in a distant market, it appears that the cost of transporting the needed milk should be borne by the market which is short of milk and not by the milk producers of the area from which the milk is supplied.

It was also proposed that a credit be allowed to handlers on milk transported from the plant where it is received from producers to another plant for manufacture at a rate of 6 cents per hundredweight for distances of ½ mile to 5 miles between the receiving plant and the manufacturing plant and at the rate of 1 cent for each additional 8 miles or fraction thereof with a maximum allowance of 18 cents per hundredweight.

In the Detroit market some milk distributors receive all of their milk needs from producers, either at a city bottling plant or at country plants, and manufacture the receipts in excess of their fluid milk needs into dairy products, generally at the plant where the milk is received from producers. If it is necessary to move any of the milk to another plant for manufacture, the transportation cost is paid by the distributor. Other distributors buy part or all of their milk from a producers cooperative association and assume no responsibility for disposing of milk in excess of their needs for fluid sales. The cooperative must arrange for converting the surplus milk which these distributors would otherwise be required to handle into manufactured products and in doing so must move substantial quantities from the country plants where it is received from producers to other plants for manufacture. It is expected, therefore, that the cooperative would be the main recipient of the transportation credits under this proposal.

If the proposed credits were provided for in the order, some of the costs which the cooperative must bear in the disposal of surplus milk would be defrayed out of the equalization pool and ultimately reflected in a lower return to all producers. A number of handlers have arranged to dispose of all surplus milk incident to their operations without the necessity of transporting milk at the expense of producers. The level of surplus milk prices which is provided is designed to cover the cost of converting surplus milk into manufactured dairy products. Any extra costs which the cooperative must bear appear to be due to additional services performed for certain distributors such as furnishing milk in the exact amounts needed for Class I uses, maintaining country receiving plants, keeping an adequate supply of milk available at all times and handling the disposal of any milk not needed by these distributors. It appears that these extra costs should be reflected in the cost of milk to the distributors who receive the additional services rather than be charged to producers through pool credits. The charge for manufacturing milk should be the same for all handlers, including cooperatives, without special allowances or credits applicable to particular methods of handling this milk.

(7) Payments to producers—(a) Type of pool. Market-wide pooling of all proceeds of producer milk was proposed and no objection was made to this type of pool. The nature of the market requires a uniform price to all producers representing the value of all market utilization to fairly compensate producers for their contribution to the market supply. Some distributors buy as closely as possible to their needs and carry little or no surplus in the high production months. A cooperative handles a large portion of the spring surplus production and supplies many distributors with milk as needed. Distributors in the Ann Arbor area buy from producers less milk than needed for a large portion of the year, and depend on additional purchases of milk in bulk from a cooperative. Some country plants supply milk for fluid distribution only in a few months of low production but maintain an available supply at all times. Producers supplying these various handler plants contribute equally to making available a year around supply of milk but would receive widely varying returns under an individual handler pool method of payment.

Handlers are required to make payments for all producer milk received at the uniform base price for base milk and the excess price for excess milk, as explained below, either to producers directly or to a cooperative association for milk delivered by member producers. In the case of producers for whom a cooperative acts as marketing agent, payments may be made to the producer or to the cooperative, as agreed between the cooperative and the handler. Payments to a cooperative for producer milk delivered in bulk are required to be made at the uniform base price for the reasons set forth in the discussion of transfers.

(b) Base-excess plan. A "base plan" for returning the proceeds of milk sales to producers in a way which will encourage more uniform seasonal production is provided. Milk delivered in the February–July period is to be paid for on the basis of deliveries during the August–December period.

A base plan has been in use in the Detroit market since 1930 and a proposal was made to incorporate this plan in the order in substantially the form now in use. It was shown that at the time the base plan of payment was introduced 20 years ago, milk deliveries to the market in the highest production month were 175 percent of deliveries in the lowest month. After 10 years of operation of the plan (1940), milk receipts in the highest production month were only 126 percent of the lowest month. During the next 5 years war-time demand and higher prices apparently somewhat offset the base plan incentive for even seasonal production. By 1945 the seasonal variation in milk receipts as measured by the percentage relationship of the highest month to the lowest month had increased to 146 percent. In the following 4 years seasonal variation in production improved and in 1949 the high month was down to 134 percent of the low month. If the seasonal variation of 1920 had prevailed in 1949, and November deliveries had been only adequate for market needs (115 percent of Class I utilization), deliveries in June would have been over 201 percent of Class I and in volume over 60 million pounds of milk in excess of Class I needs. It was stated that in view of the difficulty experienced in disposing of the actual market surplus in 1949 when June receipts exceeded Class I utilization by only 30 million pounds, a completely demoralized market might have resulted without the influence of the base plan on seasonal production.

Basically, the plan provides that each producer will receive the Class II price for milk delivered each month in excess of a daily average amount, the producer's "base", which base is the daily average of shipments of the producer for the period of August through December of the previous year, the "base period." For milk deliveries not in excess of base, a "uniform base price" is paid which is computed by dividing total market base milk deliveries into the remaining returns for all producer milk marketed during the month after deducting the value of the excess milk. The plan as proposed by the cooperative differed from the simplified outline above in two major respects: (1) in the case of a daily average of base period deliveries lower than the base already held by a producer, the new base would be the previous base less any amount by which 90 percent of the previous base exceeds the average daily base period deliveries, and (2) once during each year a producer may elect to give up his base and to establish a new base under the method proposed for establishing the base of a new producer.

Continuation of producer payments on the base and excess plan during the base forming months was proposed. This is not recommended here, however. The base-excess plan was proposed as an incentive for more even seasonal production, the objective being to encourage each producer to produce more of his total year supply of milk in the late summer and fall months and less in the spring months. Payments on the plan in the late summer and fall months is directly contrary to the claimed objective since a producer would thereby receive only the Class II price for production in those months in excess of his base. Use of the base-excess payments in all months tends to make the base a sort of market quota which can be increased only under penalty of producing milk in excess of base at the manufacturing price for 5 months. The plan might thus be made an important factor in limiting over-all production, but the act contemplates a price level which will insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk rather than the adjustment of milk supply to market needs by means of market quotas. It is concluded, therefore, that all milk should be considered base milk during the base forming months, and the month of January during which new bases are being computed, and the uniform base price during those months should be a blend price of all uses by all handlers.

The need for a provision that bases be reduced by the difference between the average base period deliveries and 90 percent of the previous base would seem to be largely eliminated if use of bases is discontinued on July 31 and resumed on February 1 of the following year. Removal of the provision for making payments at the excess milk price for deliveries in excess of base during the base forming months would remove the incentive for holding fall production close to base and probably result in fewer cases of reduction in base because of accident, disease and other conditions more or less beyond the control of the producer.

A producer may desire to change his level of production and should not be required to receive payment for the higher production at the excess price for the remainder of the base period. It was proposed that producers be permitted to re-establish a base in line with their normal production level by allowing any producer to relinquish his base, and to establish a base as a new producer once during each year. This would make the plan more flexible and would take care of cases of abnormally low production during the base period due to unusual circumstances.

In the Detroit market the months of lowest production in relation to fluid milk sales are normally October, November, December and January. The base period proposed includes August and September which usually are months of more plentiful supply than are January and February, and does not include January. These months appear to have been selected to offset the lag in production responses which requires the stimulus to fall and winter production to become effective some months in advance of the period of shortest production in relation to market needs. A base period extending through January and February would tend to result in higher production in the spring months of oversupply. Deliveries of base milk in the 5 months of the base period averaged over 87 percent of Class I sales in the last 4 years, and over 91 percent in 1946 and 1947, which indicates the desirability of shifting production to those months. It is concluded that the proposed base forming period should be adopted except that deliveries for only 122 days during the period be required. This would allow for a producer starting delivery not later than September 1, and for limited lapses in delivery during the period.

It was proposed that a new producer entering the market or a producer electing to give up his base shall be paid for a certain percentage of his milk during each of the first three full months of delivery at the base price and the remainder at the excess price. These percentages are fixed for each month at a somewhat lower percentage of base and higher percentage of excess than the normal market average of all producers for the month. The amount of milk paid for as base milk, averaged over the three-month period, determines the producer's daily base until a new base is established. The percentages proposed are now in use in the market and reflect the differences in seasonal production patterns of old producers and new producers as determined from market experience. The low spring percentages are necessary if producers are to be given the option of establishing a new base in order to prevent producers having a wide seasonal variation from receiving higher payments than justified by establishing two bases each year. The recommended percentages of milk deliveries to be paid for at the base price, 75 percent for February, 70 percent for March, 60 percent for April and July and 40 percent for May and June, are appropriate for making payments to new producers and to producers who elect to establish new bases.

A period of one month is allowed following the end of the base period to compute new bases. Every producer (except those who have been on the market less than 3 months) receives a new base on February 1 computed on average daily deliveries during the base forming months.

It was proposed that bases in use on the effective date of the order be applicable, subject to the approval of the market administrator, until the next February 1. However, the record indicates that there are some 2,000 producers who would have no base. It was proposed that the market administrator collect data on deliveries of these producers for the previous base forming months, or the first 3 months of delivery, and compute bases as if the order had been in effect during the base forming months of the previous year. Aside from the difficulties of collecting the data and making the computations in the brief period allowed, and the probable lack of some necessary records, which make the proposal impractical if not impossible to carry out, the proposal, in effect would make certain provisions of the order retroactive to periods several months before the order would become effective, which is not provided by the act. The same objection applies to requiring payments on bases already established previous to the effective date of the order.

It is provided that all milk be paid for at a blend price until bases have been established by deliveries during the first base period after the order becomes effective. This, of course, would not prevent a cooperative from re-pooling the returns for milk of its members and making payments on such base and excess plan as it may elect.

Rules have been provided for the handling of bases under certain circumstances. It is provided that any producer who fails to deliver milk to a handler for 45 consecutive days shall lose his base.

(c) Producer butterfat differential. Payments to producers must be adjusted for butterfat content. The proposed butterfat differential, based on the market price of 92-score butter at Chicago, has been in use in the market since 1941. This differential appears to have resulted in a supply of producer milk of satisfactory butter fat test for the needs of the market, and it is recommended as a provision of the order. Order prices are set for 3.5 percent milk as prices have always been announced for milk of this test in the market, and the basic test of 3.5 percent apparently requires a minimum of adjustment to arrive at prices for actual tests of producer milk.

(8) Administrative provisions—(a) Administrative assessment. The act provides that the costs of administering a milk marketing order shall be financed by assessments on handlers subject to the order. An assessment of 2 cents per hundredweight of milk received from producers was proposed for the purpose. Although a considerable volume of cream from sources other than producers is received, testimony indicates that a fair apportionment of the administrative costs among handlers may be arrived at by basing the assessment on receipts of producer milk only. Normally, little or no other source milk is received as milk at handler plants. Should the rate of 2 cents per hundredweight prove more than adequate to cover costs of administering the order, it is provided that the Secretary may prescribe a lesser amount.

(b) Marketing services. To verify payments to producers at required rates, it is necessary to determine that butterfat tests and weights are accurate. To promote orderly marketing and encourage the production of an adequate supply of milk of satisfactory quality, it is necessary to furnish information regarding the market to individual producers. The cost of these market services should be paid by the producers who receive the benefits. Cooperative associations may be performing these services for members. It is provided, therefore, that in making payments to producers who are members of cooperatives determined by the Secretary to be performing such services, handlers shall deduct and pay to the cooperative such deductions as are authorized by the members of the cooperative. In the case of producers who are not receiving such services from their cooperative, the service should be performed by the market administrator with funds provided by a deduction from payments to such producers. It was proposed that a deduction of 5 cents per hundredweight be provided for this purpose. No testimony opposed such a deduction or indicated that a different rate should be provided.

Data on costs of furnishing these services to producers not serviced by cooperatives indicate that such costs would be relatively high. These producers deliver milk to 89 plants which are scattered over a wide area. It was estimated that butterfat check-testing costs under these conditions would be over 60 cents per test. It is provided that a deduction of 5 cents per hundredweight be made from payments to producers not receiving market services from a cooperative of which they are members and paid to the market administrator to be used for performing such services, and that this rate of 5 cents may be lowered by the Secretary if experience proves a lesser amount to be sufficient.

(c) Other administrative provisions. The other provisions cover administrative procedures necessary to carry out the pricing and payment requirements of the order, and for the liquidation of accounts in the event of suspension or termination of the order. Appointment of a market administrator is provided for and his powers and duties are prescribed. The computations to be made by the market administrator in determining class prices and the uniform base price are set forth. A producer-equalization account is provided and the method of determining payments due to and from this account outlined so that each handler payments to or receipts from this account, together with his payments to producers or cooperatives for milk will equal the value of his producer milk at the class prices. Handlers are required to permit verification by audit of all utilization of milk and milk products. Handlers are required to preserve all necessary records to show receipts, utilization and payments for a period of three years. This is considered long enough to allow for all necessary verification and at the same time not burden handlers with an unreasonable volume of old records. Records involved in any litigation, however, must be retained until released by the market administrator.

The termination of any obligation of a handler regarding any payment required by the order or of the market administrator to pay any handler is provided at the end of two years. Exceptions in the case of handler obligations are made in cases of notification of the obligation by the market administrator, failure or refusal of a handler to submit records, or transactions involving fraud or willful concealment of facts. A definite date for terminating obligations prevents the filing of claims which might extend back many years and involve substantial amounts. The resulting uncertainty could cause serious inequities and endanger the stability of the market. Handlers cannot always be forewarned as to contingent liabilities and it is extremely difficult and burdensome for them to make adequate provision therefor by setting up reserves or by taking other precautionary measures. It is concluded that in general a period of two years is a reasonable time in which the market administrator should complete his audits and render billings for money due under the order.

Payments to producers have customarily been made on the 15th of the month following that in which the milk was received. It is considered desirable to continue this practice, as a shorter time is impractical considering the necessary reports and computations to be made. Producers should not be required to wait longer than 15 days when payment can be made within that time. Dates specified for announcement of class prices, submission of handler reports, announcement of uniform prices and equalization fund obligations are so set as to permit payments to producers by the 15th of the following month.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs were filed on behalf of producers and certain handlers. The briefs contained proposed findings of fact, conclusions and argument with respect to the proposals discussed at the hearing. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that such suggested findings and conclusions contained in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions are denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this decision.

Recommended marketing agreement and order. The following order is recommended as the appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreement is not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be identical with those contained in the order.

The market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 924.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. All skim milk and butterfat received at a handler plant (a) in milk from producers (except as provided in § 924.43 (c)) or from a cooperative association, (b) in any form from other handlers and (c) in other source milk required to be reported pursuant to § 924.30 shall be classified (separately as skim milk and butterfat) in the classes set forth in § 924.41.

§ 924.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 924.42 and 924.43 the classes of utilization shall be:

(a) Class I utilization shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) disposed of for consumption in fluid form as milk, flavored milk, skim milk or buttermilk; and (2) not accounted for as Class II utilization or Class III utilization.

(b) Class II utilization shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) disposed of for fluid consumption as sweet or sour cream or any fluid product not named in Class III and containing more than 6 percent of butterfat; or (2) used to produce ice cream or ice cream mix, cheese (including cottage cheese), dried whole milk, evaporated or condensed whole or skim milk, sweetened or unsweetened, and unsalted butter.

(c) Class III utilization shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) used to produce nonfat dry milk solids or salted butter; or (2) dumped or disposed of as livestock feed; or (3) in shrinkage of producer milk up to 2 percent of receipts from producers and in shrinkage of other source milk.

§ 924.42 Shrinkage. (a) If producer milk is utilized in conjunction with other source milk, the shrinkage shall be allocated pro rata between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk and other source milk.

(b) Producer milk transferred by a handler to another handler without first having been received for the purposes of weighing and testing in the transferring handler's plant shall be included in the receipts at the plant of the second handler for the purpose of computing his shrinkage and shall be excluded at the plant of the transferring handler in computing his shrinkage.

(c) Producer milk received at a plant from which a route is not operated in the marketing area and transferred in bulk from such plant to a plant from which a route is operated in the marketing area shall be subtracted from the producer milk receipts at the first plant and added to the producer milk receipts at the second plant in computing shrinkage.

§ 924.43 Transfers. (a) Skim milk and butterfat disposed of by a handler to another handler (except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section) in the form of milk or skim milk shall be Class I utilization, and skim milk and butterfat so disposed of in the form of cream shall be Class II utilization unless in either case use in another class is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 5th day after the end of the month within which such transfer was made: Provided, That in no event shall the amount so classified in other than Class I be greater than the amount of producer milk used in such class by the receiving handler after allocating other source milk in the receiving handler's plant in series beginning with the lowest priced utilization.

(b) Skim milk and butterfat disposed of in the form of milk or skim milk by a handler to a person not a handler shall be Class I utilization, and skim milk and butterfat so disposed of in the form of cream shall be Class II utilization, unless (1) utilization is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both the handler and the receiver on or before the 5th day of the month following the month in which such transfer was made, and (2) the receiver maintains books and records showing the utilization and disposition of all skim milk and butterfat at his plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the verification of such mutually indicated utilization: Provided, That if such plan had not actually used an equivalent amount of skim milk or butterfat in such indicated use, the remaining pounds shall be classified as Class II to the extent that such utilization is available and any amount still remaining as Class III to the extent that such utilization is available and any amount still remaining as Class I, as if the classes of utilization set forth in § 924.41 were applicable to such plant.

(c) Producer milk transferred in bulk from a plant operated by a cooperative association from which no milk is disposed of on a route(s) in the marketing area to a plant as described in § 924.6 (a), except a plant as described in § 924.101, shall be deducted before classification of producer milk at the plant of the transferor cooperative and shall be included in producer milk classified at the plant of the transferee handler.

§ 924.44 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification. All skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class I utilization unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

§ 924.45 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and obvious errors the monthly report submitted by each handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I, Class II, and Class III utilization for such handler.

§ 924.46 Allocation of butterfat classified. The pounds of butterfat remaining after making the following computations shall be the pounds in each class allocated to milk received from producers.

(a) Subtract from the total pounds of butterfat in Class III utilization, the pounds of butterfat shrinkage allowed pursuant to § 924.41 (c) (3);

(b) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class, in series beginning with the lowest-priced utilization, the pounds of butterfat in other source milk;

(c) Subtract from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class, the pounds of butterfat received from other handlers (except from a cooperative as set forth in § 924.43 (c)) in such classes pursuant to § 924.43 (a); and

(d) Add to the remaining pounds of butterfat in Class III utilization the pounds subtracted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section;

(e) If the remaining pounds of butterfat in all classes exceed the pounds of butterfat in milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class in series, beginning with the lowest-priced utilization.

§ 924.47 Allocation of skim milk classified. Allocate the pounds of skim milk in each class to milk received from producers in a manner similar to that prescribed for butterfat in § 924.46.

(1) From the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the U. S. D. A. during the month; subtract 3 cents, add 20 percent thereof and multiply by 3.5.

(2) From the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the weighted averages of carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the U. S. D. A., deduct 5.5 cents and then multiply by 8.2.

(c) The price per hundredweight resulting from the following formula:

(b) Beginning in the third month after this order becomes effective, the percentage which total receipts of producer milk by all handlers during the preceding month is of total Class I utilization of all handlers during such period shall be computed each month by the market administrator, and for the following month the Class I price shall be decreased 15 cents for each full 5 percentage points which such percentage is above the percentage for the corresponding month in column A of the following schedule and increased 15 cents for each full 5 percentage points which such percentage is below the percentage for the corresponding month in column B: Provided, That when the price has been so decreased or increased it shall not be next increased or decreased, respectively, until such percentage is ½ percentage point higher or lower, as the case may be, than the percentage at which such price change would otherwise be made.

This schedule shall be recomputed in January of each year as follows:

(1) Compute for each month of each of the next preceding 5 years the percentage which the average daily deliveries of all producers for the month is of the average daily deliveries of all producers for the year;

(2) Add the percentage so computed for the corresponding months of each of the 5 years and divide by 5;

(a) Multiply the average price per pound of butter as described in paragraph (b) (1) of § 924.50 by 1.2, subtract 5 cents and then multiply by 3.5.

(b) From the weighted average of the carlot prices per pound of roller process nonfat dry milk solids in barrels for human consumption f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area as reported by the U. Class I milk. Add 2 cents to the producer butterfat differential determined pursuant to § 924.82.

Class II milk. Divide by .35 the amount determined pursuant to § 924.52 (a) (1).

Class III milk. Divide by .35 the amount determined pursuant to § 924.53 (a).

DETERMINATION OF PRICE TO PRODUCERS

§ 924.60 Computation of value of milk for each handler. (a) Subject to paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section, the value of producer milk received during the month by each handler shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying by the applicable class price adjusted pursuant to § 924.54 the total combined hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat received from producers allocated to each class pursuant to §§ 924.46 and 924.47, adding together the resulting amounts, and if such handler has a utilization greater than has been accounted for as received from all sources, add an amount computed by multiplying any such excess utilization classified pursuant to § 924.46 (e) and § 924.47 by the applicable class prices.

(b) Each handler who has other source milk allocated to Class I pursuant to § 924.46 and § 924.47 shall pay to the producer equalization fund each month an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of milk so allocated by the difference between the Class I and Class II prices for the month adjusted by the butterfat differentials provided in § 924.54 to the butterfat test of such other source milk.

(c) A handler who receives producer milk at a plant which is located more than 33 miles by shortest highway distance from the boundary of the marketing area shall receive a credit each month with respect to producer milk disposed of as Class I utilization, other than to a handler, computed at the rate for the zone in which the plant is located as determined by the market adminstrator, as set forth in the schedule in paragraph (d) of this section.

(d) A handler who receives milk from producers (1) at a plant located outside the marketing area and more than 33 miles by shortest highway distance from the Detroit City Hall and from which no milk is disposed of on a route in the marketing area or (2) at a plant which is located outside the marketing area and more than 33 miles by shortest highway distance from the boundary of the marketing area and from which milk is disposed of on a route in the marketing area shall receive a credit with respect to producer milk moved in bulk from such plant to a plant from which milk is disposed of on a route in the marketing area computed on the weight of milk so moved which is not in excess of the amount of such milk classified as Class I utilization in the plant to which such milk is moved (pro rating to such milk the utilization of all producer milk received at such plant) at the rate for the applicable zone as determined by the market administrator, as follows:

Zone No.	Shortest road distance from Detroit City Hall	Rate per cwt.
1	More than 33 miles but not more than 48 miles	$0.14
2	More than 48 miles but not more than 56 miles	.15
3	More than 56 miles but not more than 64 miles	.16
4	More than 64 miles but not more than 72 miles	.17
5	More than 72 miles but not more than 80 miles	.18
6	More than 80 miles but not more than 88 miles	.19
7	More than 88 miles but not more than 96 miles	.20
8	More than 96 miles	.21

§ 924.61 Computation of the 3.5 percent value of all producer milk. For each month, the market administrator shall compute the 3.5 percent value of producer milk by:

(a) Combining into one total the individual values of milk of all handlers, computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of § 924.60;

(b) Adding the aggregate value of all allowable producer location adjustments computed at the rates for the appropriate zones as provided in § 924.81;

(c) Adding or subtracting any charges or credits pursuant to § 924.90 (a);

(d) Adding, if the weighted average butterfat test of all producer milk represented in paragraph (a) of this section is less than 3.5 percent, or subtracting if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is more than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the total pounds of butterfat represented by the difference of such average butterfat test from 3.5 percent by the butterfat differential provided in § 924.82 multiplied by 10.

(e) Adding not less than one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-equalization fund.

§ 924.63 Computation of uniform price for base milk. (a) Multiply the total pounds of excess milk and milk to be paid for at the excess milk price pursuant to § 924.70 (b) for the month by the excess milk price.

(b) Subtract the total values arrived at in paragraph (a) of this section, from the total 3.5 percent value of all producer milk arrived at in § 924.61;

(c) Divide the resultant value by the total hundredweight of base milk and milk to be paid for at the base price pursuant to § 924.70 (b); and

(d) Subtract not less than four cents nor more than five cents. The resultant hundredweight price shall be the uniform price of base milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received at plants described in § 924.6.

§ 924.64 Notification. On or before the 10th day after the end of each month the market administrator shall notify each handler of:

(a) The amounts and values of his skim milk and butterfat in each class and the total of such amounts and values;

(b) The base of any producer delivering milk to the handler which was not used in making payments for the previous month.

(d) The totals of the minimum amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 924.80, 924.84, 924.86, 924.87 and 924.90.

BASE RULES

§ 924.70 Determination of base. (a) A producer who delivered milk on at least 122 days during the period August 1 through December 31, inclusive, of any year shall have a base computed by the market administrator to be applicable for the 6 months' period beginning the following February 1, equal to his daily average milk deliveries from the date on which milk was first delivered in the period to the end of such August 1-December 31 period.

(b) A producer who has no base shall be paid during the first three full months he is a producer within the period February through July the price applicable to base milk for the following percentages of his milk deliveries and the price applicable to excess milk for the remainder of his deliveries: 75 percent for February, 70 percent for March, 60 percent for April and July and 40 percent for May and June. At the conclusion of the first three full months' delivery, a base shall be established in the following manner: Multiply the total deliveries during each such month by the applicable percentages. Add the amounts so computed and divide by the number of days in which milk was delivered during the three months.

(c) From the effective date of this part until bases are established pursuant to this section, all milk delivered by producers shall be considered to be base milk.

§ 924.71 Application of bases. (a) A base shall apply to deliveries of milk by the producer for whose account that milk was delivered during the base period;

(b) Bases may be transferred only during the period of February through July upon written notice by the holder of the base to the market administrator on or before the last day of the month that such base is to be transferred only as follows:

(1) Upon the death, retirement or entry into military service of a producer, the entire base may be transferred to a member or members of his immediate family.

(2) If a base is held jointly and such joint holding is terminated, the entire base may be transferred to one of the joint holders or to another person.

(c) A producer who does not deliver milk to a handler for 45 consecutive days shall forfeit his base.

§ 924.72 Establishing a new base. A producer with a base, by notifying the market administrator that he relinquishes such base, may establish a new base pursuant to § 924.70 (b) once during the seven-month period ending with July 31, the period for establishing a new base to begin the first day of the month in which such notification is received by the market administrator.

PAYMENT FOR MILK

§ 924.80 Time and method of payment. On or before the 15th day after the end of each month each handler who received milk from producers or from a cooperative association shall pay for milk received during such month to each producer, or to a cooperative association for milk received from such association or from producers for the account of such association, the uniform base price for base milk and for milk to be paid for at the base price pursuant to § 924.70 (b) and milk transferred pursuant to § 924.43 (c), and the excess price for excess milk, and milk to be paid for at the excess price pursuant to § 924.70 (b), adjusted by the butterfat differential pursuant to § 924.82 and any location adjustment pursuant to § 924.81: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such month pursuant to § 924.85, he shall not be deemed to be in violation of this section if he reduces uniformly to all producers and cooperative associations his payments per hundredweight by a total amount not in excess of the reduction in payments due from the market administrator; however, the handler shall make such balance of payment uniformly to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this section next following that on which such balance of payment is received from the market administrator.

§ 924.81 Location adjustments to producers. In making payments to producers or cooperative associations pursuant to § 924.80 a handler may deduct with respect to all milk received by him from producers at a plant located outside the marketing area and more than 33 miles by shortest highway distance from the Detroit City Hall, as determined by the market administrator, and if milk is distributed from such plant on a route(s) in the marketing area, also located more than 33 miles by the shortest highway distance from the boundary of the marketing area, the amount per hundredweight applicable to the zone in which such plant is located as set forth in § 924.60 (d).

§ 924.82 Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 924.80, the base price and excess price shall be increased or decreased for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat content in the milk received from each producer or a cooperative association above or below 3.5 percent, as the case may be, by a butterfat differential of 7 cents when the average price of butter as described in § 924.50 (b) (1) is 60 cents, which differential shall be increased one-half cent for each full 5 cents variance in such price of butter above 60 cents and decreased one-half cent for each full 5-cent variance in such price of butter below 64.99 cents.

§ 924.83 Producer-equalization fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund, known as the "producer-equalization fund" into which he shall deposit all payments received pursuant to § 924.84 and out of which he shall make all payments pursuant to § 924.85.

§ 924.84 Payments to the producer-equalization fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of each month, each handler

(a) Whose value of milk is required to be computed pursuant to § 924.60 (a) shall pay to the market administrator any amount by which such value for such month (in the case of a cooperative association which is a handler plus the value of any milk transferred as provided in § 924.43 (c) at the uniform price for base milk for the month adjusted pursuant to § 924.82) is greater than the minimum amount required to be paid by him pursuant to § 924.80, and

(b) Who is required to make payment pursuant to § 924.60 (b) shall pay such amount to the market administrator.

§ 924.85 Payment out of the producer-equalization fund. On or before the 14th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall pay to each handler any amount by which the value of milk for such handler for the month pursuant to § 924.60 (a) (in the case of a cooperative association which is a handler plus the value of any milk transferred as provided in § 924.43 (c) at the uniform price for base milk for the month adjusted pursuant to § 924.82) is less than the total minimum amount required to be paid by him pursuant to § 924.80, less any unpaid obligations of such handler to the market administrator pursuant to § 924.84: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-equalization fund is insufficient to make all payments to all such handlers pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds become available.

§ 924.86 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this part, each handler shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 13th day after the end of each month two cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding two cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all receipts within the month of milk from producers, including milk of such handler's own production.

§ 924.87 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments pursuant to § 924.80 for milk received from each producer (including milk of such handler's own production) at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producer is a member, shall deduct five cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding five cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, and, on or before the 13th day after the end of each month, shall pay such deductions to the market administrator. Such moneys shall be used by the market administrator to verify weights, samples, and tests of milk received from producers and to provide producers with market information, such services to be performed by the market administrator or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) In the case of producers whose milk is received at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producers are members, and for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services described in paragraph (a) of this section, as determined by the Secretary, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deductions specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from payments required pursuant to § 924.80 as may be authorized by such producers, and pay such deductions on or before the 13th day after the end of the month to the cooperative association rendering such services of which such producers are members.

ADJUSTMENT OF ACCOUNTS

§ 924.90 Payments. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses adjustments to be made, for any reason, which result in moneys due:

(a) To the market administrator from such handler,

(b) To such handler from the market administrator, or

(c) To any producer or cooperative association from such handler,

the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any such amount due; and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payment set forth in the provision under which such error occurred, following the 5th day after such notice.

§ 924.91 Overdue accounts. Any unpaid obligation of a handler or of the market administrator pursuant to §§ 924.84, 924.85, 924.86, 924.87, and 924.90 shall be increased one-half of one percent on the first day of the month next following the due date of such obligation and on the first day of each month thereafter until each obligation is paid.

§ 924.100 Milk caused to be delivered by cooperative associations. Milk referred to herein as received from producers by a handler shall include milk of producers caused to be delivered to such handlers by a cooperative association.

§ 924.101 Handler exemption. A handler who operates a plant located outside the marketing area from which Class I milk is disposed of on a route (a) within the marketing area but from which the disposition of Class I milk on all routes operating wholly or partly within the marketing area averages less than 600 pounds per day for the month, and from which no milk is transferred to other handlers, shall be exempt for such month from all provisions of this part except §§ 924.31, 924.32 and 924.33.

§ 924.102 Producer-handler exemption. A producer-handler shall be exempt from all provisions of this part except §§ 924.31, 924.32, and 924.33.

§ 924.110 Termination of obligations. (a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this order shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the month during which the market administrator receives the handler's report of utilization of the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to a cooperative association, the name of such producers or association, or, if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this order, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books or records required by this order to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the month following the month during which such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representative.

(c) Nothwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or wilful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this order shall terminate two years after the end of the month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 924.120 Effective time. The provisions of this part, or of any amendment to this part, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 924.121 When suspended or terminated. The Secretary shall, whenever he finds that this part, or any provision thereof, obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, terminate or suspend the operation of this part or any such provision thereof.

§ 924.122 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 924.123 Liquidation. Under the suspension or termination of the provisions of this part, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers, in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 924.130 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

§ 924.131 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this part, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid the application of such provision, and of the remaining provisions of this part, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

MEN'S AND BOYS' CLOTHING AND RELATED PRODUCTS INDUSTRY IN PUERTO RICO

MINIMUM WAGE RATE

On June 15, 1950, pursuant to section 5 (a) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, hereinafter called the act, the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, by Administrative Order No. 399, appointed Special Industry Committee No. 8 for Puerto Rico (hereinafter called the "Committee") and directed the Committee to investigate conditions in a number of industries in Puerto Rico specified and defined in the order, including the men's and boys' clothing and related products industry in Puerto Rico (hereinafter called the "industry"), and to recommend minimum wage rates for employees engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce in such industries.

For purposes of investigating conditions in and recommending a minimum wage rate for the men's and boys' clothing and related products industry, the Committee included three disinterested persons representing the public, a like number representing employers, and a like number representing employees in the industry, and was composed of residents of Puerto Rico and of the United States outside of Puerto Rico.

After investigating economic and competitive conditions in the industry in Puerto Rico, the Committee filed with the Administrator a report containing (a) its recommendation that the industry be divided into separable divisions for the purpose of fixing minimum wage rates; (b) the titles and definitions recommended by the Committee for such separable divisions of the industry; and (c) its recommendation for minimum wage rates to be paid employees engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce in such divisions of the industry.

Pursuant to notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 20, 1950, and circulated to all interested persons, a public hearing upon the Committee's recommendations was held before Hearing Examiner E. West Parkinson, as presiding officer, in Washington, D. C. on November 13, 1950, at which all interested parties were given opportunity to be heard. After the hearing was closed the record of the hearing was certified to the Administrator by the presiding officer.

Upon reviewing all the evidence in this proceeding and after giving consideration to the provisions of the act, particularly sections 5 and 8 thereof, I, as Administrator, have concluded that the recommendations of the Committee for a minimum wage rate of 35 cents in both the suits, coats, trousers and work clothing division and the general division of the men's and boys' clothing and related products industry in Puerto Rico, as defined, were made in accordance with law, are supported by the evidence adduced at the hearing and, taking into consideration the same factors as are required to be considered by the Committee, will carry out the purposes of sections 5 and 8 of the act.

I have set forth by decision in a document entitled "Findings and Opinion of the Administrator in the Matter of the Recommendation of Special Industry Committee No. 8 for Puerto Rico for Minimum Wage Rates in the Men's and Boys' Clothing and Related Products Industry in Puerto Rico," a copy of which may be had upon request addressed to the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C.

Accordingly, notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001) and the rules of practice governing this proceeding (15 F. R. 7029), that I propose to approve the Committee's recommendation of minimum wage rates for the suits, coats, trousers, and work clothing division and the general division of the men's and boys' clothing and related products industry in Puerto Rico, and to issue a wage order as set forth below, to carry such recommendation into effect. Interested parties may submit written exceptions within 15 days from publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be addressed to the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C. They should be submitted in quadruplicate, and should include supporting reasons for any exceptions.

[Docket No. 9712]

CECIL W. ROBERTS (KREI)

ORDER SCHEDULING HEARING AND AMENDING ISSUES

In re application of CECIL W. ROBERTS (KREI), Farmington, Missouri, Docket No. 9712, File No. BP–7572, for construction permit.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 21st day of February 1951;

The Commission having under consideration a petition filed on October 26, 1950, by Cecil W. Roberts requesting reconsideration and grant without hearing of the above-entitled application for construction permit to change frequency of Station KREI, Farmington, Missouri, from 1350 kilocycles to 800 kilocycles;

It appearing that, on June 22, 1950, the said application was designated for a hearing in a consolidated proceeding with the application of Pyramid Radio Broadcasting and Television Company, Incorporated (File No. BP–7610, Docket No. 9713) for a new standard broadcast station at West Frankfort, Illinois, and that Johnson County Broadcasting Corporation, licensee of Station KXIC, Iowa City, Iowa, was made a party to the proceeding; and

It further appearing that on August 25, 1950, the petition of Pyramid Radio Broadcasting and Television Company, Incorporated, requesting leave to amend and removal of its application, as amended, from the hearing docket was granted; and

It further appearing that, in support of the instant request for relief, petitioner alleges that the proposed operation of Station KREI would not involve objectionable interference with Station KXIC, Iowa City, Iowa, and that in the absence of such interference the proposal is in compliance with the Commission's rules and the Standards of Good Engineering Practice; and

It further appearing that the engineering affidavit submitted in support of petitioner's allegations with reference to the interference with Station KXIC, Iowa City, Iowa, does not show either by reference to the Commission's Standards of Good Engineering Practice or to actual measurements made in accordance with the methods prescribed by the Commission's Standards of Good Engineering Practice that electrical interference will not be caused to Station KXIC in that soil conductivity used for two hundred miles of the two hundred seventy-five mile path from Station KREI to Station KXIC was lower than shown on the Commission's map of soil conductivities and that the use of such lower conductivity was based solely on opinion and petitioner's analysis of certain measurements made on Station KWK, St. Louis, Missouri;

It further appearing that the said measurements on Station KWK extend for a distance of only twenty miles, are not on a direct bearing of the direction concerned, and under the Commission's Standards of Good Engineering Practice cannot be used to determine conductivities beyond the measured distances and accordingly, petitioner has not shown that a grant of the above-entitled application would be consistent with § 1.382 of the Commission's rules; and

It further appearing that the applicant is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified to operate Station KREI as proposed, and that the type and character of program service proposed to be rendered would meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to be served.

It is ordered, That the said petition is denied and that hearing on the said application of Cecil W. Roberts shall commence at 10:00 a. m., on April 24, 1951 at Washington, D. C.

It is further ordered, That on the Commission's own motion, all issues in the order of June 22, 1950, designating the above-entitled application for hearing are deleted therefrom and the following issues are substituted therefor:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of Station KREI as proposed and the character of other broadcast service available to these areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the operation of Station KREI as proposed would involve objectionable interference with Station KXIC, Iowa City, Iowa, or with any other existing broadcast stations and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether the operation of Station KREI as proposed would involve objectionable interference with the services proposed in any other pending applications for broadcast facilities and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

4. To determine whether the installation and operation of Station KREI as proposed would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and standards of good engineering practice concerning standard broadcast stations.

Secretary.

LOGAN BROADCASTING CORP. (WVOW)

ORDER CONTINUING HEARING

In re application of Logan Broadcasting Corp. (WVOW), Logan, West Virginia, Docket No. 9741, File No. BMP–5144; for modification of construction permit.

The Commission having under consideration the petition of the applicant herein, filed February 15, 1951, requesting that the hearing upon its application, now scheduled for March 1, 1951, be continued for approximately three months;

It appearing that petitioner is permittee of Station WVOW, Logan, West Virginia, presently under construction, with authority to operate during unlimited hours on the frequency of 1290 kilocycles, with power output of 5 kilowatts during the day and 1 kilowatt at night, directionalized, and, in the above-entitled application, petitioner is seeking to increase the nighttime power output to 5 kilowatts, directionalized;

It appearing further that petitioner is desirous of making measurements with regard to its proposed nighttime operation based upon the station's presently authorized night power output of 1 kilowatt, and such measurements cannot be undertaken until May 15, 1951, the date on which petitioner estimates that construction on its station will have been completed;

It appearing further that the results of the measurements contemplated by petitioner would constitute the most satisfactory evidence regarding the effects of the nighttime operation herein proposed;

It appearing further that good cause has been shown in support of the petition, and that all parties to the proceeding have received notice thereof and have not interposed objection thereto;

It is ordered, This 26th day of February 1951, that the petition under consideration be, and it is hereby, granted, and the hearing on the above-entitled application, presently scheduled for March 1, 1951, is continued to June 4, 1951.

The Commission having under consideration a petition filed on November 17, 1950, by Francis J. Matrangola requesting reconsideration and grant without hearing of the above-entitled application as amended for a permit to construct a new standard broadcast station to operate on frequency 1230 kilocycles, with 100 watts power, unlimited time at Wildwood, New Jersey, and also having under consideration an opposition thereto filed on November 30, 1950, by Maryland Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station WITH, Baltimore, Maryland;

It appearing that the said application was designated for hearing by Commission order of September 6, 1950 and that Eastern States Broadcasting Corporation and Maryland Broadcasting Company, licensees of Stations WSNJ, Bridgeton, New Jersey, and WITH, Baltimore, Maryland, respectively were made parties to the proceeding; and

It further appearing that on November 27, 1950, petition to amend the said application to specify power of 100 watts in lieu of the 250 watts originally specified and to make other changes was granted and the amendment accepted; and

It further appearing that in support of the requested relief petitioner contends, on the basis of field intensity measurements submitted with the said amendment, that no objectionable interference would be involved to Station WSNJ and, on the basis of an interference study using Commission soil map conductivities, that no objectionable interference would be involved with Station WITH; and

It further appearing that in a letter dated November 27, 1950, the licensee of Station WSNJ informed the Commission that it had no objection to a grant of the above-entitled application as amended, but that, on the basis of field intensity measurements submitted in support of its aforesaid opposition which disclosed objectionable interference will be involved with Station WITH, Maryland Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station WITH requests its right to contest a grant of the said application in a hearing;

It is ordered, That the said petition for reconsideration and grant without hearing is denied; and

It is further ordered, That Eastern States Broadcasting Company is removed as a party to the proceeding, that hearing on the above-entitled application shall commence at 10:00 a. m. on April 24, 1951, at Washington, D. MISSISSIPPI INTRASTATE EXPRESS RATES AND CHARGES

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 1, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 14th day of February A. D. 1951.

It appearing, that a petition, dated December 29, 1950, has been filed on behalf of the Railway Express Agency, Incorporated, a common carrier of express, principally by railroad, operating to, from, and between points in the State of Mississippi, averring that in Ex Parte No. 163, Increased Rates and Charges, 1946, 266 I. C. C. 369, 269 I. C. C. 161, by order dated February 20, 1948, and 273 I. C. C. 231, and Ex Parte No. 169, Increased Express Rates and Charges, 1949, 277 I. C. C. 249, this Commission authorized certain increases in interstate express rates and charges throughout the United States, which, with certain other increased express rates and charges published by petitioner on statutory notice have become effective, and that the Mississippi Public Service Commission, by orders dated on and after March 4, 1948, has refused to authorize or permit said petitioner to apply to the transportation of express, moving intrastate by railroad in Mississippi, increases in rates and charges corresponding to those approved for interstate application in the proceedings above cited, or published by petitioner on statutory notice for application on interstate traffic; such refusals being alleged in the manner and to the extent as stated in the said petition dated December 29, 1950, which petition so filed is referred to for greater certainty;

It further appearing, that the said petition brings in issue express rates and charges made or imposed by authority of the State of Mississippi;

It further appearing, that said petitioner alleges that the intrastate express rates and charges which it is required to maintain for the transportation of property as aforesaid, moving intrastate by railroad in Mississippi as a result of such refusals by the Mississippi Public Service Commission, cause undue and unreasonable advantage, preference, and prejudice as between persons and localities in intrastate commerce, on the one hand, and interstate commerce, on the other hand, and undue, unreasonable, and unjust discrimination against interstate and foreign commerce in violation of sections 13 (4) and 15a (2) of the Interstate Commerce Act:

It is ordered, That in response to the said petition, an investigation be, and it is hereby, instituted, and that a hearing be held therein for the purpose of receiving evidence from the respondent hereinafter designated and any other persons interested, to determine whether the express rates and charges of the Railway Express Agency, Incorporated, between points in Mississippi made or imposed by authority of the State of Mississippi cause undue or unreasonable advantage, preference, or prejudice between persons or localities in intrastate commerce, on the one hand, and interstate or foreign commerce, on the other hand, or any undue, unreasonable, or unjust discrimination against interstate or foreign commerce, and to determine what express rates and charges, if any, or what maximum or minimum or maximum and minimum express rates and charges shall be prescribed to remove the unlawful advantage, preference, or discrimination, if any, that may be found to exist;

It is further ordered, That the Railway Express Agency, Incorporated, be, and it is hereby, made respondent to this proceeding; that a copy of this order be served upon said respondent; and that the State of Mississippi be notified of this proceeding by sending copies of this order and of the said petition by registered mail to the Governor of the said State and to the Mississippi Public Service Commission at Jackson, Miss.;

It is further ordered, That notice of this proceeding be given to the public by depositing a copy of this order in the office of the Secretary of the Commission, at Washington, D. C., and by filing a copy with the Director, Division of the Federal Register, Washington, D. C.;

And it is further ordered, That this proceeding be assigned for hearing at a time and place hereafter to be fixed.

ORDER PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 27th day of February A. D. 1951.

Republic Service Corporation ("Republic"), a registered holding company has filed a post-effective amendment to a declaration heretofore permitted to become effective by the Commission; said amendment having been filed pursuant to section 12 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") with respect to the following:

On December 18, 1950, the Commission approved the sale by Republic of the common stock of Abington Electric Company to Scranton Electric Company ("Scranton"), for a consideration of 60,000 shares of $5 par value common stock of Scranton plus cash, and the distribution by Republic to its stockholders, as a partial liquidating dividend, of 56,259 out of the 60,000 shares of Scranton stock to be received (Holding Company Act Release No. 10292). The Commission's approval of the distribution of the Scranton stock was subject to the condition, among others, that if the proposed distribution were not effected in the year 1950, distribution could not thereafter be effected until Republic should have submitted for the record a statement setting forth the method of distribution and the accounting entries in connection therewith, and until a further order should have been entered by the Commission. The filing states that Republic was unable to effect the proposed distribution in the year 1950.

Republic now proposes to distribute to its stockholders, as a partial liquidating dividend, 56,259 shares of the Scranton stock on the basis of $\frac{1}{10}$ share of Scranton for each share of Republic. The amount of Republic's investment in said shares will be charged to capital surplus, to the extent thereof, and to earned surplus; the par amount of Republic's common stock will not be reduced. Of the remaining 3,741 shares of the Scranton stock not required for such distribution, all but 140 shares have been sold and it is anticipated that these remaining shares will be sold in the near future. Republic proposes to make the distribution, in partial liquidation, on March 12, 1951, to stockholders of record as of February 28, 1951. The shares of Scranton will be transmitted to Republic's stockholders of record by Provident Trust Company of Philadelphia ("Provident"), Distribution Agent. Only full shares of Scranton stock will be distributed, and holders entitled to fractional shares will receive in lieu of fractional shares registered Certificates of Interest in shares of Scranton stock; these Certificates of Interest when accumulated in amounts aggregating one or more full shares may be exchanged for shares of Scranton stock, and, unless so accumulated and presented for whole shares, shall expire at the end of six months after issuance, at which time Provident shall sell the shares of Scranton stock representing unexchanged Certificates of Interest and hold the proceeds for the account of stockholders entitled thereto, subject to subsequent disposition acceptable to Republic and the Commission. Republic agrees to report to the Commission within three months from the date of distribution as to the number of shares of Scranton stock still unclaimed, including such stock to which holders of unexchanged shares of Republic's formerly outstanding preferred stock may be entitled. Republic further agrees, if the Commission deems such action necessary and appropriate, to employ some method of personal solicitation and search, satisfactory to the Commission, for the purpose of locating and notifying holders of Republic's common stock who have not theretofore claimed their distribution of shares of Scranton, and holders of Republic's formerly outstanding preferred stock who have not theretofore exchanged such stock for Republic's common stock.

Republic proposes to publish once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in New York City a notice of the proposed distribution, and to send a similar notice to its stockholders.

Because of the inability to effect the distribution in the year 1950, the previous estimate of fees and expenses has been revised from $1,300, including legal fees of $500, to $1,800, including legal fees of $800.

Said amendment to the declaration having been filed on February 5, 1951, and notice of said filing having been duly given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to the Act, and the Commission not having received a request for hearing with respect to said declaration, as amended, within the period specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding with respect to said declaration, as amended, that the requirements of the applicable provision of the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder are satisfied and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said declaration, as amended, be permitted to become effective forthwith;
